2. Annual evaluation of the effectiveness of the County’s efforts to facilitate the provision of farmworker housing.

Because the County’s 2015-2023 Housing Element is fairly new, the assessment of the success of program implementation is based on the most recent year, i.e., on implementation information provided by the County for calendar year 2017 alone.

Content of the Annual Housing Report

Generally speaking, state law gives counties a great deal of latitude on how they format their APRs, but that’s not so for reporting on the implementation of housing elements. The housing section of the APR must be completed using five forms (tables) provided by the Department of Housing and Community Development. Below is a description of the content of each of these tables.

- Table A Building activity summary of new construction for lower income residents.
- Table A2 Building activity summary of the rehabilitation of existing housing units.
- Table A3 Building activity summary of new construction for moderate income residents.
- Table B Progress in meeting the County’s Regional Housing Needs Allocation (RHNA).
- Table C Progress in implementing programs in the County’s Housing Element.

County planning staff completed the five tables and sent them to the state as part of its 2017 APR. The County’s completed tables for 2017 are reproduced below on pages 180 and 181. (The reader will note on page 181 that Table C is left blank. This is acceptable because the County prepared Appendix B in lieu of completing Table C.)

Portion of the County's Housing Report Reviewed by the League of Women Voters of Fresno

The League did not check the accuracy of the housing data provided by the County for Tables A, A2, A3 and B, as there was no way to do so.

The League limited its evaluation to the information supplied by the County to Table C, which was a report of the progress made in implementing the 63 program objectives in the County's 2015-2023 Housing Element. (See Appendix B, pp. 137-181.)

League's Report on Program Implementation

Once available information from the County's 2017 APR has been reviewed, each program objective was color tagged as follows:

-  Good evidence of successful implementation.
-  Poor evidence of successful implementation.
Only partial evidence of implementation.
-  No evidence by which to confirm successful implementation.
Evidence that implementation was delayed or not implemented per directives in the plan.

The League has created a four-column chart, titled Appendix B, which evaluates County progress toward implementing the 63 objectives in the Housing Element.

That chart, beginning on the next page, contains these four columns.

- Column 1: Individual numbering of each program objective from 122 to 184 with a color tag indicating the degree of successful implementation.
- Column 2: New identification labels applied to each program objective (e.g., H-1.1, H-1.2).
- Column 3: The success of implementation as described in the County's 2017 APR.
- Column 4: The success of implementation as described by the League.

It should be noted that the 121 implementation programs in the first six elements of the General Plan, unlike programs in the Housing Element, lack program objectives, which makes the evaluation of each of those 121 programs a somewhat simpler task.

The Housing Element is different. Each of the 19 programs in the Housing Element has as few as one or as many as eight objectives. Altogether, the Housing Element has 63 objectives.

Because the County's 2017 report on its Housing Element evaluated the 19 programs in the aggregate and did not comment individually on each objective, in reviewing the County's 2017 APR, it was difficult, at times, to determine with confidence the degree to which the County was able to report successful implementation of individual objectives.

Even so, it was possible to determine with near certainty that the County's 2017 APR did not comment at all on the implementation of these nine program objectives: H-3.5, H-5.2, H-7.2, H-8.3, H-17.2, H-17.3, H-18.3, H-18.5 and H-19.4.)

List of General Plan Goals

Listed below are the 46 goals from the first six elements of the 2000 General Plan Policy Document and the 6 goals from the seventh element — the 2015-2023 Housing Element.

The County uses a system of letters or numbers to identify each of these 52 goals.

|      |                                      |                                                                  |
|------|--------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ED   | - A, B, C                            | (for the 3 goals in the Economic Development Element)            |
| LU   | - A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H             | (for the 8 goals in the Agriculture and Land Use Element)        |
| TR   | - A, B, C, D, E, F                   | (for the 6 goals in the Transportation and Circulation Element)  |
| PF   | - A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J       | (for the 10 goals in the Public Facilities and Services Element) |
| OS   | - A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, L | (for the 12 goals in the Open Space and Conservation Element)    |
| HS   | - A, B, C, D, E, F, G                | (for the 7 goals in the Health and Safety Element)               |
| Goal | 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6                     | (for the 6 goals in the Housing Element)                         |

For the sake of brevity, the 52 goals are abridged. To illustrate, printed below are both the full text of the first goal in the General Plan, Goal ED-A, and its abridged form.

Goal ED-A.A

Abridged Form: Increase job creation.

For easy reference, the 52 goals are also numbered 1 - 52.

Goals of the 2000 General Plan and the 2015-2023 Housing Element

- 1 Job Creation
ED-A Increase job creation.
- 2 Economic Base Diversification
ED-B Diversify the county’s economic base.
- 3 Labor Force Preparedness
ED-C Improve labor force preparedness.
- 4 Agriculture
LU-A Promote the long-term conservation of agricultural lands.
- 5 Westside Rangelands
LU-B Preserve the unique and sensitive character of the Westside rangelands.
- 6 River Influence Areas
LU-C Preserve, protect and enhance river environments as a multiple-use, open space resource.
- 7 Westside Freeway Corridor
LU-D Promote agricultural uses, protect scenic views and provide for commercial uses that cater to travelers.
- 8 Non-Agricultural Rural Development
LU-E Provide for the development of areas already designated for rural-residential development.
- 9 Urban Development Patterns
LU-F Encourage mixed-use pedestrian and transit-oriented development.

- 10 Urban, Fringe Area and Rural Community Development
LU-G Direct urban development within city spheres of influence to existing cities.
- 11 General and Administrative provisions
LU-H Provide for the development of mobile homes, home occupations and second dwellings.
Provide for the effective and systematic implementation of the General Plan.
- 12 Streets and Highways
TR-A Plan and provide a unified, coordinated and cost-efficient countywide street and highway system.
- 13 Transit
TR-B Promote a safe and efficient mass transit system.
- 14 Transportation Systems Management
TR-C Reduce travel demand and maximize the efficiency of the County's transportation facilities.
- 15 Bicycle Facilities
TR-D Plan and provide a safe, continuous and easily accessible bikeway system.
- 16 Rail Transportation
TR-E Plan for a safe, efficient and environmentally-sound rail system.
- 17 Air Transportation
TR-F Promote the maintenance and improvement of general and commercial aviation facilities.
- 18 General Public Facilities and Services
PF-A Ensure the timely development of public facilities and maintain an adequate level of service.
- 19 Funding
PF-B Ensure that facility and service standards are achieved and maintained through equitable funding methods.
- 20 Water Supply and Delivery
PF-C Ensure the availability of an adequate and safe water supply.
- 21 Wastewater Collection, Treatment and Disposal
PF-D Ensure adequate wastewater collection and treatment and the safe disposal of wastewater.
- 22 Storm Drainage
PF-E Provide efficient, cost-effective drainage and flood control.
- 23 Landfills and Solid Waste Processing Facilities
PF-F Ensure the safe and efficient disposal or recycling of solid waste.
- 24 Law Enforcement
PF-G Protect life and property and ensure the prompt and efficient provision of law enforcement.
- 25 Fire Protection and Emergency Medical Services
PF-H Ensure the prompt and efficient provision of fire and emergency medical facilities and services.
- 26 School and Library Facilities
PF-I Provide for the educational needs of Fresno County, including the provision for libraries.
- 27 Utilities
PF-J Provide efficient and cost-effective utilities.
- 28 Water Resources
OS-A Protect and enhance the water quality/quantity of Fresno County's streams, creeks and groundwater basins.
- 29 Forest Resources
OS-B Preserve, protect and maintain healthy, sustainable forest resources and ecosystems.
- 30 Mineral Resources
OS-C Conserve areas containing significant mineral deposits and oil and gas resources.
Promote the reasonable, safe and orderly extraction of mineral resources.
- 31 Wetland and Riparian Areas
OS-D Protect the aesthetics, water quality, floodplain, ecology, and recreation values of wetland and riparian areas.

- 32 Fish and Wildlife Habitat
OS-E Help protect, restore and enhance habitats that support fish and wildlife species.
- 33 Vegetation
OS-F Preserve and protect valuable vegetation resources.
- 34 Air Quality
OS-G Improve air quality and minimize the adverse effects of air pollution.
- 35 Parks and Recreation
OS-H Designate land for and promote the development and expansion of public and private recreational facilities.
- 36 Recreational Trails
OS-I Develop a system of hiking, riding and bicycling trails and paths.
- 37 Historical, Cultural and Geological Resources
OS-J Identify, protect and enhance historical, archeological, paleontological, geological and cultural sites.
- 38 Scenic Resources
OS-K Conserve, protect and maintain the scenic quality of Fresno County.
- 39 Scenic Roadways
OS-L Conserve, protect, and maintain the scenic quality of land and landscapes adjacent to scenic roads.
- 40 Emergency Management and Response
HS-A Protect public health and safety from the effects of natural or technological disasters.
- 41 Fire Hazards
HS-B Minimize loss of life, injury and damage to both property and natural resources from fire hazards.
- 42 Flood Hazards
HS-C Minimize the loss of life, injury and damage from flood hazards.
- 43 Seismic and Geological Hazards
HS-D Minimize the loss of life, injury and property damage from seismic and geologic hazards.
- 44 Airport Hazards
HS-E Minimize public exposure to high noise levels and safety hazards near airports.
- 45 Hazardous Materials
HS-F Minimize the loss of life, injury, illness and damage to property from the presence of hazardous materials.
- 46 Noise
HS-G Protect noise-sensitive uses from harmful or annoying noise levels.

Goals in the 2015-2023 Housing Element

- 47 New Housing Development
Goal 1 Facilitate and encourage a range of housing types to meet the needs of residents.
- 48 Affordable Housing
Goal 2 Encourage and facilitate the development of affordable housing.
- 49 Housing and Neighborhood Conversion
Goal 3 Improve and maintain the quality of housing and residential neighborhoods.
- 50 Special Needs Housing
Goal 4 Provide a range of housing types and services for households with special needs.
- 51 Fair and Equal Housing Opportunities
Goal 5 Promote housing opportunities for all residents regardless of age, race, religion, sex, marital status, ancestry, national origin, disability or economic status.
- 52 Energy Conservation and Sustainable Development
Goal 6 Encourage energy efficiency in all new and existing housing.

APPENDIX D

List of Significant and Unavoidable Adverse Impacts Of the 2000 General Plan

The Environmental Impact Report for the adoption of the 2000 General Plan concluded that with the best mitigation available, the following impacts would nonetheless remain significant and unavoidable.

Public Services

- Inability to meet the demand for police and fire protection and other public services.
- Inability to meet the demand for recreation facilities (parks) and library services.

Transportation and Circulation

- Operation of roadway segments at unacceptable levels of service.
- Reduction in the ability to maintain adequate pavement conditions on rural roadways.
- Inability to meet the demand for transit services.
- Inability to meet the demand for bicycle facilities.

Agricultural Resources

- Permanent loss of important farmland.
- Significant reduction in agricultural production.

Water Resources

- Demand for water exceeding available supply, resulting in overdraft conditions.
- Demand for water exceeding available supply, resulting in adverse effects on groundwater recharge potential.
- Exacerbation of groundwater overdraft conditions, resulting in land subsidence.
- Alteration of the rate and direction of the flows of contaminated groundwater.

Biological Resources

- Degradation of riparian and aquatic habitat.
- Loss of wetland and grassland habitat.
- Loss of habitat for special-status wildlife and plant species.

Mineral Resources

- Reduction of the amount of land available for mineral resource extraction.

Historical Resources

- Devaluation, disturbance, or destruction of unidentified subsurface prehistoric resources and historic sites.

Air Resources

- Increase in air pollution caused by mobile and stationary sources.

Wastewater and Hazardous materials

- Demand for wastewater treatment beyond the capacities of existing facilities.
- Increase in the use of hazardous materials and an increase in the generation of hazardous waste.

Storm Drainage and Flooding

- Increase in stormwater runoff and the potential for downstream flooding.

Noise

- Permanent increase in ambient noise levels that could affect sensitive receptors.

Esthetics

- Permanent alteration of the existing visual character of the region and/or visual access to scenic resources.
- Introduction of new sources of light and glare into development areas and surrounding rural areas<sup>1-486</sup>

To lessen the adverse impacts listed above (but not to a level of insignificance), 304 policies in 31 sections of the 2000 Policy Document were adopted as environmental mitigation measures. There is no evidence in the County's APRs to show that the County has ever systematically monitored the implementation of these mitigation measures.

The 304 policies (listed below) are found in the following five General Plan elements: Agriculture and Land Use Element, Transportation and Circulation Element, Public Facilities and Services Element, Open Space and Conservation Element, and Health and Safety Element. (None of the policies in the Economic Development Element or the Housing Element serve as mitigation measures.)

Calculation of the Success of Program Implementation

For the 2015-2023 General Plan Housing Element

Below is the data used to calculate the County’s success in implementing each of the 19 programs in its 2015-2023 Housing Element. The data, based on information gleaned from the County’s 2017 Annual Progress Report (APR), was obtained from Appendix B — Progress toward Implementing the Programs and Objectives of the Housing Element — pages 137 through 181 above.

To arrive at a calculation of the overall success of the implementation of each of the 19 Housing Element programs, it was necessary to average the County’s success in implementing the objectives within each program. For example, the overall success of the implementation of Program H-3 — with its 8 objectives distributed across row 3 below — was determined to be poor because the County’s 2017 APR reported good implementation for 4 of the objectives, poor implementation for 2 objectives and no implementation for the other 2 objectives. Therefore, the report of the success for Program H-3 was determined to be, on average, poor.

For All Seven General Plan Elements (Including the Housing Element)

The League of Women Voters of Fresno (League) evaluated Fresno County's 2017 APR, coming to conclusions very different for those offered by the County.

With an aim to improve transparency and accuracy, the League decided to prepare its own APR for 2017. The League found that the County's 2017 report of a 90% * success rate for the implementation of General Plan programs was far from accurate. The rate of success was closer to 33%. More specifically, the League found, through very careful analyses, that the County's 2017 APR had demonstrated good implementation of 46 programs (33%), poor implementation of 44 programs (31%) and no implementation or failed implementation of 50 programs (36%).

COMMENTER: Radley Reep

DATE: June 27, 2023

Response 29.1

The commenter expresses concerns about the protection of agricultural resources.

Thank you for your review, comments, and participation during the comment period of the General Plan Review and DPEIR. The comments have been noted and forwarded to decision makers. Additionally, please note that the goals and policies of the GPR such as those provided in the Agriculture and Land Use Element include policies regarding the protection of agricultural resources such as Policy LU-A.1 which aims to direct urban growth towards areas where public facilities and infrastructure are available or can be provided with off-site improvements. Also, policy LU-A.23 requires an evaluation to assess whether the land is viable for agriculture use.

Response 29.2

The commenter states that they have had difficulty participating effectively in the General Plan revision process. The commenter states that they will assess changes that, from their point of view, both directly and indirectly affect conservation of agricultural lands.

This comment is noted. Please refer to Response 29.1 regarding conservation of agricultural lands.

Response 29.3

The commenter expresses concerns regarding Policy LU-A.1 and the potential for development in areas where infrastructure does not currently exist but could be provided.

This comment is noted and will be provided to decision makers for consideration. Please refer to Response 29.1 regarding conservation of agricultural lands.

Response 29.4

The commenter expresses concerns regarding Policy LU-A.23 and Policy LU-A.24 and the conservation of agricultural land.

This comment is noted and will be provided to decision makers for consideration. Please refer to Response 29.1 regarding conservation of agricultural lands.

Response 29.5

The commenter expresses concerns regarding Policy ED-B.19, ED-B.11, ED-B.13 and ED-B.15 and suggests wording revisions. The commenter is concerned that the current wording of the Draft GPR would encourage industry to locate almost anywhere in the county.

This comment is noted and will be provided to decision makers for consideration. The General Plan is also supported by other policy documents such as the Zoning Ordinance and Zoning Map which further regulate the location of land uses throughout the county.

Re: Draft PEIR on Fresno County General Plan Review and Zoning Ordinance Update

Dear Mr. Motta:

I am writing on behalf of Sequoia Riverlands Trust (SRT) to comment on the Draft Programmatic Environmental Impact Report (“Draft PEIR”) regarding the Fresno County General Plan Review and Zoning Ordinance Update, including the Public Review Draft of the General Plan Policy Document (“Draft Policy Document”) released for review in April 2023. SRT is a regional, accredited land trust that has partnered with willing landowners to conserve over 44,000 acres of habitat and agricultural land, including multiple properties in Fresno County and elsewhere in the Southern San Joaquin Valley. Our land protection work includes holding mitigation easements, and we have extensive experience helping local jurisdictions to develop and implement farmland mitigation programs.

As the Draft Policy Document notes, Fresno County “has been the leading agricultural county in the United States in the value of farm products” since the mid-20th Century, but “most of the [C]ounty’s highly productive agricultural soils could be easily developed by urban, rural residential, and other non-agricultural uses.”<sup>1</sup> SRT shares the County’s view that “careful land use decision-making is essential” to prevent this from happening.<sup>2</sup> We also recognize the importance of achieving long-term sustainability in the use of water resources on which farms, cities and habitat alike depend. To that end, we are grateful to see policies supporting water conservation, including commitments to “ensure that new development does not limit the capacity or function of groundwater recharge areas,” to inventory those areas and direct available water resources to them, and to consult with Groundwater Sustainability Agencies prior to significant General Plan Amendments.<sup>3</sup>

But as noted in our comments on the 2021 Draft, we are concerned about the proposal to alter General Plan Policy LU-A.1, which calls for “direct[ing] urban growth away from valuable agricultural land to cities, unincorporated communities, and other areas planned for such development where public facilities and infrastructure are available.”<sup>4</sup> In both the 2021 and 2023 Draft Policy Documents, the last clause now reads “other areas planned for such development where public facilities and infrastructure are available or can be provided consistent with the adopted General or Community Plan”<sup>5</sup>—a change that could significantly expand the areas where urban development is permitted. If the General Plan is going to call for new infrastructure, it should distinguish between existing communities (including disadvantaged communities) where such infrastructure is needed, and new towns, which are inconsistent with the goal of directing growth away from agricultural land.

We are also concerned about the potential weakening of the County’s commitment to accept Williamson Act contracts, which can help to reduce the economic pressure on farmers to sell viable agricultural land to developers. In the 2000 General Plan, Policy LU-A.17 states that “[t]he County shall accept California Land Conservation [Williamson Act] contracts on all designated agricultural land subject to location, acreage, and use limitations. . .”<sup>6</sup> The 2023 Draft Policy Document states that the County “should” accept such contracts subject to the same limitations, provided that the County receives subvention payments for foregone property tax revenue.<sup>7</sup> While we do not object to the language on subvention payments, we would respectfully recommend restoring mandatory language (“shall” rather than “should”) to this policy.

We are encouraged by the addition of Policy LU-A.23 (included within Draft PEIR Mitigation Measure AG-1), which takes a step toward establishing a county-level farmland mitigation program.<sup>8</sup> But given the County’s stated concern that “most of the [C]ounty’s highly productive agricultural soils could be easily developed by . . . non-agricultural uses,”<sup>9</sup> we believe that Policy LU-A.23 needs to be strengthened considerably. Other agricultural mitigation programs (both in the San Joaquin Valley and around the state) provide examples worth following. The City of Tulare’s highly successful Farmland Mitigation Ordinance, for example, protects more of the agricultural land vulnerable to development by setting a threshold of one acre (rather than forty acres).<sup>10</sup> At the same time, it protects a wider range of land types, requiring mitigation not only for prime farmland, but also for farmland of statewide importance, unique farmland and grazing land.<sup>11</sup> Many jurisdictions set a specific ratio of acres to be conserved for each acre converted (generally at least 1:1),<sup>12</sup> and most make mitigation mandatory, rather than permissive. With these changes, Policy LU-A.23 could play a significant role in mitigating impacts to Fresno County’s agricultural land. As a regional, accredited land trust with extensive experience informing and implementing agricultural mitigation programs, SRT would welcome the chance to assist in this effort.

We appreciate the opportunity to comment, and look forward to your response.

Sincerely,

Adam J. Livingston

Letter 30

COMMENTER: Adam J. Livingston, Director of Planning and Policy, Sequoia Riverlands Trust

Response 30.1

The commenter expresses gratitude regarding the inclusion of policies supporting water conservation and consultation with Groundwater Sustainability Agencies prior to General Plan Amendments. The commenter expresses concerns about proposed changes to Policy LU-A.1 in the 2021 and 2023 General Plan Draft Policy Document. The commenter expresses concerns about language in Policy LU-A.17 in the 2023 General Plan Draft Policy Document and recommends using the word “shall” rather than “should”.

Land Use Policy LU-A.17 provides a guide and directive for the County to implement Goal LU-A to promote the long-term conservation of productive and potentially productive agricultural lands. Additionally, Program LU-A.F implements Policy LU-A.17 and provides further direction for the County to inform agriculturalists and the public of the advantages of land use agreements and Williamson Act Contracts.

Response 30.2

The commenter expresses support for the addition of Policy LU-A.23 in Mitigation Measure AG-1 and makes recommendations to strengthen Policy LU-A.23. The commenter notes that Sequoia Riverlands Trust would welcome the opportunity to assist making changes to Policy LU-A.23.

Thank you for your comment and support. This comment has been forwarded to the decision makers.

RE: Comment on the draft EIR for the General Plan Review/Zoning Ordinance Update

Dear Mr. Motta,

Please accept this letter, sent on behalf of the Tehipite Chapter of the Sierra Club, providing comments on the Draft Environmental Impact Report (EIR) for the 2023 General Plan Review and Zoning Ordinance Update (GPR/ZOU), dated April 28, 2023.

While the EIR is an expansive document, these comments will focus on the Air Quality, Greenhouse Gases, and Transportation Policies set forth in the EIR, as well as the inadequate discussion and reasoning for rejecting Environmentally Superior Alternatives to the proposed GPR/ZOU.

1. Air Quality (Section 4.3):

The EIR notes Fresno County is part of the San Joaquin Valley Air Basin (SJVAB), and “is highly susceptible to pollutant accumulation.” (EIR at p. 4.3-1) Fresno County suffers from some of the worst air quality in the Nation, specifically with respect to Ozone and Fine Particulate Matter. (EIR at pp. 4.3-6 4.3-9.) Despite these concerns, the EIR indicates the proposed GPR/ZOU would make our air quality demonstrably worse. Even with the feeble mitigation measures set forth, the EIR indicates in “IMPACT AQ-1 through 3” that “[t]he GPR/ZOU [is] inconsistent with applicable air quality plans, and impacts would be significant and unavoidable.” (EIR at p. 4.3-19, 21, 25-26.)

Several of the included tables are instructive. Table 4.3-6 titled the “Total Unmitigated Operational Emissions” indicates that besides sulfur oxides, all other measured pollutants generated under the GPR/ZOU would exceed the SJVAPCD significance thresholds by nearly a full order of magnitude. (EIR at p. 4-3-20.) Mitigating measures are inadequate and do not take into consideration best construction practices including electrification of construction equipment, increased material efficiency and design standards, and the use of low-carbon or recycled materials. Likewise, the operational impacts to air quality would have long lasting negative implications for the County. Allowing for development spread throughout the County will not overcome my mitigation measures that are not practicable. The plan states it will rely on mitigation measures such as a reduction to VMT (EIR at p. 4.3-20), but as discussed below, the transportation portion of the plan does not actually reduce VMT in the manner required under California law. The continued air pollution created from dispersed development in Fresno County will cause air pollution on a scale that will dwarf the impact of any realistic mitigation measures.

As set forth, the GPR/ZOU will result in deleterious effects on our already bad air quality and admits as such. “The GPR/ZOU may cumulatively increase the potential for impacts resulting from increased air pollutant emissions.” (EIR 4.3-27.) The EIR fails to adequately set forth or analyze feasible mitigation measures to minimize the impact of the GPR/ZOU on air quality.

2. Greenhouse Gas Emissions (Section 4.8):

The EIR likewise contains an inadequate discussion as regarding the manner it seeks to reduce greenhouse gas emissions as the GPR/ZOU is dependent on the preparation of a Climate Action Plan that does not exist. “[U]ntil the County prepares a [Climate Action Plan] in accordance with Mitigation Measure GHG-1 and GHG-2, impacts from GHG emissions would remain significant and unavoidable.” (EIR at p. 4.8-18.) Table 4.8-3 of the EIR explains the combined annual GHG emissions under the GPR/ZOU would exceed the 2042 threshold of .8 metric tons of carbon dioxide per person by four-fold at 3.2 metric tons per person. (EIR at p. 4/8-17.)

Planning to initiate a Climate Action Plan in two years, without any defined criteria or guarantee the plan will be implemented all is inadequate and provides at best illusory mitigation efforts to ensure for the reduction of greenhouse gas emissions. Continued delay is untenable; the Climate Action Plan should be part of the planning document.

3. Transportation (Section 4.8):

The EIR states the GPR/ZOU, even with the implementation of mitigation measures, will not comply with California Vehicle Miles Traveled (VMT) laws, enacted under Senate Bill 743. Rather, the GPR/ZOU fails to decrease VMT to below the average rate of 87% of VMT per capita. Information contained in Table 4.15-4, VMT Results Summary, illustrates the point. While Impact T-2 lists many potential mitigation measures, based on the information contained in Appendix TIS - Vehicles Miles Traveled Technical Memorandum, the County is aware the mitigation measures are not likely to be adequate to reach compliance with State standards.

While the mitigation measures are welcome, the TIS study makes clear the measures would be insufficient to make more than marginal improvements to the VMT rate. For example, “[B]oth bicycle infrastructure and pedestrian network improvements would make marginal improvements to otherwise short vehicle trips between future workplaces and nearby destinations (for purposes of errands, dining, and the like), as well as between future residences and nearby destinations, but their effects on VMT reduction would be dependent on the availability of nearby transit and largely limited in the absence of nearby transit service.” (Appx. TIS at 10.) (Emphasis added.) Likewise, “the effectiveness of constrained parking supply or alternatively priced parking is context sensitive, and the availability of parking off site will be a limiting factor in its overall effectiveness in managing transportation demand; and may result in unwanted consequences such as ‘spillover’ parking into surrounding residential areas, particularly if there is a lack of transit options.” (Ibid.) (Emphasis added.)

The traffic engineers conducting the survey concluded the mitigation measures are nearly certain to be inadequate. They explain:

Even with policies aimed to reduce VMT, some significant unavoidable impacts considering excessive VMT will occur. VMT deficiencies will translate into deficiencies in transportation performance along several local and regional roadways and intersections in Fresno County, as a result of future housing and population growth. Roadway widenings are not anticipated due to funding and other constraints associated with state or federal monies per statewide policies. It is anticipated that even with implementation of the Project with mitigations, significant VMT deficiencies will occur; therefore, this impact with mitigation would be considered significant and unavoidable.

cont.

(Appx. TIS at 10.) (Emphasis added.) The inability of the GPR/ZOU to meet VMT standards is contingent on the failure of the County to properly address reasonable alternatives, as set forth in the next section.

4. Reasonable Alternatives to the Proposed GPR/ZOU (Section 6):

The GPR/ZOU fails to provide substantial evidence why either of the proposed alternative measures involving denser growth around the Fresno and Clovis metropolitan area were infeasible. The County speculates Alternative 2 is infeasible as it relies on the fact the City of Fresno for the “annexation process, and projects within these areas would likely be dependent on urban services from the cities of Fresno and Clovis; therefore, Alternative 2 may be infeasible.” (EIR at p. 6-21.) This is not a sufficient showing. Further, based on many of the same laws, the City of Fresno, like the County is incentivized to engage in smart growth, including increasing density. There is little reason to think the City of Fresno would not be amenable to such modes of growth. The fact is that without implementation of GPR/ZOU more akin to Alternative 2, the County will be unable to comply with state and local air quality and environmental standards. The conclusory assertions the alternatives are infeasible are inadequate, fail to provide substantial evidence to support the ultimate determination, and accordingly do not comply with the requirements of CEQA.

Thank you for your time and attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Response 31.1

The commenter expresses concerns about air quality and suggests that mitigation measures do not consider best construction practices or adequately achieve VMT reduction. The commenter suggests that the DPEIR does not adequately analyze mitigation measures to minimize air quality impacts.

This comment has been noted. Please refer to the Master Response for the Draft EIR for additional information.

Response 31.2

The commenter expresses concerns about greenhouse gas emissions and states that the Climate Action Plan should be included in the planning document.

The General Plan Review contains strategies to reduce GHGs, and per Policy HS-H.12, the County shall seek funding for Greenhouse Gas Inventory and preparation of a Climate Action Plan. Per Policy HS-H.13, the County shall undertake the development of a Climate Action Plan within two years of the adoption of the General Plan Review. A Climate Action Plan is a separate document that implements the General Plan strategies. Please refer to the Master Response for the Draft EIR for additional information.

Response 31.3

The commenter expresses concerns about transportation and suggests that the mitigation measures are inadequate to reduce VMT to meet VMT standards.

This comment has been noted. Please refer to the Master Response for the Draft EIR for additional information.

Response 31.4

The commenter expresses concerns about the alternatives included in the DPEIR and states that the alternatives do not adequately comply with the requirements of CEQA.

This comment has been noted. Please refer to the Master Response for the Draft EIR for additional information.

Project: Draft Program Environmental Impact Review for the Fresno County General Plan Review and Zoning Ordinance Update

District CEQA Reference No: 20230390

Dear Mr. Motta:

The San Joaquin Valley Air Pollution Control District (District) has reviewed the Draft Program Environmental Impact Report (DPEIR) from the County of Fresno (County) for the Fresno County General Plan Review and Zoning Ordinance Update (GPR/ZOU). Per the DPEIR, the project is a general plan review and zoning ordinance update consisting of changes to the land use designations and land use maps from the existing 2000 General Plan; revisions to goals, polices, and implementation programs for the General Plan; addressing laws affecting the General Plan, including the addition of an Environmental Justice Element to the General Plan Policy Document (Project). The Project area covers Fresno County (see Figure 1 below) and includes one of the communities in the state selected by the California Air Resources Board (CARB) for investment of additional air quality resources and attention under Assembly Bill (AB) 617 (Garcia) in an effort to reduce air pollution exposure in impacted disadvantaged communities.

The Project is a program level project and, while project-specific data may not be available until specific approvals are being granted, the DPEIR should include a discussion of policies, which when implemented, will reduce or mitigate impacts on air quality at the individual project level.

The District offers the following comments regarding the Project:

1) Land Use Planning

Nearly all development projects within the San Joaquin Valley Air Basin, from general plan updates to individual projects, have the potential to generate air pollutants, making it more difficult to attain state and federal ambient air quality standards. Land use decisions are critical to improving air quality within the San Joaquin Valley Air Basin because land use patterns greatly influence transportation needs, and motor vehicle emissions are the largest source of air pollution in the Valley. Land use decisions and project design elements such as preventing urban sprawl, encouraging mix-use development, and project design elements that reduce vehicle miles traveled (VMT) have proven to be beneficial for air quality.

More specifically, the DPEIR concludes Project air quality emission impacts will exceed District significance thresholds and thus result in significant and unavoidable impacts. As such, the District recommends that the DPEIR incorporate strategies that reduce VMTs and require the cleanest available heavy duty trucks, vehicles, and off-road equipment, including zero and near-zero technologies. VMTs can be reduced through encouragement of mix-use development, walkable communities, etc. Additional design element options can be found at:

<https://ww2.valleyair.org/media/ob0pweru/clean-air-measures.pdf>

In addition, the District recommends that the Project incorporate strategies that will advance implementation of the best practices listed in Tables 5 and 6 of California Air Resource Board's (CARB's) Freight Handbook Concept Paper. This document compiles best practices designed to address air pollution impacts as "practices" which may apply to the siting, design, construction, and operation of freight facilities to minimize health impacts on nearby communities. The concept paper is available at: https://ww2.arb.ca.gov/sites/default/files/2020-03/2019.12.12%20-%20Concept%20Paper%20for%20the%20Freight%20Handbook\_1.pdf

2) Project Siting

The Project is the blueprint for future growth and provides guidance for the community's development. Without appropriate mitigation and associated policy, future development projects within the County may contribute to negative impacts on air quality due to increased traffic and ongoing operational emissions. Appropriate project siting helps ensure there is adequate distance between differing land uses, which can prevent or reduce localized and cumulative air pollution impacts from business operations that are in close proximity to receptors (e.g., residences, schools, health care facilities, etc.). The Project siting-related goals, policies, and objectives should include measures and concepts outlined in the following resources:

- CARB's Air Quality and Land Use Handbook: A Community Health Perspective. The document includes tables with recommended buffer distances associated with various types of common sources (e.g., distribution centers, chrome platers, gasoline dispensing facilities, etc.), and can be found at: <https://ww2.arb.ca.gov/our-work/programs/resource-center/strategy-development/land-use-resources>
- CARB's Freight Handbook Concept Paper: This document compiles best practices designed to address air pollution impacts, which may apply to the siting, design, construction, and operation of freight facilities to minimize health impacts on nearby communities, and can be found at: https://ww2.arb.ca.gov/sites/default/files/2020-03/2019.12.12%20-%20Concept%20Paper%20for%20the%20Freight%20Handbook\_1.pdf

3) Assembly Bill 617

Assembly Bill 617 requires CARB and air districts to develop and implement Community Emission Reduction Programs (CERPs) in an effort to reduce air pollution exposure in impacted disadvantage communities. The Project lies near one of the impacted communities in the State selected by the California Air Resources Board (CARB) under the Assembly Bill (AB) 617 (2017, Garcia) and has the potential to expose sensitive receptors to increased air pollution within the nearby impacted community. The South Central Fresno CERP was adopted by the District's Governing Board in September of 2019 and identifies a wide range of measures designed to reduce air pollution exposure. Therefore, in an effort to reduce air pollution exposure to the impacted disadvantaged community, the District recommends the County incorporate mitigation measures outlined in the South Central Fresno CERP for the Project. For more information regarding the CERP approved for South Central Fresno, please visit the District's website at: <http://community.valleyair.org/selected-communities/south-central-fresno>

4) Project Related Emissions

The District recommends that the DPEIR stipulate that future development projects within the Project identify and characterize project construction and operational air emissions. The District recommends the air emissions be compared to the District significance thresholds as identified in the District's Guidance for Assessing and Mitigating Air Quality Impacts: <https://www.valleyair.org/transportation/GAMAQI.pdf>. The District recommends that future projects be mitigated to the extent feasible, and that future projects with air emissions above the aforementioned thresholds be mitigated to below these thresholds.

The District understands that the Project is a program-level project where future individual project-specific data may not be available at this time. As such, the DPEIR should include a discussion of policies, which when implemented, will require assessment and characterization of future individual project-level emissions, and subsequently require mitigation of air quality impacts to the extent feasible at the individual project-specific level. Environmental reviews of potential impacts on air quality should incorporate the following items:

4a) Construction Emissions

The District recommends, to reduce impacts from construction-related diesel exhaust emissions, the Project should include requirement that future development projects utilize the cleanest available off-road construction equipment, including the latest tier equipment.

4b) Operational Emissions

Operational (ongoing) air emissions from mobile sources and stationary sources should be analyzed separately. For reference, the District's significance thresholds are identified in the District's Guidance for Assessing and Mitigating Air Quality Impacts:

Recommended Mitigation Measure: At a minimum, project related impacts on air quality should be reduced to levels of significance through incorporation of design elements such as the use of cleaner Heavy Heavy-Duty (HHD) trucks and vehicles, measures that reduce Vehicle Miles Traveled (VMTs), and measures that increase energy efficiency. More information on transportation mitigation measures can be found at:

<https://ww2.valleyair.org/media/ob0pweru/clean-air-measures.pdf>

4c) Project Trip Length for HHD Truck Travel

The District understands that the Project is a program-level project where future individual project-specific data may not be available at this time. However, on page 4.3-26 the DPEIR states "...the GPR/ZOU would increase light and heavy duty industrial land uses in the county." As a result, the County should include policies that require environmental review for future development projects, such as those located in light and heavy industrial areas (e.g. warehouse/distribution). Since these projects have the potential to generate a high volume of heavy-duty truck trips at further distances, the environmental review should adequately characterize and justify an appropriate trip length distance for off-site HHD truck travel to and from the project site as well as the estimated number of trips supported by project-specific factors.

4d) Recommended Model for Quantifying Air Emissions

Project-related criteria pollutant emissions from construction and operational sources should be identified and quantified. Emissions analysis should be performed using the California Emission Estimator Model (CalEEMod), which uses the most recent CARB-approved version of relevant emissions models and emission factors. CalEEMod is available to the public and can be downloaded from the CalEEMod website at: www.caleemod.com.

5) Health Risk Screening/Assessment

The District understands that the Project is a program-level project where future individual project-specific data may not be available at this time. As such, the County should incorporate a requirement for future development projects to evaluate the risk on sensitive receptors (residences, businesses, hospitals, day-care facilities, health care facilities, etc.) in the area and mitigate any potentially significant risk to help limit exposure of sensitive receptors to emissions.

To determine potential health impacts on surrounding receptors (residences, businesses, hospitals, day-care facilities, health care facilities, etc.) a Prioritization and/or a Health Risk Assessment (HRA) should be performed for future development projects. These health risk determinations should quantify and characterize potential Toxic Air Contaminants (TACs) identified by the Office of Environmental Health Hazard Assessment/California Air Resources Board (OEHHA/CARB) that pose a present or potential hazard to human health.

Health risk analyses should include all potential air emissions from the project, which include emissions from construction of the project, including multi-year construction, as well as ongoing operational activities of the project. Note, two common sources of TACs can be attributed to diesel exhaust emitted from heavy-duty off-road earth moving equipment during construction, and from ongoing operation of heavy-duty on-road trucks.

Prioritization (Screening Health Risk Assessment):

A "Prioritization" is the recommended method for a conservative screening-level health risk assessment. The Prioritization should be performed using the California Air Pollution Control Officers Association's (CAPCOA) methodology.

The District recommends that a more refined analysis, in the form of an HRA, be performed for any project resulting in a Prioritization score of 10 or greater. This is because the prioritization results are a conservative health risk representation, while the detailed HRA provides a more accurate health risk evaluation.

To assist land use agencies and project proponents with Prioritization analyses, the District has created a prioritization calculator based on the aforementioned CAPCOA guidelines, which can be found here:

http://www.valleyair.org/busind/pto/emission\_factors/Criteria/Toxics/Utilities/PRIORITIZATION-CALCULATOR.xls

Health Risk Assessment:

Prior to performing an HRA, it is strongly recommended that land use agencies/project proponents develop and submit for District review a health risk modeling protocol that outlines the sources and methodologies that will be used to perform the HRA. This step will ensure all components are addressed when performing the

HRA.

A development project would be considered to have a potentially significant health risk if the HRA demonstrates that health impacts would exceed the District's established risk thresholds, which can be found here:

http://www.valleyair.org/transportation/ceqa\_idx.htm.

A project with a significant health risk would trigger all feasible mitigation measures. The District strongly recommends that development projects that result in a significant health risk not be approved by the land use agency.

The District is available to review HRA protocols and analyses. For HRA submittals please provide the following information electronically to the District for review:

- HRA (AERMOD) modeling files
- HARP2 files
- Summary of emissions source locations, emissions rates, and emission factor calculations and methodologies.

- E-Mailing inquiries to: hramodeler@valleyair.org
- Calling (559) 230-5900

Recommended Measure: Development projects resulting in TAC emissions should be located an adequate distance from residential areas and other sensitive receptors in accordance to CARB's Air Quality and Land Use Handbook: A Community Health Perspective located at <https://ww2.arb.ca.gov/our-work/programs/resource-center/strategy-development/land-use-resources>.

6) Ambient Air Quality Analysis

An Ambient Air Quality Analysis (AAQA) uses air dispersion modeling to determine if emissions increases from a project will cause or contribute to a violation of State or National Ambient Air Quality Standards. The District understands that the Project is a program-level project where future individual project specific data may not be available at this time. The District recommends an AAQA be performed for any future development projects with emissions that exceed 100 pounds per day of any pollutant.

An acceptable analysis would include emissions from both project-specific permitted and non-permitted equipment and activities. The District recommends consultation with District staff to determine the appropriate model and input data to use in the analysis.

Specific information for assessing significance, including screening tools and modeling guidance, is available online at the District's website:
www.valleyair.org/ceqa.

7) Voluntary Emission Reduction Agreement

The District understands that the Project is a program-level project where future individual project specific data may not be available at this time. However, future development projects could have a significant impact on air quality. The District recommends the DPEIR include a feasibility discussion on implementing a Voluntary Emission Reduction Agreement (VERA) as a mitigation measure for future development projects that are determined to exceed the District's CEQA significance thresholds.

A VERA is a mitigation measure by which the project proponent provides pound-for-pound mitigation of emissions increases through a process that develops, funds, and implements emission reduction projects, with the District serving a role of administrator of the emissions reduction projects and verifier of the successful mitigation effort. To implement a VERA, the project proponent and the District enter into a contractual agreement in which the project proponent agrees to mitigate project specific emissions by providing funds for the District's incentives programs. The funds are disbursed by the District in the form of grants for projects that achieve emission reductions. Thus, project-related impacts on air quality can be mitigated. Types of emission reduction projects that have been funded in the past include electrification of stationary internal combustion engines (such as agricultural irrigation pumps), replacing old heavy-duty trucks with new, cleaner, more efficient heavy-duty trucks, and replacement of agricultural equipment with the latest generation technologies.

In implementing a VERA, the District verifies the actual emission reductions that have been achieved as a result of completed grant contracts, monitors the emission reduction projects, and ensures the enforceability of achieved reductions. After the project is mitigated, the District certifies to the Lead Agency that the mitigation is completed, providing the Lead Agency with an enforceable mitigation measure demonstrating that project-related emissions have been mitigated. To assist the Lead Agency and project proponent in ensuring that the environmental document is compliant with CEQA, the District recommends the environmental document includes an assessment of the feasibility of implementing a VERA.

8) Allowed Uses Not Requiring Project-Specific Discretionary Approval

In the event that the County determines that a project be approved as an allowed use not requiring a project-specific discretionary approval, the District recommends the DPEIR include language requiring such projects to prepare a technical assessment, in consultation with the District, to determine if additional analysis and/or mitigation is required.

9) Future Industrial/Warehouse Development Emission Reduction Strategies

On page 4.3-26 the DPEIR states, "...the GPR/ZOU would increase light and heavy duty industrial land uses in the county." The District recommends the County consider the feasibility of incorporating emission reduction strategies that can reduce potential harmful health impacts, such as those listed below:

- Ensure solid screen buffering trees, solid decorative walls, and/or other natural ground landscaping techniques are implemented along the property line of adjacent sensitive receptors
- Ensure all landscaping be drought tolerant
- Orient loading docks away from sensitive receptors unless physically impossible
- Locate loading docks a minimum of 300 feet away from the property line of sensitive receptor unless dock is exclusively used for electric trucks
- Incorporate signage and "pavement markings" to clearly identify on-site circulation patterns to minimize unnecessary on-site vehicle travel
- Locate truck entries on streets of a higher commercial classification
- Ensure all building roofs are solar-ready
- Ensure all portions of roof tops that are not covered with solar panels are constructed to have light colored roofing material with a solar reflective index of greater than 78
- Ensure rooftop solar panels are installed and operated to supply 100% of the power needed to operate all non-refrigerated portions of the development project
- Ensure power sources at loading docks for all refrigerated trucks have "plugin" capacity, which will eliminate prolonged idling while loading and unloading goods
- Incorporate bicycle racks and electric bike plug-ins
- Require the use of low volatile organic compounds (VOC) architectural and industrial maintenance coatings
- Designate an area during construction to charge electric powered construction vehicles and equipment, if temporary power is available
- Prohibit the use of non-emergency diesel-powered generators during construction
- Inform the project proponent of the incentive programs (e.g., Carl Moyer

32.9

Program and Voucher Incentive Program) offered to reduce air emissions from the Project

10)Truck Routing

Truck routing involves the assessment of which roads HHD trucks take to and from their destination, and the emissions impact that the HHD trucks may have on sensitive receptors (e.g. residential communities).

The Project is expected to result in future development (e.g. commercial, industrial, etc.), as such, the District recommends the County evaluate HHD truck routing patterns, with the aim of limiting exposure of residential communities and sensitive receptors to emissions. This evaluation would consider the current truck routes, the quantity and type of each truck (e.g., Medium Heavy-Duty, HHD, etc.), the destination and origin of each trip, traffic volume correlation with the time of day or the day of the week, overall Vehicle Miles Traveled (VMT), and associated exhaust emissions. The truck routing evaluation would also identify alternative truck routes and their impacts on VMT and air quality.

11)Cleanest Available Heavy-Duty Trucks

The San Joaquin Valley will not be able to attain stringent health-based federal air quality standards without significant reductions in emissions from HHD trucks, the single largest source of NOx emissions in the San Joaquin Valley. The District's CARB-approved 2018 PM2.5 Plan includes significant new reductions from HHD trucks, including emissions reductions by 2023 through the implementation of CARB's Statewide Truck and Bus Regulation, which requires truck fleets operating in California to meet the 2010 standard of 0.2 g-NOx/bhp-hr by 2023. Additionally, to meet federal air quality attainment standards, the District's Plan relies on a significant and rapid transition of HHD fleets to zero or near-zero emissions technologies.

The Project is expected to result in future development (e.g. commercial, industrial, etc.), as such, the District recommends that the following measures be considered by the County to reduce Project-related operational emissions:

- Recommended Measure: Fleets associated with operational activities utilize the cleanest available HHD trucks, including zero and near-zero technologies.
- Recommended Measure: All on-site service equipment (cargo handling, yard hostlers, forklifts, pallet jacks, etc.) utilize zero-emissions technologies.

12)Reduce Idling of Heavy-Duty Trucks

The goal of this strategy is to limit the potential for localized PM<sub>2.5</sub> and toxic air contaminant impacts associated with the idling of Heavy-Duty trucks. The diesel exhaust from idling has the potential to impose significant adverse health and environmental impacts.

The Project is expected to result in future development (e.g. commercial, industrial, etc.), that have the ability to result in HHD truck trips, the District recommends the County include measures to ensure compliance of the state anti-idling regulation (13 CCR § 2485 and 13 CCR § 2480) and discuss the importance of limiting the amount of idling, especially near sensitive receptors. In addition, the District recommends the County consider the feasibility of implementing a more stringent 3-minute idling restriction and requiring appropriate signage and enforcement of idling restrictions.

13)Electric On-Site Off-Road and On-Road Equipment and Associated Fueling Infrastructure

The Project is expected to result in future development (e.g. commercial, industrial, etc.) that may have the potential to result in increased use of off-road equipment (e.g., forklifts) and on-road equipment (e.g., mobile yard trucks with the ability to move materials). The District recommends that the DPEIR include requirements for project proponents to utilize electric or zero emission off-road and on-road equipment.

14)Under-fired Charbroilers

Future development projects (e.g. commercial) have the potential to include restaurants with under-fired charbroilers. Such charbroilers may pose the potential for immediate health risk, particularly when located in densely populated areas or near sensitive receptors.

Since the cooking of meat can release carcinogenic PM<sub>2.5</sub> species, such as polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons, controlling emissions from new under-fired charbroilers will have a substantial positive impact on public health. The air quality impacts on neighborhoods near restaurants with under-fired charbroilers can be significant on days when meteorological conditions are stable, when dispersion is limited and emissions are trapped near the surface within the surrounding neighborhoods. This potential for neighborhood-level concentration of emissions during evening or multi-day stagnation events raises air quality concerns.

Furthermore, reducing commercial charbroiling emissions is essential to achieving attainment of multiple federal PM<sub>2.5</sub> standards. Therefore, the District recommends that the DPEIR include a measure requiring the assessment and potential installation, as technologically feasible, of particulate matter emission control systems for new large restaurants operating under-fired charbroilers.

The District is available to assist the County and project proponents with this assessment. Additionally, the District is currently offering substantial incentive funding that covers the full cost of purchasing, installing, and maintaining the system during a demonstration period covering two years of operation. Please contact the District at (559) 230-5800 or technology@valleyair.org for more information, or visit: <http://valleyair.org/grants/rctp.htm>

cont.

15)Vegetative Barriers and Urban Greening

The Project is expected to result in future development (e.g. commercial, industrial, etc.). As such, the District suggests the County incorporate vegetative barriers and urban greening as a measure to further reduce air pollution exposure on sensitive receptors (e.g., residences, schools, healthcare facilities).

While various emission control techniques and programs exist to reduce air quality emissions from mobile and stationary sources, vegetative barriers have been shown to be an additional measure to potentially reduce a population's exposure to air pollution through the interception of airborne particles and the uptake of gaseous pollutants. Examples of vegetative barriers include, but are not limited to the following: trees, bushes, shrubs, or a mix of these. Generally, a higher and thicker vegetative barrier with full coverage will result in greater reductions in downwind pollutant concentrations. In the same manner, urban greening is also a way to help improve air quality and public health in addition to enhancing the overall beautification of a community with drought tolerant, low-maintenance greenery.

16)Clean Lawn and Garden Equipment in the Community

Gas-powered lawn and garden equipment have the potential to result in an increase of NOx and PM2.5 emissions. Utilizing electric lawn care equipment can provide residents with immediate economic, environmental, and health benefits. The District recommends the Project proponent consider the District's Clean Green Yard Machines (CGYM) program which provides incentive funding for replacement of existing gas powered lawn and garden equipment. More information on the District CGYM program and funding can be found at: <http://www.valleyair.org/grants/cgym.htm> and <http://valleyair.org/grants/cgym-commercial.htm>.

17)On-Site Solar Deployment

It is the policy of the State of California that renewable energy resources and zero-carbon resources supply 100% of retail sales of electricity to California end-use customers by December 31, 2045. While various emission control techniques and programs exist to reduce air quality emissions from mobile and stationary sources, the production of solar energy is contributing to improving air quality and public health. The District suggests that the County consider incorporating solar power systems as an emission reduction strategy for future development projects.

32.17

32.17
cont.

18) Electric Vehicle Chargers

To support and accelerate the installation of electric vehicle charging equipment and development of required infrastructure, the District offers incentives to public agencies, businesses, and property owners of multi-unit dwellings to install electric charging infrastructure (Level 2 and 3 chargers). The purpose of the District's Charge Up! Incentive program is to promote clean air alternative-fuel technologies and the use of low or zero-emission vehicles. The District recommends that the County and project proponents install electric vehicle chargers at project sites, and at strategic locations.

Please visit www.valleyair.org/grants/chargeup.htm for more information.

19) Nuisance Odors

While offensive odors rarely cause any physical harm, they can be unpleasant, leading to considerable distress among the public and often resulting in citizen complaints.

The County should consider all available pertinent information to determine if future development projects could have a significant impact related to nuisance odors. Nuisance odors may be assessed qualitatively taking into consideration the proposed business or industry type and its potential to create odors, as well as proximity to off-site receptors that potentially would be exposed to objectionable odors. The intensity of an odor source's operations and its proximity to receptors influences the potential significance of malodorous emissions. Any project with the potential to frequently expose members of the public to objectionable odors should be deemed to have a significant impact.

According to the District Guidance for Assessing and Mitigating air Quality Impacts (GAMAQI), a significant odor impact is defined as more than one confirmed complaint per year averaged over a three-year period, or three unconfirmed complaints per year averaged over a three-year period. An unconfirmed complaint means that either the odor or air contaminant release could not be detected, or the source of the odor could not be determined.

As the future development projects that will fall within the Project do not yet exist the County should and stipulate odor mitigation measures in the DPEIR as conditions of approval for those business and industry types. An example would be for a project proponent whose project is determined to have a potentially significant odor impact to draft and implement an odor management plan as a mitigation measure in the DPEIR.

20) District Rules and Regulations

The District issues permits for many types of air pollution sources, and regulates some activities that do not require permits. A project subject to District rules and regulations would reduce its impacts on air quality through compliance with the District's regulatory framework. In general, a regulation is a collection of individual rules, each of which deals with a specific topic. As an example, Regulation II (Permits) includes District Rule 2010 (Permits Required), Rule 2201 (New and Modified Stationary Source Review), Rule 2520 (Federally Mandated Operating Permits), and several other rules pertaining to District permitting requirements and processes.

The list of rules below is neither exhaustive nor exclusive. Current District rules can be found online at: www.valleyair.org/rules/1ruleslist.htm. To identify other District rules or regulations that apply to future projects, or to obtain information about District permit requirements, the project proponents are strongly encouraged to contact the District's Small Business Assistance (SBA) Office at (559) 230-5888.

20a) District Rules 2010 and 2201 - Air Quality Permitting for Stationary Sources

32.20

Stationary Source emissions include any building, structure, facility, or installation which emits or may emit any affected pollutant directly or as a fugitive emission. District Rule 2010 (Permits Required) requires operators of emission sources to obtain an Authority to Construct (ATC) and Permit to Operate (PTO) from the District. District Rule 2201 (New and Modified Stationary Source Review) requires that new and modified stationary sources of emissions mitigate their emissions using Best Available Control Technology (BACT).

Future development projects may be subject to District Rule 2010 (Permits Required) and Rule 2201 (New and Modified Stationary Source Review) and may require District permits. Prior to construction, project proponents shall obtain an ATC permit from the District for equipment/activities subject to District permitting requirements.

Recommended Mitigation Measure: For projects subject to permitting by the San Joaquin Valley Air Pollution Control District, demonstration of compliance with District Rule 2201 (obtain ATC permit from the District) shall be provided to the County before issuance of the first building permit.

For further information or assistance, project proponents may contact the District's SBA Office at (559) 230-5888.

20b) District Rule 9510 - Indirect Source Review (ISR)

The purpose of District Rule 9510 is to reduce the growth in both NOx and PM emissions associated with development and transportation projects from mobile and area sources; specifically, the emissions associated with the construction and subsequent operation of development projects. The ISR Rule requires developers to mitigate their NOx and PM emissions by incorporating clean air design elements into their projects. Should the proposed development project clean air design elements be insufficient to meet the required emission reductions, developers must pay a fee that ultimately funds incentive projects to achieve off-site emissions reductions.

Accordingly, future development projects within the Project may be subject to District Rule 9510 if upon full buildout, the project would equal or exceed any of the following applicability thresholds, depending on the type of development and public agency approval mechanism:

Table 1: ISR Applicability Thresholds

| Development Type | Discretionary Approval Threshold | Ministerial Approval / Allowed Use / By Right Thresholds |
|-------------------------|-----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------|
| Residential             | 50 dwelling units                       | 250 dwelling units                                              |
| Commercial              | 2,000 square feet                       | 10,000 square feet                                              |
| Light Industrial        | 25,000 square feet                      | 125,000 square feet                                             |
| Heavy Industrial        | 100,000 square feet                     | 500,000 square feet                                             |

District Rule 9510 also applies to any transportation or transit development projects where construction exhaust emissions equal or exceed two tons of NOx or two tons of PM.

The purpose of District Rule 9510 is to reduce the growth in both NOx and PM emissions associated with development and transportation projects from mobile and area sources; specifically, the emissions associated with the construction and subsequent operation of development projects. The Rule requires developers to mitigate their NOx and PM emissions by incorporating clean air design elements into their projects. Should the proposed development project clean air design elements be insufficient to meet the required emission reductions, developers must pay a fee that ultimately funds incentive projects to achieve off-site emissions reductions.

In the case the individual development project is subject to District Rule 9510, per Section 5.0 of the rule, an Air Impact Assessment (AIA) application is required to be submitted no later than applying for project-level approval from a public agency so that proper mitigation and clean air design under ISR can be incorporated into the public agency's analysis.

Information about how to comply with District Rule 9510 can be found online at: <http://www.valleyair.org/ISR/ISRHome.htm>.

The AIA application form can be found online at: <http://www.valleyair.org/ISR/ISRFormsAndApplications.htm>.

District staff is available to provide assistance with determining if a future development project is subject to Rule 9510, and can be reached by phone at (559) 230-5900 or by email at ISR@valleyair.org.

20c) District Rule 9410 (Employer Based Trip Reduction)

Future development projects may be subject to District Rule 9410 (Employer Based Trip Reduction) if the project would result in employment of 100 or more "eligible" employees. District Rule 9410 requires employers with 100 or more "eligible" employees at a worksite to establish an Employer Trip Reduction Implementation Plan (eTRIP) that encourages employees to reduce single-occupancy vehicle trips, thus reducing pollutant emissions associated with work commutes. Under an eTRIP plan, employers have the flexibility to select the options that work best for their worksites and their employees.

20d) District Rule 4002 (National Emissions Standards for Hazardous Air Pollutants)

In the event an existing building will be renovated, partially demolished or removed, future development projects may be subject to District Rule 4002. This rule requires a thorough inspection for asbestos to be conducted before any regulated facility is demolished or renovated. Information on how to comply with District Rule 4002 can be found online at:

20e) District Rule 4601 (Architectural Coatings)

Future development projects may be subject to District Rule 4601 since it may utilize architectural coatings. Architectural coatings are paints, varnishes, sealers, or stains that are applied to structures, portable buildings, pavements or curbs. The purpose of this rule is to limit VOC emissions from architectural coatings. In addition, this rule specifies architectural coatings storage, cleanup and labeling requirements. Additional information on how to comply with District Rule 4601 requirements can be found online at:

20f) District Regulation VIII (Fugitive PM10 Prohibitions)

The project proponent may be required to submit a Construction Notification Form or submit and receive approval of a Dust Control Plan prior to commencing any earthmoving activities as described in Regulation VIII, specifically Rule 8021 – Construction, Demolition, Excavation, Extraction, and Other Earthmoving Activities.

Should the project result in at least 1-acre in size, the project proponent shall provide written notification to the District at least 48 hours prior to the project proponents intent to commence any earthmoving activities pursuant to District Rule 8021 (Construction, Demolition, Excavation, Extraction, and Other Earthmoving Activities). Also, should the project result in the disturbance of 5-acres or more, or will include moving, depositing, or relocating more than 2,500 cubic yards per day of bulk materials, the project proponent shall submit to the District a Dust Control Plan pursuant to District Rule 8021 (Construction, Demolition, Excavation, Extraction, and Other Earthmoving Activities). For additional information regarding the written notification or Dust Control Plan requirements, please contact District Compliance staff at (559) 230-5950.

20g) District Rule 4901 - Wood Burning Fireplaces and Heaters

The purpose of this rule is to limit emissions of carbon monoxide and particulate matter from wood burning fireplaces, wood burning heaters, and outdoor wood burning devices. This rule establishes limitations on the installation of new wood burning fireplaces and wood burning heaters. Specifically, at elevations below 3,000 feet in areas with natural gas service, no person shall install a wood burning fireplace, low mass fireplace, masonry heater, or wood burning heater.

20h) Other District Rules and Regulations

Future development projects may also be subject to the following District rules: Rule 4102 (Nuisance) and Rule 4641 (Cutback, Slow Cure, and Emulsified Asphalt, Paving and Maintenance Operations).

The following rules are specific to confined animal operations:

- Rule 4102 (Nuisance) – This rule applies to any source operation that emits or may emit air contaminants or other materials. In the event that the Project or construction of the Project creates a public nuisance, it could be in violation and be subject to District enforcement action.
- Rule 4550 (Conservation Management Practices) – The purpose of this rule is to limit fugitive dust emissions from agricultural operation sites. These sites include areas of crop production, animal feeding operations and unpaved roads/equipment areas. The District's CMP handbook can be found online at the District's website at: http://www.valleyair.org/farmpermits/updates/cmp\_handbook.pdf.
- Rule 4570 (Confined Animal Facilities) – District Rule 4570 was adopted by the District's Governing Board on June 15, 2006. Dairies with greater than or equal to 500 milk cows are subject to the requirements of District Rule 4570. Therefore, a Rule 4570 application shall also be submitted to the District.

21)Future Projects / Land Use Agency Referral Documents

Future development projects may require an environmental review and air emissions mitigation. A project's referral documents and environmental review documents provided to the District for review should include a project summary, the land use designation, project size, air emissions quantifications and impacts, and proximity to sensitive receptors and existing emission sources, and air emissions mitigation measures. For reference and guidance, more information can be found in the District's Guidance for Assessing and Mitigating Air Quality Impacts at: <https://www.valleyair.org/transportation/GAMAQI.pdf>

22)District Comment Letter

The District recommends that a copy of the District's comments be provided to the Project proponent.

RE: Difficulty Understanding the Nature of General Plan Amendment No. 529 (General Plan Review) and the Scope and Content of the Associated Draft Environmental Impact Report.

I’ve been actively engaged in the review and revision of the General Plan Policy Document (project) from the time the County began the process seventeen years ago. Over that time, I’ve witnessed significant changes in both the Project and process used to complete it.

To my dismay, I’ve found the County to be anything but straightforward with the public when it comes to clarifying whether the project is a comprehensive General Plan update or an amendment to the existing plan resulting from the five-year review begun in 2006. As explained below, the lack of clarity makes uncertain my ability to effectively comment on the project and draft EIR.

The process to revise the General Plan began in late 2005 and proceeded in fits and starts for the next eight years. On July 26, 2012, County staff concluded that the “Five-Year Review” of the 2000 General Plan Policy Document didn’t warrant the preparation of an EIR, and on February 11, 2011, the County published a Notice of Intent to Adopt a Negative Declaration.

A year later, on July 26, 2012, the Planning Commission recommended that the Board of Supervisors adopt the Negative Declaration and approve the Five-Year-Review (revision of the 2000 Policy Document). The Board considered the matter on December 4, 2012 but put off making a decision.

A year and a half later, on August 14, 2014, the County released for public review a new draft revision of the Policy Document. Then, at a public hearing held September 30, 2014, the Board of Supervisors made an unexpected move. It voted to require the preparation of an EIR for a project that was at that time still considered a “Five-Year-Review” of the 2000 General Plan.

Up to this point, there was no hint that the County was updating the General Plan. The review would simply bring the General Plan into compliance with changes in state law and determine which policies and implementation programs had served their purpose and should be deleted and which should be modified to reflect changed conditions and shifts in Board priorities.

2015

Up to this point, I'd been puzzled about the true nature of the "Five-Year-Review." However, my bewilderment was diminished somewhat when I heard what planners had to say at an October 13, 2015 Board of Supervisors hearing to approve an amended scope of work for the review of the General Plan and the preparation of an associated EIR.

Printed below is the action recommended by staff and subsequently approved by the Board:

"RECOMMENDED ACTION:

1. Consider and approve proposed Scope of Work prepared for the General Plan Five-Year Review, Zoning Ordinance Update and associated Environmental Impact Report...." [October 13, 2015 staff report to the Board of Supervisors for Agenda Item No. 11, page 1.]

At that October 13, 2015 hearing, staff made it clear to everyone attending the board meeting that the review of the General Plan Policy Document did not constitute an "update" of the plan and that the associated EIR would evaluate only those portions of the Policy Document that were being revised.

Below are citations from a transcript of that hearing. The speakers are...

Debbie Poochigian: Board Chairperson
Will Kettler: Planning Department Staff
Bernard Jimenez: Planning Department Staff
Mary Savala: Member of the League of Women Voters of Fresno
Radley Reep: Member of the League of Women Voters of Fresno

[Key statements from the transcript are underlined. My notes are in blue type.]

Poochigian: This [the Five-Year Review of the General Plan] is a review. The next revision would be required when? It's going to— This expenditure of a million dollars [for the revision of the General Plan and preparation of an EIR]— Is this going to help us on the revision side?

Kettler: It's still a review. I believe the planning horizon for the document will be expended — or extended, pardon me — to add years to when the document would need to be updated in the future.

Poochigian: So it will at least move the revision date out.

cont.

Kettler: Yes, ma'am, the update date. Yes, and again, this is not an update. This is a review. We are doing, as noted, and very importantly, a General Plan — or pardon me — a Zoning Ordinance update. And one point we made in June* was that currently there is no environmental impact report for the Zoning Ordinance, Ordinance, so this— If we are to move into the realm of an EIR, it allows us to more solidly also present and bring to your Board an update of these other items.

[* At that June 2, 2015 hearing, which resulted in supplementary board direction to staff regarding the review of the plan, Radley Reep submitted information supporting the need to “completely revise the 2000 EIR.”]

Savala: The Administrative Draft Policy Document revisions in Phase 2, Task 1** include a revised planning horizon to 2040. Where did that extension of the planning horizon come from? And what implications does it have for a five...five-year review of the General Plan and a full update of the General Plan in the future?

[** Ms. Savala was referring to text in the Scope of Work (dated August 6, 2015) for the review of the General Plan , which is printed below:

“Phase 2: Policy Document Revision

Task 2.1 Administrative Draft Policy Document Revisions

The Consultants will revise the existing draft General Plan Policy Document (September 2014) based on public comments provided to the County, to address State Planning Law...and to reflect a revised planning horizon (e.g., 2040). The Policy Document will also be prepared as the County’s qualified plan for the reduction of greenhouse gas emissions pursuant to CEQA Guidelines Section 15183.5(b).” [October 13, 2015 Scope of Work, page 3; my underlining.]

Reep: Will the EIR being contemplated review the entirety of the existing Policy Document or only those portions that are subject to the revision?

Poohigian: I think that’s a trick question, so why don’t you [addressing staff] take a minute.

[The recording did not pick up staff's comments, which were followed by laughter from Board members.]

Kettler: This is still a General Plan review. The EIR is being prepared at the direction of, of the Board, and the EIR will have the correlating impacts as I mentioned of, of affecting the General — the Zoning Ordinance update. But it's still a review; it's not an update. We have a review that was presented in September of '14. That is at this time the direction that we are moving toward. We've had, of course, meetings before the Board, meetings with the public, and meetings with Board members individually as directed by the Board. However, there is a scope identified in the Agreement, and in that scope, there will be public meetings, and there will also be meetings that occur at the public hearing setting, in which case, direction may change. So, I really don't understand the question. It's a review still. We have a redline version that's on the G-drive — no, on our, on our Internet website, and direction may or may not change through the process.

Poochigian: [addressing Mr. Reep] Do you want to tell him what part of the trick question [unintelligible] is?

Reep: [laughter] I didn't mean for it to be complicated — a trick question. The proposal is to revise a portion of the policies of the General Plan, and the question is whether the environmental assessment will just look at those or whether it's going to look at the entire policy document and analyze it environmentally. I think it's a simple question.

Poochigian: Well, you're talking about the economic portion and all of that. Is that what you're trying to get at?

Reep: The question is whether it's going to be a complete, comprehensive environmental review or just narrowly focused to the revisions. That's the question. And I'm hearing it's going to be...?

Jimenez: If there, if there are no changes to the existing policy, then there would be no review of that particular policy, so we are looking at the proposed revisions.

Reep: OK. I understand now.

cont.

I came away from that meeting believing that adoption of the General Plan “Five-Year Review” would extend the planning horizon of the 2000 General Plan from 2020 to 2040 so that the General Plan would have a 40-year life — from 2000 to 2040. Furthermore, I came to believe that the associated EIR would analyze only those policies that were recommended for revision.

From that moment on, I focused my attention on the proposed revision of the Policy Document and on the effect those changes might have on the environment.

2017

But as time passed, there were statements by County officials that led me to believe that the County was moving away from a simple review of the 2000 General Plan and more toward a complete overhaul of the General Plan, which, to my way of thinking, would have constituted a plan “update.”

For example, at a January 31, 2017 Board hearing to discuss economic development (Board Agenda Item No. 9), planner Bernard Jimenez referred to the pending review of the General Plan as a plan “update.” Below are statements by Supervisor Borgeas and Mr. Jimenez from that hearing.

- Borgeas: How long ago did the County of Fresno divest from the economic development game? Was that back in early 2000? When was that, Bernard [Jimenez]? Do you remember?
- Jimenez: Shortly after the General Plan was adopted, the County put a lot of effort into economic development by establishing positions even within the CAO’s office and created an economic development team. I would say that the, when those positions went away, which is probably around 2006, 7, 8 – right around there. It’s kind of where the County stopped focusing its efforts primarily on economic development simply because the positions went away. So [unintelligible] we were entering the recession and we, frankly, have not gathered any momentum since then.
- Borgeas: I’m thinking that we revisit this issue in a formal way and maybe start off with the idea of...what do we have that we can play with because the Rapid Response Team I thought was a good idea even though it was relatively small.

Jimenez: And Supervisor [Borgeas], one thing to remind the Board or to make the Board aware of, frankly, because of the new Board members is that, you know, we are in the process of revisiting and reviewing and updating our General Plan.

A week later, on February 7, 2017, during a Board hearing to discuss procedural rules for public hearings (Agenda Item No. 6), planner Bernard Jimenez again referred to the pending review of the General Plan as a General Plan “update.” Below are exchanges between Supervisor Borgeas and Mr. Jimenez.

Borgeas: When are we going to delve into the de novo review discussion and what our role is? Is that going to come up in the next couple of months? When are we looking at that?

Jimenez: We were actually proposing to address that as part of our Zoning Ordinance update. We can break that off and do it separate, and, but it really depends on what your Board decides.

Borgeas: The matter was going to be brought back, and I’m just asking when it’s going to be brought back.

Jimenez: So if we do it as part of our Zoning Ordinance update, that would likely — At least 12 months because simply in terms of our timeline where we’re at with our General Plan update.

On May 15, 2017, in advance of a Board hearing scheduled the following day to discuss the “status of the General Plan Review” (Agenda item No. 15), the League of Women Voters sent an email letter to all members of the Board of Supervisors asking whether the Five-Year Review of the General Plan had been transformed into a plan update. Below are portions of that letter.

“May 15, 2017

Re: Board Agenda Item #15: Status of the Review of the General Plan

Dear Members of the Board of Supervisors:

Fresno County residents need a clear statement from you as to whether the County is, in fact, in the process of updating its General Plan Policy Document.

Although the County maintains that it is not updating its General Plan Policy Document, there is every reason to believe that it is. The evidence for it is (1) the large percentage of policies that are proposed for significant revision, (2) the necessity to amend a majority of the Plan’s implementation programs, (3) the replacement of the EIR for the current General Plan, (4) the update of a major component of the General Plan – the Background Report, (5) the recommended doubling of the life of the General Plan, and most importantly, (6) the report from the County to the Office of Planning and Research stating that the County is, indeed, conducting an update of its General Policy Document.

The County maintains that it is not conducting an “update” of its General Plan Policy Document, that instead, it is completing a “5-year review” that was begun 12 years ago (in 2005). Despite the County’s claim that it is not updating its Policy Document, there is strong, credible evidence to the contrary.

The League of Women Voters of Fresno respectfully asks the Board...to acknowledge that the County is, in fact, in the process of updating its General Plan Policy Document and, additionally, to take the steps necessary to fully engage county residents in that process.”

During the public hearing held the following day, May 16, 2017, there were these short exchanges between Supervisor Borgeas, Supervisor Pacheco, Daniel Cederborg (County Counsel) and planners Bernard Jimenez and Will Kettler.

Borgeas: We heard from one of the speakers [Radley Reep, representing the League of Women Voters of Fresno] on the insistence that we call this an update. Can you explain the implications of that terminology and what exactly we are doing?

Jimenez: We are amending our General Plan, and it’s a General Plan amendment so irrespective of the terms that folks want to associate with it, we are amending our General Plan. That’s simply what it is.

Pacheco: The only thing, Counsel [Daniel Cederborg], I would just add— This is a little bit out of my pay grade. This issue between update and review. Supervisor Borgeas touched upon that, but what is the significance of those terms, please?

Counsel: Well, one, I— There will be certain things that if you’re doing a full update that would definitely be required.

Pacheco: OK.

Co. Counsel: You've heard the advocates talk about how the process that we are going through probably is one that would require those things anyway. That is a gray area in which the discussion would continue on, if as to whether it is a review or an update. I think that this Board needs to define with staff at this stage, you know, the Board did take the step in terms of doing the full EIR at this point. As to, you know, what staff's feeling is about that, you know, that was asked but I don't think we got the answer just yet as to exactly where the Board wants to go with that review versus update because that can change legal opinions, for instance, that our office gives in terms of some of the things that might, you know, need to be [unintelligible, probably the word "included"].

Pacheco: OK, then I have another question for staff. Granted— Given what we've heard today, that our current Plan — I believe the term is 'expires' in 2020 —or what is the term?

Jimenez: It doesn't expire. We do have a [2000 – 2020] planning period where assumptions are made for various land use policies but it doesn't have an expiration date.... We are going through a process to extend that because, as one of the speakers [Mr. Reep] said, that planning 20-year period is about on us already, so it makes sense to go ahead as we go through this process to extend that out.

Pacheco: So what is our plan, then? You know, we're not— I don't have— They said we're kind of like, you know, cloak and mirrors. I don't really have any cloak and mirrors. I want to know what is our plan.

Jimenez: Well, fundamentally—

Pacheco: And I'm OK to say it in public.

Jimenez: Fundamentally, our land use policies are proposed to essentially remain the same: directing growth to the cities, preserving ag land, I mean, there's no smoke and mirrors about that.

Pacheco: OK.

Jimenez: Now you've heard comments about significant changes to policies. We're going to agree to disagree because I think the characterization of what are being proposed are not accurate but, there will be an opportunity to have that discussion....

Kettler: A couple of points, if I may, Mr. Chairman and members of the Board. One very important issue that the County is not undertaking that as most jurisdictions do is that there has been no change to land use designations or development intensity proposed with our review. The reason why our review has taken so long and has been morphing into more complex [unintelligible at 2:26:13] is because various groups — some present today — have come to the Board and asked for certain things to be included. The environmental impact report is beneficial to the County because it will entail a Zoning Ordinance update as well, and we were very clear with the Board in 2013 that the Zoning Ordinance currently does not have an EIR backing for it. So that's really where the real benefit is. The Zoning Ordinance effort is going concurrently with this. The General Plan review – or amendment – as Bernard [Jimenez] says, which is completely accurate, is really in the same state and same intensity as it was when we first approached the Board [in 2012 with a request to adopt a Negative Declaration]. We were doing a Negative Declaration and proposing that because, again, we were actually ratcheting down development entitlements rather than adding to them as most jurisdictions do. A lot of jurisdictions – those from the city – will know that when you do a General Plan update, you're adding land and adding urbanization. This plan does nothing like that. As a matter of fact, as Bernard [Jimenez] said, it basically carries forward the policy of directing growth to cities and unincorporated communities.

County residents came away from that hearing with no clear statement from the Board as to whether the County was conducting a “Five-Year Review” of the existing 2000-2020 plan to extend the plan to 2040 or whether it was preparing a brand new plan to serve from 2020 to 2040.

Therefore, on October 13, 2017, pursuant to Sections 2312 and 2313 of Board of Supervisors Administrative Policy No. 29, the League formally asked for a public hearing to explain the nature of the “Five-Year Review and Revision of the General Plan.” The County ignored that request. (I should note here that the Board has never scheduled a public hearing to disclose whether the County is, in fact, conducting a plan review or preparing an plan update. Simply put, planning-wise and from a political perspective, the County has been completely silent on that subject.)

2023

Five years later and I'm still confused. In a last ditch effort to figure out exactly what's what, I studied the project descriptions included in the five documents listed below. My hope was that they would shed light on whether the County was still conducting a five-year review of the General Plan and whether it was updating it. I also hoped to find out whether the EIR was only analyzing revisions to the 2000 Policy Document or whether it was evaluating a brand new 2023 plan.

1. The March 21, 2018 Notice of Preparation (NOP) of the 2023 EIR
2. The January 15, 2021 Notice of Preparation (NOP) of the 2023 EIR (second notice)
3. The January 15, 2021 Notice of Completion & Environmental Document Transmittal Form
4. The April 28, 2023 Notice of the Availability of the Draft 2023 General Plan and Draft 2023 EIR
5. The 2023 Draft EIR itself.

I looked to see what each of these documents had to say about the nature of the project and EIR.

What I discovered were artful changes in text from year to year. While the 2018 NOP strongly suggested that the project was not a plan update, the 2021 NOP clearly stated that it was. And what of the documents from 2023? Well, they didn't help much, as they presented both viewpoints.

1. March 21, 2018 Notice of Preparation of the 2023 EIR

The citation below is from the County's March 21, 2018 Notice of Preparation of the EIR. It confirms what was relayed by planners at the October 13, 2015 Board hearing, namely, that the project is a review of the 2000 General Plan and that the EIR will evaluate only the revisions made to the existing plan.

"Probable Environmental Effects and Scope of the EIR:

The EIR for the General Plan Review and Zoning Ordinance Update will describe existing environmental resource areas and conditions in Fresno County. The EIR is intended to be a program-level document that will analyze the broad environmental effects of the proposed General Plan revisions and Zoning Ordinance Update, considering broad policy alternatives and program-wide mitigation measures. The EIR will evaluate the potentially significant environmental impacts of implementing the proposed General Plan revisions and Zoning Ordinance Update and will evaluate whether there are feasible mitigation measures that may lessen or avoid identified significant impacts."

2. January 15, 2021 Notice of Preparation of the 2023 EIR (second notice)

As you can see below, the 2021 NOP dropped the word “revisions” from the description of the scope of the EIR. It states clearly that the General Plan is being updated.

“Probable Environmental Effects and Scope of the EIR:

The EIR for the review and update of the General Plan and a comprehensive update of the Zoning Ordinance will describe existing environmental resource areas and conditions in Fresno County. Pursuant to CEQA Guidelines Section 15125, existing conditions will be described as they exist when this NOP is circulated based on the most recent available data and information. The EIR is intended to be a program-level document that will analyze the broad environmental effects of the proposed General Plan ~~revisions~~ and Zoning Ordinance Update, considering broad policy alternatives and program-wide mitigation measures. The EIR will evaluate the potentially significant environmental impacts of implementing the proposed General Plan ~~revisions~~ and Zoning Ordinance Update and will evaluate whether there are feasible mitigation measures that may lessen or avoid identified significant impacts. No specific development projects are being considered. Rather, the analysis will focus on the reasonably foreseeable direct and indirect physical environmental effects compared to existing conditions that could result from adoption and implementation of the General Plan and Zoning Ordinance Update. Effectively, the EIR will analyze potential impacts from buildout of the General Plan on the existing environment. The EIR will also identify and evaluate alternatives to the proposed project.” [January 15, 2021 Notice of Preparation of the EIR, page 3.]

But even so, there is some contradiction in the 2021 NOP. As shown below, the Introduction to the 2021 NOP uses wording from the earlier 2018 NOP indicating that while the County is updating the Zoning Ordinance, it’s actually reviewing — not updating — the General Plan.

“Introduction:

The County of Fresno (County) is reviewing its General Plan and updating its Zoning Ordinance. As Lead Agency under the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), the County has determined that the review and update may have a potential significant effect on the environment and that a Programmatic Environmental Impact Report (EIR) will be prepared to evaluate these potential effects.” [January 15, 2021 Notice of Preparation of the EIR, page 1.]

3. January 15, 2021 Notice of Completion & Environmental Document Transmittal Form

The transmittal form, which was submitted to the State Clearinghouse by the consulting firm preparing the 2023 Draft EIR, also made it clear that the General Plan is being updated. The transmittal form contains this paragraph.

“The proposed project consists of a review and update of the County General Plan’s Background Report and Policy Document, and a comprehensive update of the Zoning Ordinance. The revised General Plan is intended to build on the major policies of the current 2000 General Plan but expand and strengthen them to meet the challenges and community needs through planning horizon year 2040. The Zoning Ordinance would be updated for consistency with the General Plan.”

4. April 28, 2023 Notice of the Availability of the Draft 2023 General Plan and Draft 2023 EIR

On April 28, 2023, the County issued a Notice of Availability to inform the public that the Draft 2023 General Plan and Draft 2023 EIR were available for public review and comment. That document is a bit more problematic as it contains 14 statements that the General Plan is being “reviewed” but no statement that it’s being “updated.” By way of example, below are some citations from that document.

NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY

Draft Program Environmental Impact Report (DPEIR) for the Fresno County General Plan Review and Zoning Ordinance Update

Fresno County, California

April 28, 2023

“PROJECT TITLE: Fresno County General Plan Review and Zoning Ordinance Update”

“The General Plan Review is intended to build on the major policies of the current 2000 General Plan but expand and strengthen them to meet the challenges and community needs through planning horizon year 2042. The General Plan Review would accommodate County population growth projected through 2042.”

For me, the clause highlighted in red above creates an additional level of uncertainty. It reads, “The General Plan Review is intended to build on the major policies of the current 2000 General Plan.” The use of the word “build” suggests to me that the 2000 General Plan will continue to have agency in the future — that although policies in the 2000 General Plan are being revised, nonetheless, the 2000 General Plan remains the framework upon which revisions are made.

If the design and implementation of the 2000 General Plan Policy Document informs the revision taking place in 2023, then I would most definitely want to comment on the environmental effects of revising the text, policies and programs of the current plan — but I’ve been unsure if I can do that. I don’t know if the County will respond to comments about the effect of revising existing documents.

5. 2023 Draft EIR

The 2023 EIR doesn’t disentangle the situation. The 2023 Draft EIR opens with a statement that the primary objective of the GPR/ZOU (General Plan Review and Zoning Ordinance Update) is to bring plans into compliance with state law.

“The primary objective of the GPR/ZOU are [sic] to ensure that the County’s guiding land use documents are consistent with State legislation that has been enacted subsequent to the adoption of the County 2000 General Plan Update.”
[Draft EIR for the 2023 GPR/ZOU, pages ES-2 and 2-21.]

That’s all well and good, but to my way of thinking, such changes are relatively minor and do not rise to the level of a plan update — at least not on par with prior updates in 1976 and 2000. In fact, bringing the plan into consistency with state law was the reason given for initiating the five-year review in the first place — and at that time, the review was not considered a plan update.

That the General Plan Review and associated EIR focus primarily on bringing the 2000 General Plan into compliance with state law is evident from the large number of new policies, programs and mitigation measures recommended for adoption. Of the 58 programs proposed for addition to the Policy Document, over 80% address statutory requirements since 2000. Similarly, of the 175 policies proposed for addition to the Policy Document, over 85% address these same requirements. And of the 12 mitigation measures proposed for adoption, nearly all are related to changes in state law.

But if the primary focus of the project is compliance with state law, what of the hundreds of changes to policies and programs that have nothing or very little to do with changes in law? The County is proposing to delete or significantly modify 68% of the programs in the 2000 Policy Document. That also holds true for 29% of the policies. And then there are the 60 policies currently serving as environmental mitigation measures that will either be significantly modified or deleted. While I have not had an opportunity to see how many of these revisions are in response to statutory changes, I suspect they are few in number. And importantly, the County has not provided an explanation for these changes, and it appears the Draft 2023 EIR has not evaluated whether they have the potential to adversely affect the environment.

I'm not sure whether the EIR should evaluate changes proposed for the existing 2000 Policy Document, but based on wording in the draft 2023 EIR, I see that might be the case. As shown below, the Draft 2003 EIR claims that the Draft 2023 Policy Document is, in fact, the 2000 Policy Document, only revised. The Draft 2023 EIR also claims that it focuses on the revisions proposed for the current plan. If this is so, I would think that I can and should comment on the environmental effects of those revisions.

One would think that wording in the Draft 2023 EIR, such as that above, would settle matters, but it doesn't.

On April 14, 2020, after publication of the 2018 NOP but before publication of the 2021 NOP, the Board of Supervisors approved consultant Agreement No. 20-144, which amended and restated Agreement No. 15-530 from 2015. As you will read below, the scope of work in the amended agreement called for a major change in the approach to the environmental review of the project — from a plan-to-plan analysis (an assessment of the environmental effect of revising the 2000 Policy Document) to an baseline analysis (as assessment of buildout under the Draft 2023 Plan compared to current environmental conditions).

“Phase 4 Environmental Review

Task 4.1 Notice of Preparation (Revised)

Under Amendment 2 [2020 AGT], the County has directed that the overall approach to the environmental analysis in the EIR will ~~change from a plan-to-plan comparison [2000 -2023]~~ to an analysis that will focus on buildout of the proposed General Plan compared to existing conditions (in other words, a baseline comparison). This will require recirculation of the NOP to change the existing baseline used for impact analysis.” [Page 5 of the Scope of Work under AGT 2020-144; my underlining]

As shown below, wording in the Draft 2023 EIR supports this change in focus.

“The focus of this EIR is to:

- Provide information about the GPR/ZOU for consideration by the Fresno County Board of Supervisors and Fresno County Planning Commission in their selection of the proposed project, an alternative to the proposed project, or a combination of various chapters from the proposed project and its alternatives, for approval
- Review and evaluate the potentially significant environmental impacts that could occur as a result of the implementation of the GPR/ZOU [2023 General Plan Review and Zoning Ordinance Update] compared to existing conditions

In bringing this communication to a close, I’d like to provide an example of why a plan-to-plan comparison has value. For illustrative purposes, I turn your attention to the section in the General Plan that addresses noise — Section “G” (Section H in the Draft 2023 Policy Document) in the Health and Safety Element of the 2000 General Plan Policy Document.

I chose this section because it’s relatively short and slated for very little revision. Section “G” houses nine policies and two implementation programs. The Draft 2023 Policy Document retains each of these policies and programs as currently written. However, the Draft 2023 Plan does add one new policy, bringing the total number of policies to ten. All ten policies are shown in the chart on the next page. (The two implementation programs are discussed a bit later.)

[As an aside, the County gave the 10th policy the wrong ID number; instead of labeling it Policy HS-H.10, the County mistakenly labeled it Policy HS-H.12.]

With respect to the assessment of noise generation, the 2000 EIR and 2023 EIR differ greatly in their environmental conclusions. For example, the 2000 EIR identified an adverse noise impact that could not be mitigated to a level of insignificance, this despite the fact that the Board of Supervisors decided in 2000 that all nine policies in Section “G” should serve as environmental mitigation measures. And what is that impact? It’s the increase in noise that’s caused by cumulative development over the life of the plan.

Oddly, the Draft 2023 EIR came to a very different conclusion. It determined there will be no significant increase in noise under the revised plan. Contrary to the 2000 EIR, the Draft 2023 EIR claimed that unidentified (unnamed and undisclosed) goals and policies in the 2023 Draft Policy Document would minimize to a level of insignificance any future increase in noise level.

| HS-G.1                        | The County shall require that all proposed development incorporate design elements necessary to minimize adverse noise impacts on surrounding land uses.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Yes  | Yes(unchanged) |
| HS-G.2                        | The County shall require new roadway improvement projects to achieve and maintain the normally acceptable noise levels shown in Chart HS-1: “Land Use Compatibility for Community Noise Environments.”                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Yes  | Yes(unchanged) |
| HS-G.3                        | The County shall allow the development of new noise-sensitive land uses (which include, but are not limited to, residential neighborhoods, schools, and hospitals) only in areas where existing or projected noise levels are “acceptable” according to the Chart HS-1: “Land Use Compatibility for Community Noise Environments.” Noise mitigation measures may be required to reduce noise in outdoor activity areas and interior spaces to these levels.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | Yes  | Yes(unchanged) |
| HS-G.4                        | So that noise mitigation may be considered in the design of new projects, the County shall require an acoustical analysis as part of the environmental review process where:a. Noise sensitive land uses are proposed in areas exposed to existing or projected noise levels that are “generally unacceptable” or higher according to the Chart HS-1: “Land Use Compatibility for Community Noise Environments;”b. Proposed projects are likely to produce noise levels exceeding the levels shown in the County’s Noise Control Ordinance at existing or planned noise-sensitive uses.                                                                                                                                                                                              | Yes  | Yes(unchanged) |
| HS-G.5                        | Where noise mitigation measures are required to achieve acceptable levels according to land use compatibility or the Noise Control Ordinance, the County shall place emphasis of such measures upon site planning and project design. These measures may include, but are not limited to, building orientation, setbacks, earthen berms, and building construction practices. The County shall consider the use of noise barriers, such as soundwalls, as a means of achieving the noise standards after other design-related noise mitigation measures have been evaluated or integrated into the project.                                                                                                                                                                                          | Yes  | Yes(unchanged) |
| HS-G.6                        | The County shall regulate construction-related noise to reduce impacts on adjacent uses in accordance with the County’s Noise Control Ordinance.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | Yes  | Yes(unchanged) |

The chart below contains text from both the 2000 EIR and the Draft 2023 EIR showing how both address the cumulative impact of noise generation. Although the two EIRs employed different terminology, the underlying concepts are the same. (The 2000 EIR speaks of “mobile” and “fixed” sources of noise; the Draft 2023 EIR speaks of noise from “traffic” and “stationary” sources.)

| Impact 4.15-5. The Draft General Plan, in combination with other cumulative development , would result in increases in mobile and fixed noise source levels , resulting in permanent increases in ambient noise levels that could affect sensitive receptors. | Impact N-2. Development envisioned in the GPR/ZOU would introduce new stationary noise sources associated with residential, commercial and industrial land uses and would contribute to an increase in traffic and railway noise. The continued regulation of stationary noise sources, consistent with the County’s Noise Control Ordinance, and implementation of goals and policies in the 2042 General Plan would minimize disturbance to adjacent land uses. |

Question: How is that the 2000 EIR concluded that even with the application of specific mitigation measures, cumulative development would result in a significant and unavoidable increase in noise while the Draft 2023 EIR concluded that without* mitigation, cumulative development would result in no significant increase in noise?

* Actually, the Draft 2023 EIR did reference mitigation — sort of. On page 4-12.38, under the heading “Cumulative Impacts,” the Draft 2023 EIR reported that although “potential growth envisioned under GPR/ZOU may contribute to increased construction and operational noise” and even though “implementation of the GPR/ZOU would increase density and intensity of existing land uses,” nonetheless, the “goals and policies contained in the GPR/ZOU would address increased noise” and, therefore, that “cumulative noise impacts would be less than significant.”

The Draft 2023 EIR should resolve the difference in the environmental conclusions in the two EIRs. It should also explain why mitigation measures adopted for the 2000 General Plan are not equally applicable in 2023.

On a related matter, it’s necessary to address environmentally the County’s failure under the 2000 General Plan to execute programs designed to implement adopted mitigation measures.

To that end, the draft 2023 EIR should examine the County’s inability to fully implement a majority of its General Plan programs, a good example being Program HS-G.B, which required the County to develop a noise control program. Program HS-G.B is printed below.

Program HS-G.B

“The County shall develop an effective noise control program that includes:

- a. An ordinance (1) defining acceptable noise levels based on land use, (2) setting forth monitoring methodology and determination of violations, (3) defining exemptions and variance procedures, and (4) delineating enforcement and abatement procedures; and
- b. A public information program to inform county residents of the impact of noise on their lives.”

According to information in the 2000 Policy Document, Program HS-G.B was to have been implemented by 2002, but the fact is that this program has never been implemented. The County’s Annual Progress Report (APR) on the implementation of the General Plan for calendar year 2022 confirms this: “A noise control program that addresses all components of this Implementation Program has not been developed.” [APR for 2022, page 70.]

And why hasn’t the program been developed? After all, program implementation is an “unequivocal directive” in the General Plan, which makes implementation mandatory.

It appears that part of the problem is the absence of a dedicated funding source. In its 2014 Annual Progress Report on the implementation of the General Plan, the County wrote:

“Funding for Implementation Programs that have been Delayed

In order to fully implement the County’s General Plan Implementation Programs, an on-going dedicated funding stream is required. The various programs have not been fully implemented for a number of reasons, including the lack of available funding. Staff will continue to implement all outstanding Programs for which the Department is responsible as funding and staffing resources are available.” [APR for 2014, page 16.]

Program HS-G.B was identified in the report as one of the programs delayed due to lack of funding.

The failure to implement General Plan programs is a serious matter. For the 2000 General Plan, full implementation of General Plan programs would have ensured the execution of hundreds of policies, many of which served as environmental mitigation measures. Making matters worse, over the course of the past 23 years, the County has never once systematically monitored the implementation of any adopted mitigation measures, which is a violation of Public Resources Code 21081.6.

On April 1, 2019, the League of Women Voters of Fresno submitted to the County a report on the implementation of General Plan programs for calendar year 2017. The report, titled 2017 General Plan Annual Progress Report for the County of Fresno Prepared by the League of Women Voters of Fresno, detailed the County's inability to demonstrate successful implementation of programs in the 2000 General Plan. Below is a citation from that report.

“With an aim to improve transparency and accuracy, the League decided to prepare its own APR for 2017. The League found that the County's 2017 report of a 90% success rate for the implementation of General Plan programs was far from accurate. The rate of success was closer to 33%. More specifically, the League found, through very careful analyses, that the County's 2017 APR had demonstrated good implementation of 46 programs (33%), poor implementation of 44 programs (31%) and no implementation or failed implementation of 50 programs (36%).” [League APR for calendar year 2017, page 197.]

It's important to note that Program HS-G.B appears in the draft 2023 revision of the Policy Document. The program hasn't been implemented to date, so what guarantee is there that it will be implemented in the future? None, as I see it.

So, how big a problem is the failure to implement General Plan programs and mitigation measures? Well, to my way of thinking, if the Board approves a plan that has little chance of successfully being implemented, there will be some unhappy consequences.

- Plans on paper won't mirror with what's happening in the real world.
- Environmental findings will prove to be meaningless, and the environment will be poorly protected.
- General Plan goals will not be met, and the county will become less livable.
- Over time, there will be disappointment, finger-pointing and distrust all around.
- Funding will be diverted to solve problems that should never have arisen in the first place.

Well, as planner Will Kettler said back in 2015, it's certainly true that review of the General Plan has morphed over the past 18 years. My problem is that I don't quite know what it has morphed into — and this is impeding my understanding of how best to comment on the draft plan and EIR.

As you know, I attended three of the last five community workshops regarding the revision of the General Plan. That gave me an opportunity to speak with you and with other members of the County’s planning staff. I’ll close this communication by sharing with you my takeaways from those meetings.

- The revision of the Policy Document does not constitute a plan “update.” The County is amending the existing 2000 General Plan through General Plan Amendment No. 529, which enables the planning horizon for the 2000 Policy Document to be extended from 2020 to 2042.
- “Self-mitigation” remains the primary strategy for ensuring that the General Plan is fully implemented and that General Plan goals are met.
- The administrative record for both the project and for the EIR has a start date of March 21, 2018, which the day the County published its first Notice of Preparation of the EIR for the General Plan Review and Zoning Ordinance Update. (I take exception to the use of that date. To my way of thinking, the start date for the administrative record for both the project and the EIR is the day the County filed General Plan Amendment Application No. 529.

Quite frankly, the confusion I’ve experienced over many years regarding the nature of both the project and the associated environmental review has driven me to distraction. I feel that the County is culpable for every misunderstanding and that problems in communication between the County and the public were completely unnecessary and avoidable.

The thank you for the opportunity to share my experience in this matter.

Sincerely,

Response 33.1

The commenter states that they are uncertain whether the project is a General Plan Update or an amendment to the existing plan.

As described in Section 2.3, Fresno County General Plan of the DEIR, The General Plan Review, herein referred to as the proposed project, consists of the General Plan Background Report and a review of the General Plan Policy Document, including revisions to the Policy Document. The proposed project also includes a comprehensive update of the Zoning Ordinance. In addition to “proposed project,” the project is also referred to as “GPR/ZOU”.

The 2042 Fresno County General Plan will be a new policy document that is a revised version of the 2000 General Plan. As described in Section 2.3.1, Characteristics of the Proposed General Plan Review, of the DEIR, the majority of the proposed revisions to the General Plan Policy Document are to goals, policies, and implementation programs within the six existing elements of the current 2000 General Plan Policy Document, in addition to adding an Environmental Justice Element.

Response 33.2

The commenter requests clarity about whether the environmental impacts analyzed are regarding revisions made to the existing 2000 General Plan or an updated General Plan policy document. The commenter is unsure if the County will respond to comments regarding the environmental impacts of revisions to existing documents.

Please see Response 33.1 for clarification.

Response 33.3

The commenter expresses concerns about noise and the mitigation measures and significance conclusions outlined in the 2000 EIR for the 2000 General Plan and the 2023 DPEIR.

This comment has been noted. Please refer to the Master Response for the Draft EIR for additional information.

Response 33.4

The commenter expresses concerns about the County’s ability to implement General Plan programs including HS-G.B. The commenter states that the County has not adequately monitored the implementation of adopted mitigation measures pursuant to PRC 21081.6. The commenter states that confusion about the General Plan Review has led to confusion about how to best comment on the draft planning documents and DPEIR.

This comment has been noted. Please refer to the Master Response for the Draft EIR for additional information.

Response 33.5

The commenter expresses concerns about misunderstandings and communication with the County. The commenter summarizes their takeaways from community workshops: that the County is amending the existing 2000 General Plan through General Plan Amendment No. 529; that self-mitigation is the primary strategy for ensuring that the General Plan is implemented, and goals are met; and the administrative record for the DPEIR and the project have a start date of March 21, 2018, when the first Notice of Preparation was published.

This comment has been noted and will be provided to decision makers for consideration.

Good afternoon Mariah,

I certainly understand the challenges that occur with staffing changes and bringing new staff into larger project reviews. When the County determined that the DPEIR would be circulated for 60-days, which is more than the required 45-day review period for EIRs submitted through the State Clearinghouse, it was in part due to the scope of the General Plan Review/Zoning Ordinance Update and the level of public interest. Still, we have targeted to conclude this effort by the end of 2023 and so we are cognizant of timelines to meet that goal. That being the case, we are unable to extend the review period deadline.

I appreciate your understanding.

Sincerely,

Good morning Mr. Motta,

I am writing to request an extension for the deadline for providing comments on this document. CRLA has been participating extensively in this process over the last several years, but we are undergoing several staffing changes in the Fresno office and will not have any staff attorneys available to dedicate themselves to this task. If we were able to have a 30 day extension, we would be able to provide meaningful feedback. Is this possible?

Thanks,

The commenter requests an extension for the deadline to provide comments on the DPEIR.

The County responded to the commenter during the comment period and stated that while they would not be extending the deadline to provide comments during the public comment period, the Draft EIR was circulated for 60 days, which is more than the required 45-day review period for EIRs submitted through the State Clearinghouse.

2017 GENERAL PLAN ANNUAL PROGRESS REPORT

For
The County of Fresno

Prepared by The League of Women Voters of Fresno

Presented to the Fresno County Planning Commission
March 2019

COMMENTARY by the LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS OF FRESNO

March 30, 2019

State law requires that the Fresno County Planning Commission prepare an annual progress report (APR) on the implementation of the General Plan. In preparing that report, the Commission must adhere to guidelines adopted by the Office of Planning and Research (OPR), which support effective public participation and informed decision-making based on an accurate assessment of the degree to which the General Plan is being implemented in accordance with adopted goals, policies, programs and mitigation measures. Because the County's 2017 APR did not adhere to these guidelines or to directives in the General Plan itself, the League of Women Voters of Fresno (League) has drafted this 2017 APR as a way to demonstrate the critical need for complete and accurate reporting.

The County's General Plan was adopted October 3, 2000 with a new flagship Economic Development Element designed to end the county's chronic poverty and generate funding sufficient to protect the environment and provide adequate facilities and services for all county residents. But plan implementation did not go well. Fresno County remains one of the most impoverished areas in the nation, and a lack of available funding prevents the County from fully implementing the plan.

The County's first APR (2002), underscored the County's determination to implement the General Plan as written, even though a lack of funding had already caused some delays in plan implementation. According to a League study published September 1, 2016, although the 2002 APR reported good progress toward implementing 86 of 121 programs for the first six elements of the plan, by 2015, the County could only demonstrate successful implementation of 47 of those same programs.

For reasons unknown to the League, following preparation of that first APR, the County's enthusiasm for plan implementation waned. The County stopped preparing annual progress reports. But with the urging of the League and other community organizations, a decade later, in 2013, the County resumed the preparation of APRs. That said, unlike the County's 2002 APR, subsequent APRs were much less forthright in their appraisal of the County's ability to implement the plan. As a result, APRs from 2013 onward have not been of much value either to planners or the reviewing public.

In the summer of 2018, based on information provided by the County in its 2017 APR, the League recalculated the success rate for plan implementation. (For a list of program deliverables and the calculation of the success of implementation, please see Appendix E, pp. 187-197.) The League's assessment, which also evaluated implementation of the plan's Housing Element, found that the County was able to report successful implementation of only 33% of its General Plan programs. The League's finding contrasted sharply with the conclusion in the County's 2017 APR that 130 of 140 programs had been satisfactorily implemented —affording the County a 90% success rate.

What accounts for the discrepancy in the two calculations: 33% vs. 90%?

The League focused on the deliverable(s) for each program, thoroughly searching the County record for evidence to substantiate the degree to which each deliverable had been realized. As a result, the League's 2017 APR is a precise, accurate record of the County's ability to demonstrate successful implementation of the program portion of the General Plan.

In contrast, the County's 2017 APR generally sidestepped the assessment of program deliverables. In lieu of demonstrating successful plan implementation, the County's 2017 APR frequently included superfluous information that had little bearing on actual program objectives. As a result, the County's 2017 APR shrank from its principal objective, which was to accurately assess the degree to which the County had been able to implement its General Plan as written, and not as County staff might have wished it had been written.

The League took great care to make its version of the 2017 APR as complete and useful as possible. Even so, due to an inability to obtain all desired information, the League acknowledges that some areas are not as complete as wished. The League respectfully asks readers to report any errors in content.

The format of the League's 2017 APR mirrors that of the County's 2017 APR, the most significant differences being a more detailed explanation of program implementation and the inclusion of recommended amendments to the plan. Just as with the APR prepared by the County, the League has forwarded its 2017 APR to the Board of Supervisors, the Governor's Office of Planning and Research and the Department of Housing and Community Development.

Importantly, the County's General Plan is both a constitution for future development and a plan for addressing the economic and environmental hardships that have challenged Fresno County for some time. The plan embodies a set of goals that represent not the way Fresno County is but the way residents want it to be — a county with better paying jobs, equitable distribution of limited resources, sustainable agriculture, cleaner air and water, and much more. The Plan is comprehensive and specific — and county residents have entrusted its implementation to County personnel.

The League sincerely hopes its 2017 APR will motivate the County to improve future reporting.

Sincerely,

Marianne Kast, President
League of Women Voters of Fresno

COMPLETENESS OF THE COUNTY'S 2017 APR

The 2017 APR approved by the Board of Supervisors on May 8, 2018 was not prepared in complete accordance with Government Code Section 65400, nor was it prepared in complete accordance with requirements specified in the County's own General Plan Policy Document. (The County's 2017 APR contained quantities of information that were not directly applicable to or dispositive of the General Plan matters under review.)

Missing was information required by Government Code Section 65400, including...

- The “progress” made in implementing the General Plan.
- The degree to which the General Plan complied with the General Plan Guidelines published by the Governor's Office of Planning and Research (OPR).

Missing was information required by the General Plan itself, including...

- Information that satisfied the statutory requirements for a mitigation monitoring program.
- Results of the County's Groundwater Monitoring Program.

Also missing from the report was acknowledgement of a major breakdown in plan implementation, the fact that the County had been unable to implement (as prescribed) the majority of the plan's 140 programs.

In addition, the County's 2017 APR did not report on whether the County was achieving General Plan goals. Significantly, at a February 22, 2018 meeting with County planning staff, League members were informed that while the County's APRs would continue to report the “status” of the plan's many implementation programs, it would not assess the degree to which General Plan goals were being met. (For a list of the 52 goals of the General Plan, please see Appendix C, pp. 182-184.)

In point of fact, the County's 2017 APR did not contain a single comment on progress toward reaching any of the goals of the plan, nor did it discuss whether adopted General Plan mitigation measures were successfully protecting the environment.

Furthermore, the County's 2017 APR did not provide information sufficient to identify necessary course corrections for the General Plan or identify ways to improve its implementation. In short, the County's 2017 APR was far from complete, offering very little in the way of useful information for review by the Board of Supervisors and the public.

ACCURACY OF THE FRESNO COUNTY 2017 ANNUAL PROGRESS REPORT

In adopting its 2017 Annual Progress Report, the Board of Supervisors did not heed the well-known admonition to report “the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.” For example,

- (A) The report regarding the planning horizon for the General Plan was not the truth;
- (B) The report of the ongoing review of the General Plan was not the whole truth; and
- (C) The report of the status of General Plan programs was anything but the truth.

(A) Planning Horizon for the 2000 General Plan

The County’s 2017 APR misreported the planning horizon for the General Plan, incorrectly stating that the plan horizon extended to the year 2025. In truth, the planning horizon is to the year 2020. This is known from statements in the General Plan itself and from statements in the accompanying 2000 EIR.

“The timeframe for the updated General Plan will be the year 2020.” (EIR, p. 2-22)

“...the Policy Document has a planning horizon of 20 years...” (2003 Housing Elem, p. 7-10)

“During the life of the General Plan, which extends to 2020,...” (EIR, p. 4.15-9)

Although 2020 is the horizon year, four years ago, in a December 9, 2014 report to the Board of Supervisors, County planning staff stated that “the current General Plan was updated in 2000 with an estimated 25-year planning horizon. As a result, the next anticipated update should commence sometime within the next 10 years (the last General Plan Update took approximately four to five years to complete).” In other words, County staff misreported to the Board of Supervisors that the planning horizon for the General Plan was five years beyond the actual date, which may have caused the Board to think that an update of the plan was five to ten years into the future and not of immediate concern.<sup>1</sup>

Alarmed that the County was attempting to defer by five years its responsibility to timely update the General Plan, League members carefully read through the 2000 General Plan Policy Document and accompanying EIR. The year “2020” appeared in those documents nearly 300 times. The year “2025” did not appear once.

<sup>1</sup> Had the County acknowledged at its December 9, 2014 Board meeting that the planning horizon for the General Plan was the year 2020, then given the fact that “the last General Plan Update took approximately four to five years to complete,” the County would have been expected to initiate a General Plan update in either 2015 or 2016.

On October 17, 2017, the League — along with other organizations — appeared before the Board of Supervisors and requested a public hearing to, among other things, set the record straight regarding the plan’s horizon date, but rather than hold a public hearing, the County sent the League a letter dated November 14, 2017 stating that the planning horizon did, indeed, extend beyond the year 2020.

“Pursuant to the Fresno County General Plan Vision Statement, the planning horizon for the General Plan is for the period 2000 to 2020 and beyond.” (Underlining is added.)

The County’s response was disappointing, for while the vision of the General Plan does extend far into the future, its planning horizon does not. It extends to a specific year – the year 2020.

On February 22, 2018, League members met with County Planning staff to discuss what the League saw as inaccuracies in a first draft of the County’s 2017 APR, including a misstatement regarding the planning horizon for the General Plan. At that time, the County’s draft 2017 APR read as follows:

“Fresno County’s General Plan has a planning horizon of 15 to 25 years.”

The League asked the County Planning Department to acknowledge in its 2017 APR that the planning horizon for the General plan was, in fact, the year 2020. Staff agreed to make the necessary correction to the draft APR; however, when a revised draft APR was presented to the Board of Supervisors, the League discovered two erroneous sentences where there had been one before. The County left the original sentence in place and added a second erroneous statement.

“Fresno County’s General Plan has a planning horizon of 15 to 25 years. The planning horizon for the 2000 General Plan is through the year 2020 and beyond.” (Underlining is added.)

On the day the Board of Supervisors approved the County’s 2017 APR, League members asked the Board to correct the inaccuracy, but the League’s request went unanswered. Hopefully, the County’s next APR — for 2018 — will correctly identify the General Plan horizon as the year 2020.

(B) Ongoing Review of the General Plan

The County’s 2017 APR contained a very brief history of the County’s lengthy process for reviewing the General Plan. That account is reprinted below.

“In June 2006, the Board of Supervisors directed staff to initiate a Review of the General Plan Policy document along with the comprehensive update of the Zoning Ordinance. The purpose of the General Plan Review was to evaluate goals, policies and implementation programs of all the General Plan elements to reflect the current conditions, reflect Board priorities, delete policies and programs that have served their purpose or are obsolete, and add policies and programs to address new laws that affect the General Plan since its adoption in 2000.”

While the information was accurate, it was not the whole truth. Below is what the County's 2017 APR did not report.

General Plan Program LU-H.E and General Plan Policy LU-H.14 require the County to “conduct a major review of the General Plan, including General Plan Policy Document and Background Report, every five years<sup>2</sup> and revise it as deemed necessary.”

In compliance with the requirements of Program LU-H.E, on November 8, 2005, the Board of Supervisors authorized $600,000 for the review of the General Plan Background Report and Policy Document. The project was made a bit more complex with the decision to simultaneously update the Fresno County Zoning Ordinance. (These two tasks were packaged together and given the project title: Five-Year Review and Revision of the General Plan and Comprehensive Review, Revision and Amendment of the Zoning Ordinance.) But what began as a five-year review in 2005, over the length of a decade, morphed into a comprehensive update of the plan. That transformation occurred in two stages.

1. Downscale of the Five-Year Review begun in 2005

In July 2007, the Board of Supervisors expended $100,000 of the $600,000 allocated for the General Plan Review and Zoning Ordinance Update to complete an update of the Laton Community Plan. That same month, on July 22, the Board reduced the remaining $500,000 to $380,000, directing staff to concentrate on the update of the Zoning Ordinance and to “reduce funding and emphasis primarily for the General Plan Review, especially in areas of Policy Update and public review.” As part of the economizing, the County eliminated the five-year review of the General Plan Background Report.

Seven years later, on September 30, 2014, County staff recommended that the Board of Supervisors approve the scaled-down project: the revision of the General Plan Policy Document only. (The update of the Zoning Ordinance and Background Report would wait.) County staff also recommended that the Board adopt a Negative Declaration<sup>3</sup> for the abridged project. But the Board decided otherwise, directing staff to prepare an environmental impact report (EIR). (For reference, the unavoidable adverse impacts stemming from the adoption of the current 2000 General Plan are listed in Appendix D, pp. 185-186.)

<sup>2</sup> The first five-year review should have been completed in 2005 or 2006, and the County should have completed similar reviews every five years thereafter – in 2010 and 2015, but none of these reviews were realized. Instead, the review begun in 2005 is ongoing and in its 14th year.

<sup>3</sup> The adoption of a Negative Declaration would have constituted a legal finding on the part of the County that an EIR was not needed and that the approval of a revised General Plan Policy Document would not have resulted in adverse impacts to the environment.

2. Reincorporation of the Zoning Ordinance and General Plan Background Report into the Project and Transformation of the Five-Year Review into a Comprehensive Plan Update

On December 9, 2014, minus an initial study demonstrating the need for an EIR, the Board of Supervisors allocated $850,000 for the preparation of an EIR to analyze the environmental impact of approving both the five-year review of the General Plan and the update of the Zoning Ordinance. And although the Board did not reauthorize the review of the General Plan Background Report at that time, a year later, on October 13, 2015, the Board approved a scope of work that included, as well, the update of that report.

It is important to note that 18 months earlier, on July 26, 2012, County staff made it clear to the Planning Commission that the review of the General Plan was not a plan update but was, instead, a limited scope review of the 2000 General Plan.

“Staff would like to emphasize that the Five-Year Review that was undertaken in 2006 is not a comprehensive update of the County General Plan, similar to the year 2000 update. This is a limited scope project....” (Underlining is added.)

However, three years later, on October 13, 2015, the County included in the consultant agreement for the preparation of the EIR a direction to extend the planning horizon to the year 2040.<sup>4</sup> With that direction to extend the planning horizon to 2040, the County effectively initiated the transformation of the five-year review into a General Plan update.

Not only did the County’s 2017 APR fail to report the direction to extend the planning horizon to 2040, it also did not report that beginning in the summer of 2016 and continuing into January 2018, the County removed from its website all mention that the County was in the process of revising the General Plan, which meant that for 18 months, including all of 2017, there was no information available to the public regarding the County process for updating the plan. Concerned that the County was quietly turning a 5-year review of the General Plan into a comprehensive 20-year update, county residents raised the issue at a May 16, 2017 Board hearing for Item #15 — General Plan Review and Zoning Ordinance Update Status Report. At that hearing, County Counsel suggested that the Board of Supervisors clarify whether the County was conducting a five-year review or a plan update.

Counsel: “...as to whether it is a review or an update. I think that this Board needs to define with staff at this stage...That was asked but I don’t think we got the answer just yet as to exactly where the Board wants to go with that review versus update because that can change legal opinions...that our office gives in terms of some of the things that might, you know, need to be included....”

<sup>4</sup> The agreement read in part: “The Consultants will revise the...General Plan Policy Document... to reflect a revised planning horizon (e.g., 2040).” That direction is found on page 25 of the agreement. It is important to note that the October 13, 2015 staff report to the Board made no mention that the planning horizon was being revised.

The Board of Supervisors did not heed County Counsel's advice, and to this day, the Board has never declared whether the County is conducting a 5-year review or a 20-year update of the General Plan.

That said, there were indications from other sources that enabled a few members of the public to piece together the fact that the County was, indeed, updating the General Plan. Below are four such clues.

1. In response to a 2016 planning survey conducted by the Governor's Office of Planning and Research, the County reported it planned to complete an update of its General Plan in 2018.
2. The County's draft December 2017 Background Report contained this statement: "The horizon year for Fresno County's General Plan Update is 2040..."
3. In the County's 2016-17 and 2017-18 annual budgets, on pages 189 and 203, respectively, there were statements that the County's Department of Public Works and Planning would "continue to be involved in the...comprehensive review and update of the County's General Plan...."
4. And the County's 2016 Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy reported on page 63 as follows: "The 2000 General Plan Economic Development Element describes the County's goals and policies, which are in the process of being updated but not yet available for public review...The General Plan is being updated with a new Economic Development Element that is not yet ready to be incorporated into the CEDS report." (Underlining is added.)

It is disappointing that the County chose not to include in its 2017 APR information that during 2017 (at the time information about the review of the General Plan was removed from the County website) the County worked to transform a decade-long five-year review of the General Plan into a plan update to the year 2040 without informing residents it was doing so and without giving residents an opportunity to provide input regarding planning challenges and community needs for the next twenty years — from 2020 to 2040.

(C) Implementation of General Plan Programs

The County's 2017 APR is awash with information that does not address the degree to which the County was able to successfully implement General Plan programs during 2017. In this respect, the APR is misleading. A good illustration of this is the County's report on the very first program in the General Plan. Program ED-A.A required the County to create a staff position to facilitate implementation of the County's Economic Development Strategy. Program ED-A.A reads as follows:

"The County shall create an economic development staff position(s) in the County Administrative Office and the Planning & Resource Management Department to serve as liaison/facilitator and support for the economic development implementation program and the Action Team."

In 2017, that staff position did not exist, and the County’s 2017 APR should have reported that fact. Instead, the APR reported in full as follows:

“As part of the General Plan Review process, policies and programs of the Economic Development Element are being reviewed to determine which policies still serve a purpose and should be kept and which ones have served their purpose or are no longer relevant and should be deleted or revised. With respect to this Program, a new policy and program are proposed for development of an Economic Development Action Team consisting of members of the Board of Supervisors, County staff and city representatives.”

The County’s 2017 APR did not address the purpose of Program ED-A.A — the creation of an economic development staff position. Instead, the APR focused on the creation of an Economic Development Action Team (EDAT) — and even that information was inaccurate. The obligation to create an EDAT already existed in the General Plan as a separate requirement under a different program — Program ED-A.B. Importantly, the County’s APR did not report that on September 12, 2017, the Board of Supervisors created an action team, albeit in violation of specifications outlined in General Plan Policy ED-A.3, which required the County to include as members of that team the County’s Agricultural Commissioner and regional organizations engaged in various facets of economic development in the county.

Because this type of misreporting was widespread in the County’s 2017 APR, the League decided to draft its own APR for 2017 — one that would be more informative.<sup>5</sup> For comparative purposes, shown below in blue is the League’s 2017 assessment of the implementation of Program ED-A.A. (See pages 26 and 27 of the League’s APR for a complete report on the implementation of this program.)

Reprint from the League’s 2017 APR — Implementation of Program ED-A.A

“The County does not currently have a liaison/facilitator staff position, but it did some years ago. According to the County’s first APR (dated May 2003), on April 23, 2002, the Board of Supervisors ‘created the position of Assistant County Administrative Officer for Economic Development.’ A few years later, the Board of Supervisors reversed itself and eliminated the position.

The County’s 2015 and 2016 APRs stated that in 2011 the County entered into a contractual arrangement with the Economic Development Corporation (EDC) ‘for implementation of the Economic Development Element programs.’ (That contract is renewed annually.)

<sup>5</sup> For the sake of clarity, the League incorporated into its 2017 APR information from each of the County’s five APRs (for 2002, 2013/2014, 2015, 2016 and 2017). The League’s 2017 APR is contained in Appendices A and B of this document. Its full report on the implementation of Program ED-A.A is found on pages 26 and 27.

The County's 2017 APR stated that a 'new policy and program' were being proposed for an Economic Development Action Team. (That proposal was not directly applicable to the program under review. It was, however, applicable to Program ED-A.B.)

On March 28, 2017, the Board of Supervisors directed County staff to evaluate the possibility of reestablishing the position of economic development liaison/facilitator. (The County's 2017 APR provided no evidence that staff followed through on that directive.)

The County has proposed (through its December 2017 draft of the Policy Document) to amend Program ED-A.A to read that the County will allocate resources toward economic development rather than establish a staff position to serve as liaison/facilitator and support for the County's economic development programs and Economic Development Action Team.

Conclusion: Currently, as required by Program ED-A.A, the County does not have a staff position to serve as liaison/facilitator and support for the County's economic development programs and Economic Development Action Team.

Evidence of the successful implementation of Program ED-A.A during 2017: None."

Hopefully, the County's next APR — for calendar year 2018 — will focus directly on program implementation. The County should include all relevant information in its APR — even if that information shows implementation of the plan in less than favorable light. Otherwise, the purpose of the APR will not be realized. According to the Governor's Office of Planning and Research, the APR should "provide enough information to allow local legislative bodies to assess how the general plan is being implemented" and "to identify necessary course adjustments or modifications to the general plan as means to improve local implementation." (General Plan Guidelines, 2017, p. 259).

THE NEED TO ASSESS PROGRESS TOWARD ACHIEVING GENERAL PLAN GOALS

The County does not use annual progress reports (APRs) to assess the achievement of General Plan goals. It is the County's position that such analysis is not required because it is not mandated by statute or by the General Plan itself. It's important to note, however, that this limitation is self-imposed. State law does not preclude the County from including an analysis of the achievement of General Plan goals — and neither does General Plan Program LU-H.D (the General Plan program that codifies the statutory mandate to prepare annual progress reports).

For the reasons presented below, the League has come to the conclusion that the County's APRs must assess progress toward achieving General Plan goals. This conclusion is based on a review of state law, the structure and content of the General Plan, as well as the positions taken by the Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors following adoption of the plan in 2000.

California Government Code 65400 stipulates that once an agency has adopted a general plan, it must provide to the state an annual report on progress made toward implementing that plan. Admittedly, the statute does not specifically state that an APR must assess progress toward achieving general plan goals. Below is the relevant portion of that code.

California Government Code 65400

(a) After the legislative body has adopted all or part of a general plan, the planning agency shall do...the following:

(2) Provide by April 1 of each year an annual report to the legislative body, the Office of Planning and Research, and the Department of Housing and Community Development that includes all of the following:

(A) The status of the plan and progress in its implementation. (Underlining is added.)

Closer to home, General Plan Program LU-H.D states that in preparing APRs the County will focus principally on actions taken to implement General Plan programs. The inclusion of the word “principally” leaves room for the County to consider other aspects of the implementation of the General Plan, including the degree to which policies are being executed and the extent to which goals are being met. The opening sentence of Program LU-H.D reads as follows.

Program LU-H.D

“The Planning Commission shall review the General Plan annually, focusing principally on actions undertaken in the previous year to carry out the implementation programs of the plan.” (Underlining is added.)

Although the County’s first APR (2002) focused primarily on the County’s efforts to implement General Plan programs, the APR also stated that through the use of an “indicators” program subsequent APRs would assess the achievement of General Plan goals.<sup>6</sup> On the following page are citations from pages III-1 and V-1 of the 2002 APR, which state clearly the county’s strategy for monitoring the achievement of General Plan goals.

<sup>6</sup> In 2010, as part of the first proposed draft of the five-year revision of the General Plan Policy Document, the County recommended adding new Program LU-H.C for an indicators program; however, with the release of the sixth draft in December 2017, that program was lined out. Below is a copy of what the County had proposed.

Proposed Program LU-H.C from the August 2010 Draft Revision of the General Plan — now lined out.

The County shall develop an Indicators Program that monitors the success of the County in achieving the goals of the General Plan. The County shall conduct an annual review of the Indicators Program and report the findings to the Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors. (Underlining is added.)

“Progress toward attainment of the General Plan goals can be measured in various ways including formal actions on applications, completion of implementation programs, and through ‘indicators.’ Indicators can serve as a tool with which to evaluate or assess progress toward attainment of the goals of the General Plan. Indicators can suggest that the desired progress is occurring or being made, or they may indicate that additional or more definitive action is needed to bolster, accelerate or redirect an activity to show the desired results...It is intended that the set of indicators will be keyed to the vision statement and the major themes for purposes of assessing overall progress toward attainment of the individual goals of the various elements of the general plan....

The County is making progress in the implementation of the General Plan as adopted in October 2000....Although it is too early to draw conclusions from the indicators provided in Section III, it is expected that over a period of time the indicators can be used to determine the effectiveness of implementation and/or identify the need to amend the General Plan or bolster programs to achieve the goals of the plan. It is also anticipated that additional indicators for other themes of the General Plan will be developed for future annual reports.”

(Underlining is added.)

As demonstrated above, although state law and General Plan Program LU-H.D do not specifically mention the need to assess progress toward achieving General Plan goals, the County’s 2002 APR clearly stated that subsequent APRs would assess progress toward achieving plan goals through the use of an indicators program. On August 26, 2003, the Board of Supervisors affirmed the need to assess General Plan goals by directing staff to develop an indicators program “for use on a regular basis.”

But that is where the focus on General Plan goals ended. The County did not prepare an APR for 2003, nor did it prepare any APRs for the next ten years. When the preparation of APRs was resumed in 2013, the APRs made no mention of an indicators program, nor did they assess whether the County was achieving General Plan goals.

Of note, despite the County’s choice not to evaluate the achievement of General Plan goals, two General Plan programs (printed below) require the County to do just that — the first being the five-year evaluation of economic goals and the second an annual assessment of agricultural goals. The County’s APRs have not provided evidence sufficient to show that these two programs are being implemented.

Program ED-A.C

“The County shall retain an independent and qualified institution to conduct an evaluation at least every five (5) years of success in achieving the goals and targets of the Economic Development Strategy.” (Underlining is added.)

Program LU-A.D

“The County shall periodically review agricultural land preservation programs and assess their effectiveness in furthering the County's agricultural goals and policies.” (Underlining is added.)

In a related matter, it's important to note that certain sections of the General Plan Policy Document are not supported by implementation programs. It stands to reason, therefore, that because the County limits its plan review to program implementation, some portions of the General Plan escape evaluation.

Listed below are the six sections of the 2000 Policy Document — each with its own General Plan goal — that are not supported by specific implementation programs.

|-----------------------------------------|------------------------|
| ED-E Non-Agricultural Rural Development | PF-J Utilities         |
| TR-C Transportation Systems Management  | OS-C Mineral Resources |
| TR-F Air Transportation                 | OS-K Scenic Resources  |

According to the December 2017 draft revision of the General Plan, the County proposes to eliminate existing implementation programs for seven additional sections.

|                                                  |                                |
|--------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| LU-D Westside Freeway Corridor                   | OS-E Fish and Wildlife Habitat |
| PF-A General Public Facilities and Services      | OS-I Recreational Trails       |
| PF-B Funding (of public facilities and services) | PF-G Law Enforcement           |
|                                                  | HS-B Fire Hazards              |

Should the Board of Supervisors adopt the draft December 2017 revision of the Policy Document as drafted, future APRs may fail to assess 25% of the General Plan Policy Document in that 13 of the 52 sections of the plan would not be supported by implementation programs.

The County's 2018 APR must assess progress toward implementing every section of the General Plan Policy Document. It must evaluate, as well, the County's ability to achieve the goals of the plan.

CONCLUSION

Developed in the late 1990s with input from a broad range of community interests, the Fresno County 2000 General Plan was cutting edge for its time — a blueprint for future development that promised to end the county's chronic poverty, protect the environment and provide adequate facilities and services for all county residents. But the plan was only as good as the County's ability to implement it. Today we realize that the County has had considerable difficulty implementing the plan as written and that the County's annual progress reports misrepresent that fact.

It is with a sincere interest in the future well-being of the county and its residents that the League of Women Voters of Fresno presents this 2017 APR to the Fresno County Planning Commission. Hopefully, this APR will serve as a catalyst for improving the County's annual reporting. Enhanced reporting will provide the information needed to improve plan implementation, and it will help ensure that General Plan goals are achieved.

PURPOSE OF THE ANNUAL PROGRESS REPORT

Government Code Section 65400 mandates that every county prepare an annual report on the implementation of its general plan and submit it to its legislative body, to the Governor's Office of Planning and Research (OPR) and to the Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) by April 1 of each year.

The purpose of the APR is to provide enough information for decision makers to assess how well the general plan was implemented during the previous 12 months. More specifically, the APR explains how land use decisions relate to adopted goals, policies, and implementation programs. The APR should provide enough information to enable the legislative body (Board of Supervisors) to identify necessary course adjustments or modifications to the plan to improve its implementation.

FORM AND CONTENT – STATE GUIDELINES AND REQUIREMENTS

OPR has prepared General Plan Guidelines to assist in the preparation of an annual progress report. These guidelines allow maximum flexibility in the form and content of the report. The report need not incorporate all of the components recommended by OPR, and it need not be an elaborate and time-consuming task. The APR may make use of existing documents that contain information pertinent to general plan reporting, such as performance reports and budget reports, as long as they specifically address plan implementation. This approach to reporting enables general plan implementation to be discussed in the broader context of a jurisdiction's overall programs and activities, including economic development and other matters of local concern.

While each county must determine for itself the information that is most important to include in its APR, OPR nonetheless recommends that an APR contain the following components:

1. An introduction.
2. A table of contents.
3. The date the APR was accepted by the local legislative body.
4. Specific implementation measures associated with individual elements of the general plan.
5. Housing element reporting as required by Government Code Sections 65583 - 65584 and HCD's housing element guidelines. *
6. The degree to which the general plan complies with OPR's General Plan Guidelines. *
7. The date of the last update to the general plan. *
8. Priorities for land use decision-making as established by the local legislative body.
9. Goals, policies, objectives or standards that were added, deleted or amended.
10. Lists of the following activities with brief comments on how each advanced the implementation of the general plan:
  - a) Planning initiated (e.g., master plans, specific plans, master environmental assessments).
  - b) General plan amendments.
  - c) Major development applications.

* These components are mandated by Government Code Section 65400 (2).

Most importantly, as directed by the State Legislature, the APR must address the status of the General Plan and progress toward its implementation.

Although the word “status” is not defined in the statute, the term most certainly refers to the degree to which a general plan remains an effective planning tool, given that laws, environmental conditions and social mores change over time. And although the term “progress” is also undefined in the Government Code, the word unquestionably refers to the degree to which a jurisdiction has been able to successfully implement general plan programs and policies and to make progress toward achieving the goals of the plan.

The OPR guidelines note that if a jurisdiction has the resources, it may want to make its APR a more comprehensive tool for undertaking planning and development activities. As recommended by OPR, a jurisdiction can do this by incorporating the following components into its APR:

1. Reviewing and reporting on...
  - a) Interagency or intergovernmental coordination efforts and partnerships.
  - b) The implementation of mitigation measures from the general plan final EIR.
  - c) Equity planning and impacts on particular ethnic or socioeconomic population groups.
2. Summarizing efforts to...
  - a) Promote infill development and redevelopment in underserved locales.
  - b) Protect environmental and agricultural resources, as well as other natural resources.
  - c) Encourage efficient development patterns.
3. Describing strategies for...
  - a) Economic development (e.g., approaches to job creation and tax revenue enhancement).
  - b) Monitoring growth (e.g., data on land use development, services and infrastructure).
4. Other actions:
  - a) Outline department goals, activities and responsibilities related to land use planning.
  - b) Perform a regional assessment of population changes, housing needs, job generation, etc.
  - c) Summarize comments on general plan implementation.
  - d) Identify and monitor methods to encourage public involvement in planning activities.
  - e) Review and summarize the administration of grant funding for land use planning activities.
  - f) Provide technological reviews, such as those for websites and geographic information systems).

FORM AND CONTENT – FRESNO COUNTY REQUIREMENTS

The Fresno County General Plan Policy Document also prescribes the contents of an APR. According to the General Plan, at a minimum, every Fresno County APR must include...

- A review of the actions undertaken to implement General Plan programs.
- Information that satisfies the statutory requirements for a mitigation monitoring program.
- Information from the County’s Groundwater Monitoring Program.
- An inventory of lot size exceptions granted for agricultural lands and rangelands.
- Information on the County’s Road Improvement Program.

OVERVIEW OF THE 2000 GENERAL PLAN

The 2000 General Plan was adopted October 3, 2000. It has a planning horizon of 20 years.

There are three components to the General Plan. The most familiar of these components is the Policy Document, which, for Fresno County, consists of the following seven elements:

- Economic Development Element
- Open Space and Conservation Element
- Agriculture and Land Use Element
- Health and Safety Element
- Transportation and Circulation Element
- Housing Element
- Public Facilities and Services Element

These seven elements contain a total of 52 goals. Examples of such goals include enhanced farmland preservation, job creation, wetlands protection and affordable housing. (The goals of the General Plan are listed in Appendix C, pp. 182-184.)

To achieve these goals, the plan includes a large number of policies. To help execute these policies, the plan contains a set of implementation programs. At present, the General Plan Policy Document contains 639 policies and 140 implementation programs. Almost half of the policies are environmental mitigation measures. (Appendix D, pp. 185 – 186, lists the General Plan policies that serve as environmental mitigation measures.) The entire set of programs and the vast majority of the policies constitute an obligatory work plan. Nearly every policy and program contains the word shall, which is defined in the General Plan as an “unequivocal directive.”

The second component of the General Plan is a 778-page Background Report, which describes the physical features, economic characteristics and social conditions that were in existence just prior to the adoption of the plan in 2000.

And the third component is a collection of over 40 land use plans that are applicable to certain areas of the county, three examples being the Kings River Regional Plan, the Easton Unincorporated Community Plan and the Quail Lake Estates Specific Plan.

What sets the 2000 General Plan apart from its predecessor (the County’s 1976 General Plan) is the inclusion of a new Economic Development Element. This new element, which grew out of an Economic Development Strategy developed in 1999, is the mainspring of the plan.

While the General Plan Policy Document itself does not contain a vision statement, the accompanying Economic Development Strategy most certainly does. That vision, paraphrased below, expresses the principal mission of the 2000 General Plan.

By 2020, Fresno County shall become a center for a wide variety of high value-added agricultural farming operations. This, along with job growth in emerging industrial clusters, will provide Fresno County residents with greater employment opportunities. A higher rate of employment in better paying jobs will increase consumer spending and decrease the cost of services for the unemployed. The resultant increase in revenues for the public sector and the mitigation of negative impacts associated with economic growth will result in an impressive quality of life for all county residents.

The General Plan embraces these eleven themes:

- Agricultural Land Protection
- Economic Development
- Enhanced Quality of Life
- Resource Protection
- Service Efficiency
- Efficient and Functional Land Use Patterns
- Growth Accommodation
- Affordable Housing
- Health and Safety Protection
- Urban-Centered Growth
- Recreational Development

A LOOK AT THE 2000 ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT ELEMENT

The Economic Development Element, which was added to the General Plan in 2000, took four years to create.

In late 1996, the Board of Supervisors initiated a comprehensive update of the General Plan. The first step in that process was the May 1997 Board acceptance of a draft General Plan Background Report, which described physical characteristics and social and economic conditions in the county. Two months later, the Board released the results of a survey conducted by U.C. Davis entitled Fresno County and the Future: Residents' Views of Growth, Resources and Jobs. The survey reported that the top issues for Fresno County residents were job creation and economic development. That 1997 survey was followed in 1998 by a County report entitled Economic & Growth Scenarios: Perspectives on the Year 2020. Based on that report, the Board directed that the update of the General Plan should promote (1) a shift in agricultural production to higher value crops, (2) an increase in value-added agricultural industries and (3) the diversification of the economy to create more non-agricultural jobs.

In 1998, the County published a technical report entitled Fiscal and Financial Analysis, which examined the costs and benefits associated with development under the existing 1976 General Plan and under the proposed update of the plan.

Fresno County stipulated in its RFP (request for proposals) for the update of the General Plan that the consultant team begin the update process by preparing a General Plan Economic Development Strategy to guide the revision of the General Plan. The adopted Strategy envisioned that by the year 2020 Fresno County would be a center for a wide variety of high value-added agricultural firms in a dynamic and globally-oriented economy with average incomes in line with other regions of the state.

This Economic Development Strategy was the prototype for the County's new 2000 Economic Development Element. In fact, nearly every policy in the Economic Development Element was taken directly from the County's Economic Development Strategy. In like manner, the three goals of the Economic Development Element mirrored those in the Strategy document: (1) increased job creation, (2) diversification of the county's economic base, and (3) improved labor force preparedness. Not surprisingly, the accompanying 2000 EIR focused on changes to the environment that were likely to result from the implementation of the County's new Economic Development Strategy.

The coordination of countywide economic development was to be the responsibility of an Economic Development Action Team composed of County departments and regional organizations engaged in various facets of economic development within the county. However, on April 23, 2002, and in conflict with directives in General Plan Policy ED-A.3, the Board appointed itself as the action team to oversee economic development. That decision was flawed, especially since subsequent Boards did not function as an economic development action team.

Over time the Board's enthusiasm for supervising economic development began to wane. According to the County's APRs for calendar years 2013 through 2016, beginning in 2011, the County contracted annually with the Economic Development Corporation (EDC) — a 501(c)(6) private nonprofit membership corporation — to implement the policies and programs of the County's Economic Development Element. That said, in a March 2014 letter to the League of Women Voters of Fresno, the EDC stated that it was "not directly involved in the economic development element of the County's General Plan." Even so, the County's 2017 contract with the EDC stated that the EDC, in coordination with the County, was "also responsible for implementing policies and programs of the Economic Development Element." These seemingly contradictory statements suggest the possibility of a misunderstanding with regard to these shared responsibilities, and it may be that neither party is taking the steps needed to fully implement the County's Economic Development Element.

A LOOK AT THE 2015-2023 HOUSING ELEMENT

Although state law allows local governments to decide when to update their respective general plans, Government Code Section 65580 – 65589 requires that housing elements be updated every eight years. Fresno County’s current Housing Element, adopted March 15, 2016, covers the planning period of December 31, 2015 through December 31, 2023. Although the County’s Housing Element need not be updated until 2023, because state law requires that general plan elements be consistent with one another, the Housing Element must be reviewed for conformity with the rest of the General Plan whenever other elements of the plan are updated. (It should be noted that the County did not prepare an environmental impact report for the 2015-2023 Housing Element.)

Cities and counties typically work independently to develop their own housing elements; however, the development of the County’s 2015-2023 Housing Element was an interagency project spearheaded by the Fresno Council of Governments (FCOG). The participating agencies were the County of Fresno and these twelve cities: Clovis, Coalinga, Fowler, Huron, Kerman, Kingsburg, Mendota, Parlier, Reedley, San Joaquin, Sanger, and Selma. Development of the 2015-2023 Housing Element was coordinated to save costs and to provide an opportunity for local governments to cooperatively address countywide housing needs. As a result, the County’s 2015-2023 Housing Element is labeled “multi-jurisdictional.”

Each county must accommodate its fair share of regional housing needs, as determined through a process called a Regional Housing Needs Allocation. The California Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) has identified the total housing needs for the Fresno region, and FCOG has determined that the housing allocation for unincorporated Fresno County for 2015 through 2023 is an additional 2,722 units, 987 of which (36%) must accommodate families with extremely low, very low and low incomes.

The 2015-2023 Housing Element contains 6 goals and 35 policies that are shared by the County and the 12 cities. The goals address these needs:

- New housing.
- Affordable housing.
- Neighborhood conservation.
- Special-needs housing.
- Fair and equal housing opportunities.
- Energy conservation and sustainable development.

Appendix 2 of the County’s 2015-2023 Housing Element contains 19 programs and 63 objectives that are specific to the unincorporated areas of Fresno County. (It should be noted that despite subject headings in Appendix 2 indicating that each of the 63 objectives includes a time frame for implementation, not all do. And, unlike the situation with the other six elements in the County’s General Plan, the Housing Element does not use the word “shall” to indicate that program implementation is obligatory.)

Government Code Section 65400 mandates that counties include in their annual general plan progress reports a special report on the implementation of their housing elements. (The housing report for Fresno County is included as Appendix B beginning on page 137.) Each year the County must complete several forms provided by the HCD, which summarize...

- Construction of very-low-, low- and mixed-income multifamily projects.
- Construction of above-moderate income units.
- Rehabilitation and preservation of existing housing units.
- Progress made in meeting regional housing needs.
- Implementation of the County’s housing programs.

WORK REQUIRED BY THE GENERAL PLAN

The 2000 General Plan Policy Document is a massive work plan describing hundreds of tasks to be undertaken primarily by the Department of Public Works and Planning, the Board of Supervisors and the County Administrative Office.

Approximately 170 different verbs (e.g., access, acquire, adopt) describe the actions needed to implement the 140 programs and 639 policies in the General Plan Policy Document. These action words can be grouped into 12 work categories.

As illustrated below, 26% of the 140 General Plan programs and 9% of the 639 General Plan policies all require the County to perform tasks encompassing some level of evaluation. The action verbs in this category include words such as these:

|                    |                 |                |                   |                 |                  |
|--------------------|-----------------|----------------|-------------------|-----------------|------------------|
| amend       | analyze  | assess  | compare    | compile  | determine |
| discuss     | evaluate | examine | explore    | identify | inventory |
| investigate | monitor  | plan    | prioritize | review   | revise    |

The modal verbs shall, should and may play an important role in the implementation of the General Plan. The word shall is defined in the Policy Document as an “unequivocal directive,” and the word should is defined as a less rigid directive that must be honored in the absence of countervailing considerations. The word may is not defined.

The word shall is written into every General Plan program (excepting those in the Housing Element), making implementation of these programs mandatory. Over 90% of General Plan policies also contain the word shall, making them mandatory as well. (Of note is the fact that while the County’s APRs routinely assess the implementation of General Plan programs, they have never analyzed the implementation of the policy side of the work plan – shown in red above.)

IMPLEMENTATION OF THE GENERAL PLAN IN 2017

ACTIVITY OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

The information below was taken from the minutes of the 28 Board meetings held in 2017.

Importantly, at no time in 2017 did the Board discuss any specific General Plan goals, nor did it hold hearings on the implementation of any specific General Plan policies or programs. That said, the Board did discuss a couple of matters related to General Plan policies, concluding that there was a need to review policies pertaining to the siting of solar facilities and flood control basins.

General Plan Amendments

The Board amended the General Plan once during 2017. General Plan Amendment 548 changed the designation of a half-acre parcel from Agriculture to Industrial.

Modifications to Zoning

The Board approved four Amendment Applications that modified zoning.

| Application Number         | Modification of Zone Districts | Acreage Affected |
|----------------------------|--------------------------------|------------------|
| Amendment Application 3819 | Uses Allowed in M-3(c)         | 19 acres         |
| Amendment Application 3813 | AL-20 to M-1(c)                | 5 acres          |
| Amendment Application 3808 | AL-20 to M-3(c)                | 22 acres         |
| Amendment Application 3822 | AL-20 to M-1(c)                | 7 acres   |
|                            | Total:                         | 53 acres         |

(Acreage figures are rounded to the nearest whole unit.)

Parcel Splits

The Board heard four appeals of Planning Commission decisions denying parcel splits on acreage zoned Exclusive Agriculture (AE-20). In each case, the Board overturned the Planning Commission decision and granted the variance. The approvals created 4 new parcels.

| Application Number | New Parcels |             | Original Parcel |
|--------------------|-------------|-------------|-----------------|
| Variance 4013      | 2.00 acres  | 11.82 acres | 13.82 acres     |

Discussion of the Ongoing Review / Revision of the General Plan

On May 16, 2017, County staff presented a status report to the Board regarding the ongoing review of the General Plan. As a result of that hearing, the Board gave direction to staff as follows: keep current policies regarding the Rural and Foothill Rural Residential designations, eliminate the Planned Urban Village designation, keep current policies regarding homesite parcels and modify Goal ED-A, Goal LU-D and the theme for economic development.

Actions in Conflict with the General Plan

Four Board decisions in 2017 conflicted with policies and programs in the General Plan. The Board had the option to avoid the conflict by amending the General Plan but did not do so. Below is a brief description of those four decisions along with the policies with which the Board decisions conflicted.

| Date                  | Board Decision                                           | Conflicted with... |
|-----------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|
| 06-06-17 <sup>1</sup> | Approval of the 2016 Annual Progress Report              | Policy OS-A.9      |
| 09-12-17 <sup>2</sup> | Structure of the Economic Development Action Team (EDAT) | Policy ED-A.3      |
| 10-31-17 <sup>3</sup> | Dissolution of the Water Advisory Committee              | Policy OS-A.5      |

Update of Documents

In 2017, the Board revised/updated these documents, all of which were either directly or indirectly related to the implementation of the General Plan:

| Date     | Document                                                                               |
|----------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 05-02-17 | 2016 Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy                                       |
| 08-08-17 | 2017-2022 Road Improvement Program                                                     |
| 09-18-17 | MOU with the City of Reedley that expanded the city's sphere of influence by 120 acres |
| 12-12-17 | Annual Report of Transportation Mitigation Fee Activity                                |

Board Retreat

In October 2017, the Board held a two-day retreat at Harris Ranch (northeast of the city of Coalinga) to discuss the vision, mission, guiding principles and goals of the County. (These matters were not directly related to the implementation of the General Plan. They were related instead to the administration of county government.) As a result of the retreat, the Board adopted the following maxims:

Administrative Vision: Working together for a quality of life for all

Administrative Mission: To provide excellent public services to our diverse community

Joint Meeting of the Board of Supervisors and Fresno City Council

On March 7, 2017, the Board approved a Working Group consisting of members of the Board of Supervisors, members of the Fresno City Council plus staff members from both agencies. The deliberations of the Working Group led to a joint meeting of the Board of Supervisors and the Fresno City Council on May 30, 2017, at which time the two bodies discussed emergency coordination, animal control and the cultivation and sale of marijuana.

Issues Raised by the Public

In 2017, the Board heard from 21 people who addressed the Board under a standing agenda item entitled Public Presentations. That portion of each Board meeting was reserved for individuals who wished to bring to the attention of the Board matters not calendared on agendas. Because the minutes of Board meetings did not record the issues raised by these individuals, their concerns are recorded here. The public addressed the implementation of the General Plan on February 28 and October 17.

| Date                        | Item of Interest Raised by the Public                                      |

| 10-19-17                    | Code enforcement                                                           |

<sup>1</sup> On February 28, 2017, a member of the League of Women Voters of Fresno addressed the Board of Supervisors, thanking the County for helping to host a workshop on the draft update of the General Plan Guidelines prepared by the Governor's Office of Planning and Research.

<sup>2</sup> The League of Women Voters of Fresno, the Leadership Counsel for Justice and Accountability, and California Rural Legal Assistance requested that the Board schedule a public hearing to provide answers to a number of questions pertaining to the ongoing review and revision of the General Plan. The County chose not to hold the requested hearing, opting instead to provide answers by letter (sent November 14, 2017). Below is a list of some of the questions raised by the public on October 17, 2017 together with a brief summary of the County's written responses (brown type).

1. Is the year 2020 or the year 2025 the planning horizon for the current General Plan?
The planning horizon extends beyond 2020.
2. Will 2040 be the planning horizon for the revised General Plan?
Per consultant contract #15-1280, the planning horizon is potentially 2040.
3. Is the County in the process of updating the General Plan?
The term "update" has no legally defined meaning.
4. Is there a record showing that environmental self-mitigation is functioning properly?
There is no single document, but all County environmental assessments can be reviewed.
5. Will the scope of work for the revision of the plan be revised to meet new OPR Guidelines?
The scope of work is unchanged, except for an adjustment to address Senate Bill 1000.

The public also inquired as to the County's plan for public participation in the review of the draft General Plan documents. The County did not respond either orally or in written form to this inquiry.

ACTIVITY OF THE PLANNING COMMISSION

The information below was taken from the minutes of the 18 Planning Commission meetings held in 2017. Like the Board of Supervisors, during 2017, the Planning Commission did not discuss any specific General Plan goals, nor did it hold hearings on the implementation of any specific General Plan policies or programs.

General Plan Amendments

The Planning Commission recommended approval of General Plan Amendment 548, which changed the designation of a half-acre parcel from Agriculture to Industrial. The amendment was subsequently approved by the Board of Supervisors.

Modifications to Zoning

The Planning Commission recommended Board approval of five Amendment Applications that modified zoning. Four of the five applications are listed on page 8 under “Activity of the Board of Supervisors.” The fifth application, below, was approved by the Board on February 6, 2018.

| Application Number         | Modification of Zone Districts | Acreage Affected |
|----------------------------|--------------------------------|------------------|

Parcel Splits

In addition to the four parcel splits approved by the Board on appeal of the Planning Commission’s denial of the same, the Planning Commission approved these seven parcel splits on acreage zoned Exclusive Agriculture (AE-20). The approvals created eight new parcels.

| Application Number | New Parcels                         | Original Parcel |
|--------------------|-------------------------------------|-----------------|
| Variance 3987      | 2.00 acres, 2.50 acres, 14.26 acres | 18.76 acres     |
| Variance 4001      | 2.39 acres      2.39 acres          | 4.78 acres      |
| Variance 4004      | 2.85 acres      54.31 acres         | 57.16 acres     |
| Variance 4014      | 5.00 acres      14.68 acres         | 19.68 acres     |
| Variance 4015      | 8.66 acres      8.67 acres          | 17.24 acres *   |
| Variance 4027      | 2.50 acres      34.67 acres         | 37.17 acres     |
| Variance 4033      | 1.72 acres      2.50 acres          | 4.22 acres      |

* It is acknowledged that 8.66 acres plus 8.67 acres does not total 17.24 acres.

Issues Raised by the Public

Only once during 2017 did members of the public address the Planning Commission on matters not on Commission agendas. On November 9, 2017, under Public Presentations, the President of the League of Women Voters of Fresno reminded the Commission that the County’s previous Annual Progress Report on the implementation of the General Plan did not meet state and local standards. She informed the Planning Commission that the League hoped the County’s 2017 APR, due April 1, 2018, would meet the state and local requirements delineated on pages 2 and 3 of this report.

Approval of the Annual Progress Report (APR) for Calendar Year 2016

On March 30, 2017, the Planning Commission held a hearing to review and recommend approval of the County's APR for calendar year 2016.

The day prior to the hearing, the League of Women Voters of Fresno submitted to the Planning Commission a letter, along with a lengthy study from September 2016, asserting that the draft 2016 APR was incomplete. The letter stated, for example, that the County's 2016 APR did not include information from the County's Groundwater Management Program as required by Program OS-A.C and Policy OS.A.9.

At that hearing, some Planning Commissioners expressed displeasure with the large volume of reading material that had been furnished to them just hours before the hearing. The meeting ended without a recommendation from the Planning Commission. On April 13, 2017, the Planning Commission resumed its discussion of the APR, and although the staff report for that second hearing acknowledged that the APR was not in compliance with directives in Program OS-A.C and Policy OS-C.9, the Planning Commission recommended approval of the APR.

On June 26, 2017, the Board of Supervisors approved the 2016 APR recommended by the Planning Commission. In a report to the Board of Supervisors that day, County staff acknowledged that although some General Plan programs were not being implemented as written, their implementation was nonetheless effective. The County did not identify the programs that were not being implemented as written.

ACTIVITY OF THE PLANNING DEPARTMENT

Other than the Annual Progress Report for 2016, County planning staff did not prepare any reports during 2017 regarding the implementation of the General Plan nor did it engage in any community outreach regarding the pending revision of the plan.

During all of 2017, the County's General Plan website did not display any information related to the ongoing review and revision of the General Plan. In the summer of 2016, the County removed such information from its website. Eighteen months later, in January 2018, the information was restored to the County website with the simultaneous release of the December 2017 draft revision of the General Plan Policy Document (6th proposed revision), December 2017 draft update of the General Plan Background Report and the December 2017 draft update of the Zoning Ordinance.

The public was then afforded a 69-day comment period. The 295-page draft Policy Document was redlined to show changes to text. The draft Background Report and draft Zoning Ordinance, which totaled 1,138 pages, were not redlined, as they were completely new documents.

Below are copies of the front pieces of the six versions of the draft revision of the General Plan Policy Document that appeared on the County's website beginning in 2010. The December 2017 version of the draft revision is available on the Fresno County website at this time.

MONITORING SYSTEMS

It's imperative that the County routinely monitor implementation of the General Plan. To that end, the state and the County have defined three mechanisms for doing that: (1) annual progress reports, (2) five-year reviews, and (3) environmental mitigation monitoring.

Please note: The bolded text within quotations and citations on pages 13 through 17 is used to highlight information and is not part of any original text.

ANNUAL PROGRESS REPORTS (APRs)

(A State and County Requirement)

Although state law and the County's General Plan both require annual monitoring of the implementation of the General Plan, there is some disparity between public expectation and County practice. And even though the 2000 General Plan does not contain a statement committing the County to routinely monitor the plan's implementation, the introduction to Part 3 of the County's 2017 draft revised General Plan Policy Document does. That paragraph is reprinted below in its entirety.

"The County is committed to annually reviewing its progress in implementing the goals and policies of the General Plan. Since many of the factors and issues that the General Plan addresses change from year-to-year, an annual review and reporting of implementation will help ensure the County is moving forward to achieve the Plan's vision. This review will report on the status of each specific implementation program in the General Plan and take into account the availability of new implementation tools, changes in funding sources, and feedback from Plan monitoring activities."

The paragraph above correctly states that the County annually reports the status of each General Plan program. The paragraph also embellishes somewhat, for the County's APRs do not report on "its progress in implementing the goals and policies of the General Plan."

The County's first APR for the 2000 General Plan reviewed the first 21 months of the implementation of the new plan (from the adoption of the plan on October 3, 2000 to the end of the first fiscal year, June 30, 2002). That first APR correctly reported that the County was seriously working to implement the General Plan as written. Importantly, the report recommended that the Board of Supervisors establish a comprehensive "indicators program" to track program implementation and the achievement of General Plan goals by monitoring essential data such as population change, agricultural land conversion and changes in housing trends. The 2002 APR also presented a way forward for the much-needed update of regional and community plans.

Despite this good beginning, in 2003, the County stopped preparing APRs, and for the next ten years, plan implementation was not monitored.

The preparation of APRs resumed in 2013 with the preparation of a two-year report for calendar years 2013 and 2014, and subsequent APRs were prepared for calendar years 2015, 2016 and 2017. These APRs focused primarily on program implementation and not on progress toward achieving General Plan goals. And unlike the 2002 APR, they did not contain recommendations for amending the plan or improving its implementation.

As a result, the APRs from 2013 to 2017 did not provide the Board of Supervisors with sufficient information to enable it to identify necessary course corrections or ways to improve plan implementation.

FIVE-YEAR REVIEWS

(A County Requirement)

The introduction to the 2000 General Plan explains the purpose of five-year reviews.

“A general plan is a long-term document with a planning horizon of 15 to 25 years. To achieve its purposes, the plan must be flexible enough to respond to changing conditions and at the same time specific enough to provide predictability and consistency in guiding day-to-day land use and development decisions. Over the years, conditions and community needs change and new opportunities arise; the plan needs to keep up with these changes and new opportunities....Every five years, the County will thoroughly review the countywide plan and update it as necessary.”

The requirement to conduct five-year reviews is codified in the Agriculture and Land Use Element. Program LU-H.E and Policy LU-H.14 both read as follows:

“The County shall conduct a major review of the General Plan, including General Plan Policy Document and Background Report, every five years and revise it as deemed necessary.”

The General Plan anticipated that such reviews would be prepared every five years — 2005, 2010 and 2015; however, none of those reviews were completed. The County initiated the 2005 review in late 2005, and fourteen years later, the County is still working on that first review. Clearly, five-year reviews have not been a good tool for monitoring plan implementation.

With the December 2017 draft revision of the General Plan, the County is proposing to alter its commitment to conducting five-year reviews. Below is the proposed change to Program LU-H.E. Note the change from “shall” to “should.”

“The County ~~shall~~ should conduct a major review of the General Plan, ~~including General Plan Policy Document and Background Report,~~ every five years and revise it as deemed necessary.”

ENVIRONMENTAL MITIGATION MONITORING

(A State and County Requirement)

California Government Code 21081.6 requires the County to monitor the implementation of adopted environmental mitigation measures.

California Government Code 21081.6

“(b) A public agency shall provide that measures to mitigate or avoid significant effects on the environment are fully enforceable through permit conditions, agreements, or other measures.”

This statutory requirement is reflected in General Plan Program LU-H.D, which reads...

“The Planning Commission shall review the General Plan annually, focusing principally on actions undertaken in the previous year to carry out the implementation programs of the plan. The Planning Commission’s report to the Board of Supervisors shall include, as the Commission deems appropriate, recommendations for amendments to the General Plan. This review shall also be used to satisfy the requirements of Public Resources Code 21081.6 for a mitigation monitoring program.”

The Environmental Impact Report (EIR) prepared for the adoption of the 2000 General Plan concluded that implementation of the plan would cause significant and unavoidable impacts to the environment, including these impacts to groundwater resources:

- Demand for water exceeding available supply, resulting in overdraft conditions.
- Exacerbation of groundwater overdraft conditions, resulting in land subsidence.

To lessen impacts such as these, the County identified 304 General Plan policies to serve as environmental mitigation measures. (See Appendix D, pp. 185-186, for a list of the unavoidable adverse impacts associated with the 2000 General Plan and the policies to lessen their impact.)

Copied below is the portion of the "Summary of Impacts and Mitigation Measures" section of the 2000 EIR which described the significant and unavoidable impact to groundwater. This section of the EIR also listed a set of policies to lessen that impact.

Adverse Impact 4.8-1: "Development under the Draft [2000] General Plan could result in the demand for water exceeding available supply, resulting in overdraft conditions and potential adverse effects on groundwater recharge potential."

Mitigation Measures: "No mitigation is available beyond Draft General Plan Policies PF-C.1 through PF-C.9, PF-C.11 through PF-C.13, PF-C.16 through PF-C.18, PF-C.21 through PF-C.24, PF-C.30, PF-E.14, PF-E.17, OS-A.1 through OS-A.9, OS-A.11 through OS-A.15, OS-A.17 through OS-A.19, OS-A.21, and OS-A.28 for Fresno County."

Level of Significance after Mitigation "Significant and Unavoidable"

Policy OS-A.1 (underlined above) is one of several policies identified as mitigation to lessen the adverse impact from the overdraft of groundwater. It reads...

Policy OS-A.1 "The County shall develop, implement, and maintain a plan for achieving water resource sustainability, including a strategy to address overdraft and the needs of anticipated growth."

Because mitigation measures are designed to protect the environment, their implementation must be enforced, and routine monitoring is the best way to guarantee that enforcement.

It appears the County has not routinely monitored the implementation of Policy OS-A.1 or any of the other General Plan policies serving as mitigation measures for the 2000 General Plan. As a result, there is little to no evidence that these 304 mitigation measures have been implemented.

Interestingly, the October 3, 2000 staff report to the Board of Supervisors for the adoption of the 2000 General Plan stated that it would not be necessary to monitor such mitigation measures. The staff report read in part: "...the measures that would reduce environmental impacts take the form of policies and programs that are part of the 'project itself' [General Plan]." And the 2000 EIR stated, "The General Plan Update is intended to be self-mitigating; it is assumed impacts identified in this EIR would generally be mitigated through adopted federal, State, and local laws and regulations, through the implementation of identified General Plan policies, ...or some combination thereof..."

That assumption has proved wrong. Self-mitigation only works when policies are faithfully implemented, and routine monitoring is the only way to substantiate that success.

RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

Annual progress reports (APRs) should provide the information necessary for the Board of Supervisors to identify needed changes to the General Plan. Such information is especially important at this time because the County is now fully engaged in a comprehensive review and update of the plan — a revision that must serve county residents well for the next 20 years. County planning staff is recommending that the Board of Supervisors significantly modify over half of the programs and nearly a fifth of the policies in the General Plan Policy Document. In addition, staff is in the process of preparing a completely new General Plan Background Report.

General Plan Program LU-H.E directs the Planning Commission to include in its annual progress reports, as appropriate, recommendations to the Board of Supervisors for amendment of the plan.

Program LU-H.D

“The Planning Commission shall review the General Plan annually, focusing principally on actions undertaken in the previous year to carry out the implementation programs of the plan. The Planning Commission’s report to the Board of Supervisors shall include, as the Commission deems appropriate, recommendations for amendments to the General Plan. This review shall also be used to satisfy the requirements of Public Resources Code 21081.6 for a mitigation monitoring program.”

The Planning Commission’s 2017 APR did not recommend any revisions to the General Plan. Neither did the Commission’s APRs for 2013/14, 2015 and 2016. However, the Commission’s first APR in 2002 did, and it is in line with that first APR that the following eight recommendations are made to the Board of Supervisors.

Addition of an Indicators Program

Several months prior to the adoption of the October 2000 General Plan, in a letter to the County dated April 6, 2000, the League of Women Voters of Fresno (League) recommended that the County develop an indicators program. Indicators are data of various types which, when collected over a period of time, serve as a tool to evaluate progress toward the attainment of General Plan goals. The letter read in part...

“A report on the annual status of the Plan is important, so that the County can judge the effectiveness of the Plan, whether it is meeting Plan goals, and whether specific amendments are appropriate. An annual assessment of indicators for the status of the General Plan would be helpful.”

The County endorsed the concept, and the Planning Commission’s first APR in 2002 (approved by the Board of Supervisors on June 10, 2003) devoted 12 pages to the concept. A portion of the 2002 APR is printed below.

“Progress toward attainment of the General Plan goals can be measured in various ways including formal actions on applications, completion of implementation programs, and through ‘indicators.’ The concept of indicators was discussed during the General Plan update along with the importance of the Annual Report.... In an effort to promote the use of indicators in the annual report the Sustainability Committee (Committee) of the League of Women Voters has initiated a ‘pilot project’ to develop a set of indicators for two elements of the General Plan under the themes of economic development and agricultural land protection....It is anticipated that the results of this ‘pilot project’ will be provided to the County staff for its work on the next annual report. Initial indicator data has been compiled for the themes of urban centered growth and agricultural land protection along with the additional topic of affordable housing.”

Two months later, on August 26, 2003, the League made a formal presentation to the Board of Supervisors regarding a pilot indicators project. The Board meeting agenda read as follows:

“Consider presentation on Pilot Indicator Project ‘Using Indicators to Track Changes in Implementation of the Fresno County General Plan’ by League of Women Voters, and consensus Resolution adopted by Fresno County Planning Commission recommending use of indicators in future Annual Reports on General Plan.”

The minutes of that hearing stated that the Board “directed staff to return to the Board with [an] implementation plan on the indicators for use on a regular basis...”

Despite that Board direction, the County did not institute an indicators program. In 2006, as comment on the initiation of the five-year review of the General Plan, the League again recommended that the County adopt an indicators program. As a consequence, the County’s first draft revision of the General Plan Policy Document (August 2010) contained a new program directing the County to develop an indicators program. The proposed program read as follows:

New Program LU-H.C

“The County shall develop an Indicators Program that monitors the success of the County in achieving the goals of the General Plan. The County shall conduct an annual review of the Indicators Program and report the findings to the Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors.”

This same language was retained in the next four versions of the draft revision of the Policy Document. However, the County deleted new Program LU-H.C from the most recent draft revision of the Policy Document (December 2017).

Recommendation 1.      The County should adopt a General Plan program to develop and implement an indicators program. The data from the indicators program can be used to annually evaluate success toward achieving the goals of the plan.

Update of Regional and Community Plans

The General Plan contains approximately 40 regional and community plans, most of which are seriously out of date. By way of illustration, the chart below, taken from the staff report for a March 12, 2013 Board of Supervisors workshop on the five-year review of the General Plan, lists the most recent updates of the County’s 10 unincorporated community plans.

| Unincorporated Community Plan | Date of Adoption | Last Update | Status      | Estimated Cost |
|-------------------------------|------------------|-------------|-------------|----------------|
| Biola Community Plan          | 12/15/81         | 05/22/90    | No progress | $200,000      |
| Caruthers Community Plan      | 10/31/78         | 06/29/93    | No progress | $200,000      |
| Del Rey Community Plan        | 10/31/78         | 11/27/90    | In progress | $150,000      |
| Easton Community Plan         | 03/24/64         | 12/18/89    | No progress | $200,000      |
| Friant Community Plan         | 02/18/76         | 02/01/11    | Complete    | N/A            |
| Lanare Community Plan         | 12/20/77         | 12/21/82    | No progress | $150,000      |
| Laton Community Plan          | 07/17/73         | 07/10/12    | Complete    | N/A            |
| Riverdale Community Plan      | 07/17/73         | 09/29/92    | No progress | $250,000      |
| Tranquillity Community Plan   | 02/18/76         | 12/18/84    | No progress | $200,000      |

The chart on the previous page shows that, with the exception of the Friant and Laton Community Plans, which were updated in 2011 and 2012, respectively, the average year of the last update of the remaining 8 plans is 1988, which means that the plans have an average age of 30 years — well beyond the commonly accepted general plan life of 15 to 25 years.

And with the exception of the Friant and Shaver Lake areas, these communities are known to have a greater percentages of low-income households — with median incomes that are at least 20% below the state average. Some of these areas also have chronic problems associated with inadequate water quality/supply and poor wastewater infrastructure. As long as these 8 community plans remain antiquated, residents will have difficulty upgrading their communities.

Recommendation 2. The County should add a program to the General Plan to ensure that community plans older than 20 years are updated within five years of the next update of the General Plan.

Recommendation 3. Since community plans have features in common, it is recommended, as a cost-saving measure, that the County consider the simultaneous update of such plans. There is precedent for this; for example, the chart on the previous page shows that the Caruthers, Del Rey and Shaver Lake Community Plans were adopted concurrently.

It may be possible, as well, to simultaneously update the County's regional plans, which average 24 years since their last update. For example, to save costs, it may be possible to concurrently update the Sierra-North and Sierra-South Regional Plans.

Identification of a Dedicated Revenue Stream for General Plan Implementation

In 2016, based on information derived from the County's 2015 APR, the League conducted a study of the success of General Plan implementation. That League study, released September 1, 2016, determined that for 2015 the County could demonstrate successful implementation of only 39% of its General Plan programs. A recalculation in 2018 based on the County's 2017 APR showed that the County was able to implement, as designed, even fewer of those same programs.

The 2016 study also found that one department — the Department of Public Works and Planning — was completely or partially responsible for implementing 103 of 121 programs (85%) in the first six elements of the plan. (It is responsible for implementing 18 of 19 programs in the Housing Element.)

The County readily acknowledges that a lack of resources is largely responsible for its inability to fully implement the General Plan. The County's very first APR (2002) contained this sobering comment.

“While progress has been made for most of the programs there are some programs where progress has not been made within the timeframe set out in the particular implementation program. The lack of progress is principally due to the allocation of resources associated with funding and/or staffing.”

A decade later, a similar statement appeared in the County's 2013/2014 APR.

“In order to fully implement the County's General Plan Implementation Programs, an on-going dedicated funding stream is required. The various programs have not been fully implemented for a number of reasons, including the lack of available funding. Staff will continue to implement all outstanding Programs for which the Department is responsible as funding and staffing resources are available.”

1-586

The lack of a dedicated funding stream limits the County's ability to successfully implement General Plan programs and achieve General Plan goals.

Recommendation 4.

With respect to Program LU-H.D, which calls for the preparation of annual progress reports (APRs), the County should amend the program to require identification of a dedicated revenue stream to cover the cost of implementing the plan for subsequent calendar years.

Recommendation 5.

The County should augment the Planning and Land Use Section of the Development Services Division within the Department of Public Works and Planning with at least two staff positions dedicated solely to implementation of the General Plan — by way of example, one position dedicated to the development and update of planning documents, as well as to the funding thereof, and a second position dedicated to monitoring implementation of existing plans, programs and policies.

Establishment of an Effective Economic Development Action Team (EDAT)

In 1997, the Board of Supervisors launched a 4-year public process to craft a new Economic Development Element for the General Plan, which was subsequently adopted October 3, 2000. The foundation for the new element was a document prepared a year earlier (November 15, 1999) called a Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy (CEDs).

The new Economic Development Element and the new CEDs (both adopted by the Board of Supervisors on October 3, 2000) outlined a fresh and innovative role for the County — that of strong regional leadership in the development and coordination of economic planning.

To implement the County's new Economic Development Strategy, Program ED-A.B and Policy ED-A.3 required the County to establish and staff an Economic Development Action Team (EDAT) "composed of County departments, including the Agricultural Commissioner, city representatives, and regional organizations engaged in the various facets of economic development in the county."

Below are citations from the 2000 CEDs that describe the function and makeup of the EDAT.

"The Action Team would be charged with the responsibility of creating the initiatives necessary to provide the economic foundations for job growth and to ensure that the benefits of growth are gained by local workers through workforce development activities." (2000 CEDs, p. 2)

"The Action Team will review all economic foundations identified in the economic strategy and develop specific initiatives to address the requirements of the targeted industries through redirection and/or increase in the resources currently available to participating institutions...." (2000 CEDs, p. 37)

"Implementation of the economic development strategy...will require the participation of organizations in the county that have resources essential to achieving its goals and objectives. These organizations will serve on an Action Team appointed by the Board of Supervisors. Their responsibility will be to develop supporting initiatives in land use, infrastructure, quality of life, labor force preparedness, capital availability and access to technology." (2000 CEDs, p. 39)

“The following are examples of the type of business groups that should be included on the Action Team.” (2000 CEDS, pp. 41, 42)

(Listed were the Fresno County Economic Development Corporation, the Fresno Business Council, the Fresno Metropolitan Chamber of Commerce, the Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, the Fresno County Farm Bureau, the Building Industry Association of the San Joaquin Valley, the I-5 Business Development Corridor, and the Five Cities Consortium.)

“Both educational and training organizations must be a part of the Action Team so that appropriate initiatives can be developed to insure that the Fresno County labor force is job ready when employment opportunities become available. The following are some of the key educational and training organizations that should be a part of the Action Team.” (2000 CEDS, pp 42, 43)

(Listed were the Business Center at CSU Fresno, the Training Institute at Fresno City College, West Hills College, Fresno County Superintendent of Education, Fresno County Workforce Development Board, and Fresno Works.)

The citations above describe an action team composed of a diverse group of highly qualified institutions and organizations with expertise in economic development.

But that wasn't the makeup of the County's first EDAT. On April 23, 2002, as reported in the County's first APR under the new plan, “the Board of Supervisors was designated as the Economic Development Action Team to implement the Economic Development Element of the County General Plan.”

That Board decision was in conflict with Policy ED-A.3 (written out on the previous page), and it ran contrary to the CEDS guidelines in that the 2002 EDAT did not include the Agricultural Commissioner, city representatives or regional organizations engaged in various facets of economic development in the county.

Within a few years the EDAT stopped functioning, and according to County documents, around the year 2011, the County began contracting annually with the Fresno County Economic Development Corporation to oversee the County's Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy and help with the implementation of policies and programs in the County's Economic Development Element.

On September 12, 2017, the Board of Supervisors reestablished the EDAT. But just as it did in 2002, the Board failed to include on the EDAT any organizations with expertise in economic development. The Board recreated the EDAT as a standing committee composed of County elected officials and administrators, and as occasions warranted, the mayors and city managers of the county's 15 cities. The new EDAT was to meet on an as-needed basis to accomplish these three tasks:

- “Work with County staff to implement the...goals of the Economic Development Element:... (1) Job Creation, (2) Economic Base Diversification and (3) Labor Force Preparedness;
- Assist County staff in reviewing the Economic Development Element of County General Plan [i.e., engage in discussions on County policy]; and
- Provide direction to County staff regarding economic development projects in the unincorporated area of Fresno County” on an as-needed basis.

The County is proposing, through its December 2017 draft revision of the General Plan, to incorporate into the General Plan the Board's September 12, 2017 change in the composition of the EDAT. The draft change appears in the 2017 draft Policy Document as redlined below.

~~"The County shall support and staff an Economic Development Action Team (EDAT) with the following composition:~~

~~a. Two members of the Board of Supervisors: The Chairman or another Supervisor designated by the Chairman and the Supervisor whose district includes the city(ies) that the EDAT is working with at a given time.~~

~~b. County departments (County Administrative Officer and Public Works and Planning Director).~~

~~a.c. City representatives (Mayor, Council President, and City Manager for the City of Fresno and mayor and city manager for the city(ies) involved in the project. The County shall support use support and staff an, as needed, an Economic Development Action Team Teams (EDAT) composed of two Board of Supervisors (Chairman or another Supervisor designated by the Chairman, and other position will rotate to the Supervisor whose district includes the City(ies) that the EDAT is working with at a given time), County departments (County Administrative Officer and Public Works and Planning Director), including the Agricultural Commissioner, city representatives, (Mayor, Council President and City Manager for the City of Fresno and Mayor and City Manager for the City(ies) involved in the project, and regional organizations, and others engaged in the various facets of economic development in the county."~~

[Note: The confusing redlining (with some sections both underlined and lined out) is the result of the County's January 26, 2018 release of its December 2017 Public Review Draft of the Policy Document in tracking mode.]

In conflict with the requirements of General Plan Policy ED-A.3, the Board of Supervisors has never appointed an Economic Development Action Team composed of regional organizations engaged in various facets of economic development. In 2002, the Board of Supervisors appointed itself the Action Team to oversee countywide economic development, and in 2017, the Board decided the EDAT should be made up of elected officials and county and city managers. To achieve the County's goals for economic development, the Board must appoint people and organizations with expertise in economic development.

Recommendation 6.

The County should retain Program ED-A.B and Policy ED-A.3 as originally written and appoint an Economic Development Action Team that includes the entities listed in Policy ED-A.3, including regional organizations engaged in various facets of economic development.

The County's 2016 Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy reported on page 63 that the General Plan was being "updated with a new Economic Development Element." It is clear that the December 2017 draft revision of the General Plan completely reworks the County's Economic Development Element. The proposal is to...

- Delete 50% of the County's economic programs and significantly alter another 33%.
- Delete 20% of the County's economic policies and significantly alter another 42%.

The proposed changes are massive, and this raises questions as to whether the County is responding to an underlying fault in the original design of the element or whether the County is extricating itself from economic planning altogether. In either case, the situation calls for analysis by experts in economists and a reappraisal of County engagement in economic planning.

Recommendation 7.

The County should initiate a complete reexamination of its strategy for engaging in economic development, especially in light of (1) County planning staff's proposal to wholly rework the Economic Development Element, (2) the need for assistance from the Economic Development Corporation to implement the Economic Development Element and (3) the continuing chronic poverty that exists in unincorporated areas of the county. These matters need review by experts in both economics and regional planning.

Year's Postponement in the Update of the General Plan

In the fall of 2005, the County launched a five-year review of the 2000 General Plan. The purpose of the review was "to evaluate the Goals, Policies and Implementation Programs of all General Plan Elements to ensure they reflect changed conditions, priorities, and new laws since the adoption of the General Plan in 2000." (December 4, 2012 staff report to the Board)

County staff was unable to complete that review, and over time the project morphed into a comprehensive update of the General Plan with a new planning horizon to the year 2040. Because the County failed to inform the public that the 2000-2020 review had become a 2020-2040 update, county residents were not afforded an opportunity to comment on the planning needs and challenges for the new planning period (2020-2040). Had county residents been given an opportunity to comment, they would likely have underscored issues related to health and safety — e.g., the County's aging public facilities and infrastructure, the lack of affordable housing, the pending impacts of climate change and the lack of a sustainable water supply.

With respect to climate change, Government Code Section 65302(g)(4) mandates that Fresno County include a climate adaptation plan in its Health and Safety Element — either directly or by reference — upon the next update of its Multi-Hazard Mitigation Plan. The County began the process of updating its Multi-Hazard Mitigation Plan in 2017, and a public review draft of the plan was released in April 2018. That draft plan acknowledges that climate change has the potential to exacerbate known hazards such as flooding and fire. The County's mitigation strategy for coping with climate change is to rely on the iteration of General Plan policies as proposed for revision in the County's draft 2017 Policy Document. Below is wording from page 3.16 of the Draft Fresno County Multi-Hazard Mitigation Plan (April 2018).

"The references to the General Plan policies in Section 4.4 of this [Multi-Hazard Mitigation] plan were reviewed by Mintier Harnish [the consulting firm that prepared the Draft 2017 Policy Document] and Department of Public Works staff to reflect recent changes that will be in the updated General Plan."

Importantly, the County's draft 2018 Multi-Hazard Mitigation Plan does not contain an analysis demonstrating that the "changes that will be in the updated General Plan" will succeed in mitigating the effects of climate change. Furthermore, the General Plan policy changes listed in the draft 2018 Multi-Hazard Mitigation Plan have not undergone environmental review, nor have they been approved by the Board of Supervisors.

With respect to water supply, the Department of Water Resources has found that four of the five groundwater sub-basins underlying Fresno County are in "critical overdraft," and California Water Code Section 10720.7 requires newly formed groundwater sustainability agencies (GSAs) with jurisdiction over groundwater basins in Fresno County to have groundwater sustainability plans (GSPs) in place by January 31, 2020. It is commonly believed that these new GSPs will have profound, long-lasting impacts on land use development patterns in Fresno County.

The fact is that several significant planning efforts are occurring simultaneously. Sometime during 2019, the County will seek to update its Multi-Hazard Mitigation Plan. Also that year, the GSAs will release their draft groundwater sustainability plans for public review, and the County will likely submit for public review an EIR for the update of the General Plan and Zoning Ordinance.

Recommendation 8.

The County should delay the update of the General Plan for one year — to 2020.

By the end of 2019, the groundwater sustainability agencies (GSAs) will have completed their groundwater sustainability plans (GSPs). The information and policies from those plans can then be incorporated into the draft update of the General Plan Background Report and Policy Document.

The EIR for the update of the General Plan and Zoning Ordinance can then be completed. Presumably, the EIR will contain a comprehensive evaluation of the degree to which changes to the Policy Document will ensure better management of groundwater use and help county residents adapt to the effects of climate change.

Following completion of the EIR, the Board of Supervisors can approve an update of the General Plan and Zoning Ordinance. The County can also concurrently adopt an updated Multi-Hazard Mitigation Plan and incorporate it by reference into the General Plan.

Delaying the update of the General Plan for one year will also allow time for the County to hear from residents regarding what they see as the planning needs and challenges for the period from 2020 to 2040.

APPENDIX A

2017 APR — IMPLEMENTATION OF THE FIRST SIX ELEMENTS OF THE GENERAL PLAN

California Government Code 65400 requires that once an agency has adopted a general plan, it must provide to the state an annual report (APR) on progress made in implementing the plan. Below is the relevant portion of that code.

“California Government Code Section 65400(a): After the legislative body has adopted all or part of a general plan, the planning agency shall do...the following:

⋮

(2) Provide by April 1 of each year an annual report to the legislative body, the Office of Planning and Research, and the Department of Housing and Community Development that includes all of the following:

(A) The status of the plan and progress in its implementation.”

⋮

In answer to this requirement, Fresno County’s 2000 General Plan includes Program LU-H.D, which requires the Planning Commission to “review the General Plan annually, focusing principally on actions undertaken in the previous year to carry out the implementation of programs of the Plan.”

Program Labels

Programs in the Fresno County General Plan are identified either by letter or by number.

- For the first six elements of the General Plan, programs are identified by a 4-letter label. For example, the first program in the Economic Development Element is labeled ED-A.A.
- Programs in the Housing Element are labeled differently. This is because development of the Housing Element was overseen by a different agency — the Fresno County Council of Governments. (The report on the Housing Element is found in Appendix B, pp. 137 - 181.)

Each of the 19 programs in the Housing Element is identified by number; for example, the first program is aptly labeled Program 1. But unlike programs in the first six elements of the General Plan, Housing Element programs are subdivided into components labeled “objectives.” Because these objectives are bulleted and not identified by number or letter, it has been necessary to assign each a number. For example, the first objective of the first program in the Housing Element has been labeled H-1.1, the second objective in the first program H-1.2 and so on.

Employing a letter code for the first six elements of the General Plan and a number code for the Housing Element is workable but awkward, so to make reference quick and easy, each of the programs and objectives has been assigned a number from 1 to 184. Since there are 121 programs in the first six elements of the General Plan, those program are numbered 1 to 121, and since there are 63 program components (objectives) in the Housing Element, those 63 components are numbered 122 through 184.

With regard to General Plan programs, this APR assesses the implementation of 184 individual tasks, which are either programs in the first six elements of the General Plan or program objectives in the Housing Element.

Assessment Methodology

To help focus attention on the essential features of each program or program objective, each is rewritten as a “deliverable.” Doing so enables the reader to hone in on the individual tasks that require implementation.

Full Text of Program ED-A.G

“The County shall determine, in cooperation with existing agencies, if capital deficiencies exist for farmers with the capital costs of shifting production modes to crops that create higher employment levels. If such deficiencies are identified, the County, in partnership with existing agencies, shall work to access additional funds or redirect existing funds.”

Program ED-A.G Expressed as Deliverables

1. Determination of the existence of capital deficiencies for farmers shifting to production modes that create greater employment.
2. In partnership with other agencies, an effort to access or redirect existing funds should such deficiencies be identified.

The assessment of program implementation was based primarily on information taken from the County’s annual progress reports for 2002, 2013/2014, 2015, 2016 and 2017. (Normally an APR focuses on a single calendar year, but for the League’s 2017 APR, the inquiry was widened to include all that the County had reported since plan adoption in 2000.) The 2002 APR covered the period from General Plan adoption in October 2000 to the end of the first fiscal year (June 2002). There was little information available for the years 2003 through 2012 because the County did not prepare APRs during that period. The APR approved in 2014 assessed program implementation for two calendar years: 2013 and 2014. The APRs for 2015, 2016 and 2017 reported on the calendar years for which they were named.

Secondary sources of information included various County publications, including staff reports prepared for the Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors.

Report on Program Status

Once available information from each of the previous County APRs was compiled and reviewed, each program was color tagged as follows:

-  Good evidence of successful implementation.
-  Poor evidence of successful implementation.
Only partial evidence of implementation.
-  No evidence by which to confirm successful implementation.
Evidence that implementation was delayed or not implemented per directives in the plan.

The chart beginning on the next page contains these four columns.

- Column 1: Individual numbering of each program in the first six elements of the General Plan from 1 through 121 with a color tag to indicate the degree of implementation.
- Column 2: The County’s original 4-letter label for each program.
- Column 3: The success of implementation, as described in the County’s APRs.
The program’s potential revision based on the December 2017 draft Policy Document.
- Column 4: The success of implementation as described by the League.

PROGRESS TOWARD THE IMPLEMENTATION OF PROGRAMS IN THE FIRST SIX ELEMENTS OF THE GENERAL PLAN

2000 ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT ELEMENT

According to the County's first APR (dated May 2003), on April 23, 2002, the Board of Supervisors "created the position of Assistant County Administrative Officer for Economic Development." A few years later, the Board of Supervisors reversed itself and eliminated the position. The County's 2015 and 2016 APRs stated that in 2011 the County entered into a contractual arrangement with the Economic Development Corporation (EDC) "for implementation of the Economic Development Element programs." (That contract was renewed annually.) The County's 2017 APR stated that a "new policy and program" were being proposed for an Economic Development Action Team. (That proposal was not directly applicable to the program under review. It was, however, applicable to Program ED-A.B. Furthermore, the proposal was not for the addition of a new policy and program but rather for the rewrite of existing Policy ED-A.3 and for the elimination of Program ED-A.B.) On March 28, 2017, the Board of Supervisors directed County staff to evaluate the possibility of reestablishing the position of economic development liaison/facilitator. (The County's 2017 APR provided no information that staff followed through on that directive.) |

|  |  | 2002 APR The 2002 APR stated that the County was in the process of preparing a policy recommendation that would define the type of agenda items where economic analysis would be required, that the focus would be on projects that had a significant impact on the local economy. 2013/2014 APR The 2013/2014 APR did not report on this program. 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs These APRs contained a nearly identical appraisal of the implementation of the program. The appraisal from the 2017 APR is printed in full below: “Per direction from the CAO’s office the analysis of economic impacts are no longer required in the staff report for discretionary permits.” Recommendations in the Draft 2017 Policy Document Modify program. The County has proposed (through its December 2017 draft of the Policy Document) to amend Program ED-A.E to read that the County will provide in staff reports for discretionary decisions a summary of anticipated fiscal economic impacts. Change time frame: FY 00-01 → Ø | For several years following the adoption of the General Plan in 2000, the County included in its staff reports for discretionary projects an analysis of economic impacts. Based on this fact, it may be assumed that the County had at one time fully implemented Program ED-A.E and corresponding Policy ED-A.11, which is copied below: “The County shall routinely review the economic impacts of all policy, budgetary, and discretionary project decisions. To that end, staff reports for all discretionary decisions by the Board of Supervisors, Planning Commission, and other County decision-making bodies shall include an analysis of economic impacts along with fiscal impacts.” The County’s 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs stated that at some point the County Administrative Office brought an end to that practice. (It must be noted that no County office or department has the authority to terminate a General Plan program. Only the Board of Supervisors has that legislative authority.) <hr/> Conclusion: Even though, at an earlier time, the County did analyze the economic impacts of all policy, budgetary, and discretionary project decisions in staff reports as per the requirements of Program ED-A.E and Policy ED-A.11, the CAO’s office subsequently determined that such analysis was not required and ended the practice. Evidence of the successful implementation of Program ED-A.E during 2017: None. |

The policy regarding the marketing of county produce reads as follows: General Plan Policy ED-A.14 The County shall encourage and, where appropriate, assist the Economic Development Corporation to develop new markets for Fresno County farm produce. Program ED-A.F required the County to enter into contact with the EDC for the purpose of marketing county produce. The County's contract with the EDC for 2017 (Agreement No. 17-263, approved by the Board of Supervisors on June 20, 2017) did not address the marketing of county produce per se, and the APRs did not state that the EDC was actually under contract with the County to do so. <hr/> Conclusion: While the Economic Development Corporation may have been helping to market county produce in a general way, the APRs did not identify specific contracts for that purpose nor they did they provide descriptions of the EDC's efforts to help market county produce. Evidence of the successful implementation of Program ED-A.F during 2017: Poor. |

County Reporting

2002 APR

The 2002 APR stated (1) that the County was part of the San Joaquin Valley Regional Community Development Entity, which was formed to provide additional capital for economic development projects in the Central San Joaquin Valley and (2) that representatives from federal agencies, banks, local economic development organizations, community development organizations and non-profit organizations had been meeting to develop a concept and model for a new Community Development Financial Institution.

2013/2014 APR

The 2013/2014 APR did not report on this program.

2015 APR

The County's 2015 appraisal of program implementation is printed in full below:

"The Economic Development Corporation (EDC) through its Business Expansion, Attraction, and Retention (BEAR) Action Network program works with businesses seeking to locate or expand in Fresno County and works to assist with financing and microloan programs."

2016 and 2017 APRs

These APRs contained an identical appraisal of the implementation of the program. That appraisal is printed in full below:

(Note: Were it not for the addition of the underlined text below, the appraisal of program implementation in the 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs would be identical.)

*"The Economic Development Corporation (EDC) through its Business Expansion, Attraction, and Retention (BEAR) Action Network program works with businesses seeking to locate or expand in Fresno County and works to assist with financing and microloan programs. Recommendations in the Draft 2017 Policy Document

League Reporting

The County's 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs did not indicate whether the effort begun around 2002 to create a model for a new Community Development Financial Institution had succeeded.

The APRs stated that the Economic Development Corporation provided assistance with financing and microloan programs for businesses seeking to locate or expand in the county.

The 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs provided no evidence that the County had created a roundtable of financial institutions, venture capital firms and finance agencies to determine the need for greater access to capital for existing non-agricultural businesses.

Conclusion:

There is no indication in the County's APRs that the County created a roundtable of financial institutions, venture capital firms and finance agencies or that the work of such a group had determined the need for greater access to capital for existing non-agricultural businesses.

Evidence of the successful implementation of Program ED-B.C during 2017:

None.

| 2002 APR The 2002 APR stated that the County’s Department of Employment and Temporary Assistance continued to provide the Fresno County Office of Education with funds necessary to assist with job placement at adult schools. 2013/2014 APR The 2013/2014 APR did not report on this program. 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs These APRs contained an identical appraisal of the implementation of the program. That appraisal is printed in full below: “The County Department of Social Services through the CalWORKs program provides services such as job clubs, job fairs, participant assessments, adult basic education and vocational training. The County is also an active participant on the Fresno Regional Workforce Investment Board which serves to mobilize and integrate all private and public partners to effectively educate, train and place individuals with the necessary resources and skills to fulfill employer needs.” Recommendations in the Draft 2017 Policy Document Retain program as is. Retain time frame: Ongoing. | The County’s 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs stated that the County provided services such as job clubs, job fairs, participant assessments, adult basic education and vocational training. The APRs did not provide information demonstrating that the County was collaborating with the county’s 15 cities to fund a wide variety of services to promote employment. The County has proposed (through its December 2017 draft of the Policy Document) to make a large number of wording changes to Program ED-C.E; however, the changes did not constitute a major shift in the focus of the program. <hr/> Conclusion: While the County provides services such as job clubs, job fairs, adult basic education and vocation training, the County’s APRs did not demonstrate County collaboration with cities, nor did they describe the degree to which the County collaborated with educational agencies and institutions. Evidence of the successful |    |        | County Reporting 2002 APR The 2002 APR stated that the Zoning Ordinance had been amended to implement General Plan policies pertaining to the creation of homesite parcels and the number of residences permitted per parcel. The APR did not state that the program has been fully implemented. 2013/2014, 2015 and 2016 APRs These APRs stated that this program had been implemented. (The 2017 APR did not state that the program had been implemented.) 2015 APR The County's 2015 appraisal of program implementation is printed in full below: “The County actively reviews and updates its Zoning Ordinance and Subdivision Ordinance to ensure consistency with the policies of the General Plan. The County completed a text amendment in 2015 to update its Zoning Ordinance to comply with requirements of state law as part of the 4th-Cycle Housing Element update. The County is also actively working on a comprehensive Zoning Ordinance Update scheduled to be presented to decision-makers in 2017.” 2016 and 2017 APRs The APRs contained an identical appraisal of the implementation of the program. That appraisal is printed in full below: “The County actively reviews and updates its Zoning Ordinance and Subdivision Ordinance to ensure consistency with the policies of the General Plan. The County is working on a comprehensive Zoning Ordinance Update to ensure consistency of the Ordinance with the policies of the General Plan.” Recommendations in the Draft 2017 Policy Document | League Reporting At the time the General Plan was updated in 2000, the County recognized the need to bring the Zoning Ordinance into compliance with the new Plan. A number of programs addressed this need: LU-A.A, LU-D.A, LU-F.B, LU-G.A and LU-H.F. The County's 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs did not provide a clear account of the degree to which the County had been able to accomplish that task. Although the APRs indicated that some progress had been made and that the County was continuing to work on a comprehensive update of the Zoning Ordinance, the APRs did not provide evidence that the program had been fully implemented — i.e., that the Zoning Ordinance had been brought into compliance with the Agriculture and Land Use Element as updated in 2000. In short, the County's APRs presented seemingly contradictory statements: (1) that the County continually updated the Zoning Ordinance to ensure consistency with the General Plan, (2) that Program LU-A.A had been implemented to bring the Zoning Ordinance into compliance with the General Plan, and (3) that the County was still working to make the Zoning Ordinance consistent with land use policies adopted in 2000. (It should be noted that even though the County's 2013/2014, 2015 and 2016 APRs stated that the Program LU-A.A had been implemented, the County has proposed through its December 2017 draft of the Policy Document to amend the time frame for accomplishing Program LU-A.A from FY 02-03 to calendar year 2018 or beyond.) <hr/> Conclusion: |

The 2002 APR stated that outreach to the Farm Bureau and to rural community newspapers was conducted in conjunction with the annual acceptance of applications for participation in the County's Agricultural Land Conservation Program. Furthermore, County staff was making referrals throughout the year to the Department of Conservation and to farmland trust organizations to promote participation in the County's Agricultural Land Conservation Program.

2013/2014 APR

The 2013/2014 APR did not report on this program.

2015 APR

The County's 2015 appraisal of program implementation is printed in full below:

"The Board of Supervisors has adopted Resolutions of Support for land owners who wish to place their land under conservation easement. In 2015, the Board adopted one Resolution to place a 56-acre parcel in a conservation easement and in 2014 the Board adopted two Resolutions to place a total of 309 acres in a conservation easement."

2016 and 2017 APRs

The APRs contained a nearly identical appraisal of the implementation of the program, the only difference being that the 2017 APR added the underlined sentence. The appraisal from the 2017 APR is printed in full below:

"The Board of Supervisors has adopted Resolutions of Support for land owners who wish to place their land under conservation easement. In 2017, the Board adopted a Resolution to place 642 acres in a conservation easement. In 2015, the Board adopted one Resolution to place a 56-acre parcel in a conservation easement and in 2014 the Board adopted two Resolutions to place a total of 309 acres in a conservation easement. As part of the General Plan Review process, policies and programs of the Land Use Element are being reviewed to determine which policies still serve a purpose and should be kept and which ones have served their purpose or are no longer relevant and should be deleted or revised."

Recommendations in the Draft 2017 Policy Document

Modify program.

Retain time frame: Ongoing.

The County's 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs stated that the Board of Supervisors had adopted resolutions of support for four conservation easements during 2014, 2015 and 2017.

The APRs did not provide evidence that the County had developed and implemented a "public outreach program" on the advantages of participation in agricultural land conservation programs.

The County has proposed (through its December 2017 draft of the Policy Document) to make a necessary name change: replacing the name "Agricultural Land Stewardship Program Fund" with the name "California Land Conservancy [Program]."

Conclusion:

There is no information in the County's APRs to indicate that the County has developed and implemented a public outreach program on the advantages of participation in agricultural land conservation programs.

Evidence of the successful implementation of Program LU-A.F during 2017:

None.

Deliverable: The active search for grants for conservation easements under the Agricultural Land Stewardship Program Act of 1995.

County Reporting

2002 APR

The 2002 APR stated that the County had supported applications for four conservation easements but did not indicate that the County had searched for grants on behalf of the applicants.

2013/2014 APR

The 2013/2014 APR stated that the County approved resolutions of support for two conservation easement applications but did not indicate that the County had searched for grants on behalf of the applicants.

2015 APR

The County's 2015 appraisal of program implementation is printed in full below:

"The Board of Supervisors has adopted Resolutions of Support for land owners who wish to place their land under conservation easement. In 2015, the Board adopted one Resolution to place a 56-acre parcel in a conservation easement and in 2014 the Board adopted two Resolutions to place a total of 309 acres in a conservation easement. The Resolutions adopted by the Board in 2014 and 2015 were in support of obtaining grants from the Department of Conservation for placing certain parcels under conservation easement."

2016 and 2017 APRs

The APRs contained a nearly identical appraisal of the implementation of the program, The appraisal from the 2017 APR is printed in full below:

"The Board of Supervisors continues to support land owners who wish to place their land under conservation easement, provided that the proposals meet certain required criteria."

Recommendations in the Draft 2017 Policy Document

Modify program.

Retain time frame: Ongoing.

League Reporting

The 2015 APR stated that the County had adopted resolutions in support of three conservation easements.

The 2016 and 2017 APRs stated that the County supported land owners who wished to place their lands under conservation easements.

No County APRs indicated that the County actively searched for grants for conservation easements.

The County has proposed (through its December 2017 draft of the Policy Document) to amend Program LU-A.G to read that the County will shift from actively pursuing grant funding to providing nonobligatory assistance to farming interests in their quests for grants under provisions of the California Farmland Conservancy Program.

Conclusion:

The County's APRs did not demonstrate that the County actively searched for grants for conservation easements under the Agricultural Land Stewardship Program Act of 1995.

Evidence of the successful implementation of Program LU-A.G during 2017:

None.

Deliverable: Creation of a program to establish criteria for prioritizing funding for agricultural conservation easements.

County Reporting

2002 APR

The 2002 APR stated (1) that the County utilized state criteria for the review of proposals for conservation easements and (2) that County criteria could most effectively be created at the time the County administered funding programs.

2013/2014 APR

The 2013/2014 APR did not report on this program.

2015 APR

The County's 2015 appraisal of program implementation is printed in full below:

"The County uses the State's criteria in its review of proposals for support of landowners' requests for a Resolution of Support to obtain grants to place agricultural land under conservation easements."

2016 and 2017 APRs

The APRs contained an identical appraisal of the implementation of the program. That appraisal is printed in full below:

"The County uses the State's criteria in its review of proposals submitted by landowners requesting a Resolution of Support to obtain grants to place agricultural land under conservation easements. As part of the General Plan Review process, policies and programs of the Land Use Element are being reviewed to determine which policies still serve a purpose and should be kept and which ones have served their purpose or are no longer relevant and should be deleted or revised."

Recommendations in the Draft 2017 Policy Document

Delete program.

Change time frame: FY 02-03 → Ø

League Reporting

The County's 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs stated that the County used the state's criteria when reviewing proposals requesting County resolutions of support for grants supporting the placement of agricultural lands under conservation easements.

The APRs provided no evidence that the County had created a program to establish criteria for prioritizing funding.

Conclusion:

The County has not created a program to establish criteria for prioritizing funding for agricultural conservation easements.

Evidence of the successful implementation of Program LU-A.H during 2017:

None.

Deliverables: Assessment of...

- (a) Approaches to determining agricultural land values in the 1981 Farmland Protection Policy Act land evaluation and site assessment (LESA) system and the 1975 Tulare County Rural Valley Lands Plan and
- (b) The potential for developing a similar Process for Fresno County.

Establishment, if appropriate, of an agriculture quality scale system to assist in making land use conversion decisions.

County Reporting

2002 APR

The 2002 APR did not review this program because the target date for accomplishment was fiscal year 2003-2004.

2013/2014

The 2013/2014 APR stated that this program was among 12 others that had been delayed “for a number of reasons, including the lack of available funding.”

2013/2014, 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs

These APRs each stated that program implementation had been delayed.

2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs

The APRs contained a nearly identical appraisal of the implementation of the program, the only difference being that the 2016 and 2017 APRs added the underlined sentence. The appraisal from the 2017 APR is printed in full below:

“The County has not yet assessed utilizing an agricultural quality scale system similar to LESA to establish a threshold as part of evaluation of converting agricultural land to non-agricultural uses. However, the impacts of projects on agricultural lands are analyzed for projects that may have a potential impact on conversion of agricultural land to non-agricultural uses as part of the environmental assessment of discretionary projects. As part of the General Plan Review process, policies and programs of the Land Use Element are being reviewed to determine which policies still serve a purpose and should be kept and which ones have served their purpose or are no longer relevant and should be deleted or revised.”

Recommendations in the Draft 2017 Policy Document

League Reporting

The County’s 2013/2014, 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs stated that the County had not initiated implementation of the program.

Conclusion:

The County has not assessed approaches to determining agricultural land values as per the requirements of Program LU-A.I.

Deliverable: In cooperation with county’s 15 cities, as appropriate, adoption of incentives/disincentives to support compact urban development and infill.

County Reporting

League Reporting

2002 APR

The 2002 APR provided two examples of incentives and disincentives that were introduced into the tax sharing agreement between the County and the City of Clovis in June 2002. The APR also reported a similar negotiation underway with the City of Fresno. The tax sharing agreements with the other 13 cities were to be renegotiated as they become due for renewal.

The County’s 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs stated that the County created incentives/ disincentives to support compact urban development and infill through the adoption of its multi-jurisdictional Housing Element. The APRs also claimed that the cost of providing urban services to suburbs was a disincentive that had motivated several cities to pursue infill development over annexation of new territory. The 2015 APR stated that MOUs between the County and its cities were written to ensure that annexation of rural lands did not occur until absolutely necessary.

The 2013/2014 APR did not report on this program.

It must be noted, however, that the APRs reported on the cities’ involvement in only one aspect of urban development — housing. The program was also to have addressed the locations for commercial and industrial development.

2015 APR

The County’s 2015 appraisal of program implementation is printed in full below:

“The County partnered with twelve of the fifteen cities within Fresno County, including the City of Clovis, to create a multi-jurisdictional Housing Element that includes incentives and disincentives that encourage compact urban development. The MOUs between the County and the cities provide a check and balance system to ensure that development of annexed land is imminent. Also, the cost of providing urban services to suburbs is a disincentive that has motivated several cities to pursue infill development over annexation of new territory. County staff continues to refer to General Plan policies that direct intensive urban growth to the cities and unincorporated communities and reviews relevant policies when processing discretionary land use permits.”

The County has proposed (through its December 2017 draft of the Policy Document) to amend Program LU-F.A to read that the County will shift from “adopting” to “encouraging the adoption” of incentives/ disincentives to support compact urban development and infill.

2016 and 2017 APRs

These APRs contained an identical appraisal of the implementation of the program. That appraisal is printed in full below:

“The County’s General Plan and the General Plan of the cities of Fresno and Clovis include polices that promote infill of vacant and underutilized land. Also, the cost of providing urban services to suburbs is a disincentive that has motivated several cities to pursue infill development over annexation of new territory. County staff continues to refer to General Plan policies that direct intensive urban growth to the cities and unincorporated communities and reviews relevant

Conclusion:

The County has, in cooperation with county’s 15 cities, adopted incentives/disincentives to support compact urban development and infill.

Evidence of the successful implementation of Program LU-F.A during 2017:

Good.

Formal protest when annexations are inconsistent with either the cities' general plans or the County's General Plan.

County Reporting

2002 APR

The 2002 APR stated that up to that time all proposed annexations had been within adopted spheres of influence and had been consistent with applicable city general plans.

2013/2014 APR

The 2013/2014 APR did not report on this program.

2015 APR

The County's 2015 appraisal of program implementation is printed in full below:

"The Department of Public Works and Planning reviews annexation proposals submitted by LAFCo to ensure consistency of the proposals with the City and County General Plans and the Memorandum of Understanding between the County and each City. A consistency determination letter is provided for each annexation proposal found to be consistent. During 2015 the County reviewed 14 annexation proposals submitted by LAFCo."

2016 APR

The County's 2016 appraisal of program implementation is printed in full below:

"The Department of Public Works and Planning reviews annexation proposals submitted by LAFCO to ensure consistency of the proposals with the City and County General Plans and the Memorandum of Understanding between the County and each City. A consistency determination letter is provided for each annexation proposal found to be consistent. During 2016 the County reviewed 10 annexation proposals submitted by LAFCO."

2017 APR

The County's 2017 appraisal of program implementation is printed in full below:

"The Department of Public Works and Planning reviews annexation proposals submitted by cities to ensure consistency of the proposals with the City and County General Plans and the Memorandum of Understanding between the County and each City. A consistency

League Reporting

The 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs stated that the County routinely reviewed annexation proposals from the Fresno Local Agency Formation Commission.

During calendar years 2015, 2016 and 2017, the County reported that it reviewed a total of 39 annexation proposals. The APRs did not state whether the County found them all to be consistent with either the cities' general plans for the County's General Plan.

The County has proposed (through its December 2017 draft of the Policy Document) to amend Program LU-G.B to read that the County will also protest an annexation proposal if it is inconsistent with the standards of annexation included in the memorandums of understanding between the County and its 15 cities.

Conclusion:

The County reviews annexation proposals submitted by the Fresno Local Agency Formation Commission.

Evidence of the successful implementation of Program LU-G.B during 2017:

Good.

County Reporting

2002 APR

The 2002 APR stated that staff had prepared an APR pursuant the Program LU-H.D.

2013/2014

The 2013/2014 APR stated that this program was among 12 others that had been delayed “for a number of reasons, including the lack of available funding.”

The 2013/2014 APR specifically stated that APRs had not been prepared after 2002, in other words, that the County had not reported on General Plan implementation for a decade: from July 1, 2002 through December 31, 2012. (The 2013/2014 APR covered two calendar years: 2013 and 2014.)

2015 APR

The County's 2015 appraisal of program implementation is printed in full below:

“The Public Works and Planning Department presented the 2014 General Plan Annual Progress Report to the Planning Commission on February 26, 2015 and to the Board on March 24, 2015. The preparation of the Annual Report which focuses principally on actions undertaken during 2015 to carry out the implementation programs of the General Plan meets the requirements of this program and is being presented to the Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors.”

2016 APR

The County's 2016 appraisal of program implementation is printed in full below:

“The Public Works and Planning Department presented the 2015 General Plan Annual Progress Report to the Planning Commission on July 21, 2016 and to the Board on September 12, 2016. The preparation of the Annual Report which focuses principally on actions undertaken during 2016 to carry out the implementation programs of the General Plan meets the requirements of this program and is being presented to the Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors.”

League Reporting

With regard to deliverable (a), the County's 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs stated that the County's APRs for those three years focused mainly on “actions” undertaken by the County to implement General Plan programs.

With regard to deliverable (b), the County's 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs did not contain any recommendations to amend the General Plan

With regard to deliverable (c), the County's 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs did not satisfy the environmental requirements of Public Resources Code 21081.6 in that the County did not annually monitor the implementation of the more than 300 policies in the General Plan Policy Document that serve to mitigate adverse impacts resulting from the implementation of the General Plan.

In addition, the APRs did not satisfy subsection (C) of Government Code 65400, which required the County to annually assess the degree to which the General Plan complied with the General Plan guidelines developed by the Governor's Office of Planning and Research (OPR). The salient portions of Government Code 65400 are reproduced below.

Government Code 65400.

Beginning around 2015, the County planning staff began to transform the 5-year review into a 20-year "update" of the General Plan with a new planning horizon to the year 2040. Deliverable: Comprehensive amendment of the Zoning Ordinance and Zoning Map to ensure conformity with new policies and standards in the 2000 update of the General Plan.

County Reporting

League Reporting

2002 APR

The 2002 APR stated that, consistent with the 2000 update of the General Plan, portions of the Zoning Ordinance had been amended to address parcel size exceptions and housing density. Furthermore, additional amendments would be processed in future years, as necessary, to implement General Plan policies.

At the time the General Plan was updated in 2000, the County recognized the need to bring the Zoning Ordinance into compliance with the new Plan. A number of programs addressed this need: LU-A.A, LU-D.A, LU-F.B, LU-G.A and LU-H.F.

These APRs stated that the program had been implemented. (The 2017 APR did not state the program had been implemented.)

The 2002 APR indicated that additional amendments of the General Plan were needed to bring the Zoning Ordinance into complete compliance with the 2000 update of the plan.

2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs

These APRs contained a nearly identical appraisal of the implementation of the program. (The differences among the three APRs are underlined.)

The County's 2014, 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs did not provide a clear account of the degree to which the County had been able to accomplish that task. Although the APRs indicated that some progress had been made and that the County was continuing to work on a comprehensive update of the Zoning Ordinance, the APRs did not provide evidence that the program had been fully implemented — i.e., that the Zoning Ordinance had been brought into complete compliance with the provisions of the 2000 General Plan.

2015 APR

The County's 2015 appraisal of program implementation is printed in full below:

"The Zoning Ordinance has been amended to incorporate the policies of the 2000 General Plan Update.

The County initiated the Zoning Ordinance Update in 2006 and has been working on this effort since that time.

On September 22, 2015, the Board of Supervisors accepted the scope of work and authorized the Chairman to execute a Consultant Agreement with the consulting firm of Mintier-Harnish to provide planning and environmental consulting services for the preparation of an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) for the General Plan Five-Year Review and Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance Update."

Conclusion:

While the County has made some progress in amending the Zoning Ordinance to ensure conformity with the 2000 update of the Agriculture and Land Use Element, the County's APRs did not demonstrate that the County had completed that work.

Evidence of the successful implementation of Program LU-H.F during 2017:

Poor.

2016 APR

The County's 2016 appraisal of program implementation is printed in full below:

“The Zoning Ordinance has been amended to incorporate the policies of the 2000 General Plan Update.

The appraisal from the 2017 APR is printed in full below: “The Fresno County Regional Bicycle and Recreational Trails Master Plan that was adopted by the Board of Supervisors on September 24, 2013, provides information on facilities that help link bicycle riders to other modes, including the provision of bike racks or space on buses and parking or lockers for bicycles at transportation terminals.” Recommendations in the Draft 2017 Policy Document Retain program as is. Retain time frame: Ongoing. | League Reporting As stated in the County's 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs, the County approved a 2013 Regional Bicycle and Recreational Trails Master Plan which contained policies promoting the provision of bike racks or space on buses, as well as bike parking areas. Although the APRs provided no information that the County was actively providing facilities to help link bicycle use with other modes of transportation, it may be assumed that the County implemented the program to some degree. (It should be noted that the 2013 Master Plan expressly stated that the Fresno County Rural Transit Agency did not offer bicycle parking facilities at its transit stops or park-and-ride lots and that the County did not envision the need for the installation of lockers.) <hr/> Conclusion: While the County has adopted a Regional Bicycle and Recreational Trails Master Plan that contains information on facilities that help link bicycle riders to other modes of transportation, information in the APRs is insufficient to understand the extent to which the County has been able to provide such facilities. Evidence of the successful implementation of Program TR-D.E during 2017: Poor. |

Deliverables: Adoption of a Capital Improvement Program (CIP) for the design and construction of County facilities.

At least every 5 years or concurrent with the approval of a significant amendment of the General Plan, update of the CIP.

County Reporting

League Reporting

2002 APR

The 2002 APR stated that the County's Five-Year Capital Improvement Plan for County facilities was approved by the Board of Supervisors in November 2000 and had been modified on several occasions since then to include updates of facilities and financing plans.

The APR also stated that County staff from the General Services Department and the County Administrative Office was in the process of crafting a Facilities Master Plan that would be used to develop a new Five-Year Capital Improvement Plan for County facilities.

2013/2014 APR

The 2013/2014 APR did not report on this program.

2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs

These APRs contained a nearly identical appraisal of the implementation of the program, the only difference being that the 2017 APR added the two underlined sentences. The appraisal from the 2017 APR is printed in full below:

"The CIP was last updated in 2006. However, updates of the CIP have been suspended by the Board with the suspension of impact fees until November 9, 2017 based on Board action which occurred on February 2, 2015. On October 31, 2017, the Board of Supervisors conducted the second public hearing to consider an amendment to the County Ordinance for Public Facilities Impact Fees. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Board decided to continue suspension of the impact fees to November 10, 2018."

Recommendations in the Draft 2017 Policy Document

Delete program.

Change time frame: FY 01-02 → ∅

The County's 2017 APR stated that the last update of the County's Capital Improvement Plan was in 2006 and that the Board of Supervisors suspended further updates of the CIP. The suspension of the collection of public facilities impact fees began November 10, 2010. (See the League report for Program PF-B.B.)

On October 9, 2018, the Board voted not to "suspend" but to "discontinue" the collection of the public facilities impact fees until a new Public Facilities Impact Report is prepared.

(It is important to note that there is no process for "suspending" or "discontinuing" General Plan programs without amending the General Plan.)

Conclusion:

Although the County adopted a Capital Improvement Program in 2006, further updates are on hold until such time as the Board of Supervisors reauthorizes the collection of facilities impact fees.

Evidence of the successful implementation of Program PF-B.A during 2017:

None.

Deliverable: Adoption of ordinances specifying methods for new development to pay for new capital facilities and expanded services.

County Reporting

2002 APR

The 2002 APR stated that work on this program would proceed after the Facilities Master Plan and new Five-Year Capital Improvement Plan were adopted. The APR added that “the lack of progress is principally due to the allocation of resources associated with funding and/or staffing.” The APR recommended “adjustment of the timeframe, dependent upon funding available.”

2013/2014 APR

The 2013/2014 APR did not report on this program.

2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs

These APRs contained a nearly identical appraisal of the implementation of the program, the only difference being that the 2017 APR added the two underlined sentences. The appraisal from the 2017 APR is printed in full below:

“On October 8, 2013, the Board of Supervisors considered potential options to the County’s Public Facilities Impact Fee Ordinance and Schedule of Fees and associated Capital Improvement Plan (CIP) and any other actions related to the previously collected, unspent fees, and budgetary impacts resulting from those actions. The potential options included: 1) Continue the temporary suspension of collecting Public Facilities Impact (PFI) Fees through November 9, 2015, as approved by the Board on June 19, 2012; 2) Engage a consultant to prepare an updated PFI Fee Report and direct staff to prepare an associated CIP; 3) Engage with the consultant to study and prepare a report to reduce the number of categories and areas they serve; and, 4) Adopt an ordinance repealing the PFI and adopt a resolution to terminate the associated CIP and refund fees collected to the property owners of record. On February 2, 2015, the Board of Supervisors conducted a second public hearing to consider an amendment to repeal the Public Facilities Impact Fees Ordinance in its entirety. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Board decided to continue suspension of the impact fees until November 9, 2017 and directed Staff to return to the Board in two years.”

League Reporting

The County’s 2002 APR stated that a lack of progress was principally due to a lack of funding and/or staffing.

According to various staff reports to the Board of Supervisors, as well as Board meeting minutes, the Board adopted Ordinance 17.90 (Public Facilities Impact Fees) on July 22, 2008, and the fees became effective 60 days later on September 20, 2008.

The Board subsequently amended the ordinance four times to provide successive suspensions of the collection of fees from November 10, 2010 through November 10, 2018.

On October 9, 2018 the Board voted to discontinue the collection of public facilities impact fees established in 2008 by amending Zoning Ordinance Title 17 - Divisions of Land, Chapter 17.90.

(It is important to note that while the Board of Supervisors can delete a particular program through the amendment of the General Plan, it cannot “discontinue” a program through the amendment of the Ordinance Code.)

Conclusion:

Although in 2008 the County adopted an ordinance in accordance with the requirements of Program PF-B.B specifying methods for new development to pay for new capital facilities and expanded services, in 2010 the Board of Supervisors suspended collection of the required fees.

Evidence of the successful implementation of Program BF-B.B during 2017:

None.

| County Reporting 2002 APR The 2002 APR stated that “no progress” had been made and recommended that the target date for implementation be extended from fiscal year 2002-2003 to fiscal year 2005-2006. The APR added that “the lack of progress is principally due to the allocation of resources associated with funding and/or staffing.” 2013/2014 APR The 2013/2014 APR did not report on this program. 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs These APRs contained a nearly identical appraisal of the implementation of the program, the only difference being that the 2017 APR added the underlined sentence. The appraisal from the 2017 APR is printed in full below: “The Water and Natural Resources Division of the Department of Public Works and Planning reviews all discretionary permits and provides recommendation for requirements and mitigation measures as necessary. The County, prior to consideration of any discretionary project related to land use, requires a water supply evaluation as outlined in General Plan Policy PF-C.17. In addition, the County is currently working to implement the requirements of the Sustainable Groundwater Management Act (SGMA) which will further address the resolution of water supply problems. In 2015, six SGMA working group meetings were held, which were co-chaired by members of the Board of Supervisors. The working group is also comprised of key County and Irrigation District staff and includes representation from other interested and affected Communities. In 2017, the Department of Public Works and Planning worked collaboratively with other local agencies in completing phase one of four that are required by the SGMA regulations, resulting in the formation of multiple GSAs located within Fresno County, with two exclusively managed by the County, Fresno County Management Areas A and B.” |        | League Reporting The County’s 2002 APR stated that a lack of progress was principally due to a lack of funding and/or staffing. The 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs stated that the County reviewed the water supply requirements for new development projects and that the County was working to implement the Sustainable Groundwater Management Act of 2014. The APRs provided no evidence that the County had developed a process to resolve water supply problems when areas of need were identified. It’s important to note that from December 2011 to March 2017, the State of California experienced one of the worst droughts on record. In fact, the three-year period between late 2011 and 2014 was the driest in California history since record-keeping began. The impact on agricultural operations and rural residents was significant. The County has proposed (through its December 2017 draft of the Policy Document) to amend Program PF-C.A to read that in an effort to identify and implement projects and programs to improve water supply reliability and water quality, the County will participate in an Inter-Regional Water Management Plan rather than develop its own process for resolving water supply problems. <hr/> Conclusion: The County has not developed a process to resolve water supply problems, nor has it identified any need to do so. |  |

Even so, the APRs did not comment on whether the County had completed an inventory of the areas in need of such plans, such as the area along Interstate 5 corridor where the County’s 2016 Economic Development Strategy indicated the need to “develop water and related infrastructure services that can help attract new commercial and services uses that cater to highway travelers at key interchanges along Interstate.” Also not mentioned in the APRs was the requirement to prepare a regional plan for the Friant-Millerton area that would include a plan for groundwater and surface water availability. According to General Plan Policy LU-H.8, that area was the “county’s largest remaining area without productive agricultural soils near the Fresno-Clovis Metropolitan Area” that “may be suitable for urban development.” The County has proposed (through its December 2017 draft of the Policy Document) to amend Program PF-C.C to read that the County will shift its focus from preparing water master plans for areas undergoing urban growth to working with service providers to provide such plans for new development proposed for unincorporated communities. <hr/> Conclusion: While the County has prepared water master plans for acreage within certain specific plans, there is no indication that the County has prepared water master plans for other areas undergoing growth pressures, such as the area along the I-5 corridor or the area within the boundary of the pending Friant-Millerton Regional Plan. (This statement suggested that implementation of Program OS-B.B may not have been possible.) Nonetheless, the County has proposed (through its December 2017 draft of the Policy Document) to retain Program OS-B.B and to add to it a provision that the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection complete an inventory of old growth forests that includes, as well, the "condition" of those forests. The APRs did not state that the County had encouraged the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection to complete an Inventory of ancient and old growth forests in Fresno County. <hr/> Conclusion: There is no information in the County's APRs to indicate that the County has encouraged the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection to complete an Inventory of ancient and old growth forests in Fresno County or that the County incorporated such an inventory into the its biological resources database for use in future land use planning. Evidence of the successful implementation of Program OS-B.B during 2017: |

Deliverables: Review of the Guide for Assessing and Mitigating Air Quality Impacts published by the San Joaquin Valley Air Pollution Control District (SJVAPCD).

Adoption of procedures for performing air quality impact analyses and adopting mitigation measures with any modifications of the SJVAPD guidelines deemed appropriate.

County Reporting

League Reporting

2002 APR

The 2002 APR stated that the Environmental Analysis Unit of the Planning Department was working with the San Joaquin Valley Air Pollution Control District to review and possibly revise existing standard methods or procedures for determining and mitigating project air quality impacts for use in County environmental documents.

The County's 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs stated that the County referred development projects to the San Joaquin Valley Air Pollution Control District (SJVAPCD) for review and comment.

2013/2014 APR

The 2013/2014 APR stated that program implementation had been delayed. The 2013/2014 APR gave a reason – “the lack of available funding.”

The APRs did not state that the County had reviewed SJVAPCD's Guide for Assessing and Mitigating Air Quality Impacts or that it had adopted procedures for performing air quality impact analyses.

2015 and 2016 APRs

Unlike the 2013/2014 APR, the 2015 and 2016 APRs stated that the program had been implemented.

Since the 2013/2014 APR reported that the program had not been initiated by that year and since the 2015 APR reported that the program had been implemented, it may be assumed that the County adopted procedures for performing air quality impact analyses sometime during 2015. An electronic search using the keyword phrase “air quality” of all of the County's 2015 meeting agendas for the Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors did not reveal any action regarding the adoption of new procedures for performing air quality impact analyses.

2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs

These APRs contained an identical appraisal of the implementation of the program. That appraisal is printed in full below:

(It should be noted that even though the County's 2015 and 2016 APRs stated that the Program OS-G.A had been implemented, the County has proposed through its December 2017 draft of the Policy Document to amend the time frame for accomplishing Program OS-G.A from FY 02-03 to calendar year 2018 or beyond.)

“The County refers development projects to the SJVAPCD for review and comment on potential air quality impacts and requires development projects to comply with SJVAPCD rules to mitigate any impact on air quality. For Discretionary projects, County staff will review SJVAPCD comments and require district requirements as warranted (i.e., indirect source review, etc.) as part of the CEQA review process.”

Recommendations in the Draft 2017 Policy Document

Change time frame: FY 02-03 → 2018-?.

(The question mark in the time frame above is written in place of the year because that portion of the County's Draft 2017 Policy Document is unreadable.)

Conclusion:

The County has not reviewed the Guide for Assessing and Mitigating Air Quality Impacts published the San Joaquin Valley Air Pollution Control District and adopted

The Department considers these service needs when a CSA is being formed or expanded. It should be noted that due to limitations of the Proposition 218 process [1996 California Constitutional Amendment – Local Initiative Power], which allows residents within a CSA to vote on or consider discontinuation of service, the use of CSAs for Services beyond basic services (i.e., sewer and water) can become problematic and has limited the use of CSAs in more recent developments.” Recommendations in the Draft 2017 Policy Document Retain program as is. Retain time frame: Ongoing. | The County’s 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs stated that Public Works and Planning staff routinely considered the need for an entity to hold and maintain parkland, open space and trails as a part of its project review process. Because the 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs did not provide information that an entity held or maintained parkland, open space and trails as a result of this program, it may be assumed that no discretionary projects considered by the County during 2015, 2016 and 2017 warranted consideration of contracting with existing entities or forming new County Service Areas for the development and maintenance of parks, open space and trails. <hr/> Conclusion: The County routinely considers the need for an entity to hold and maintain parkland, open space and trails as a part of its project review process. (On the basis of the statement in the County’s 2015, 2017 and 2017 APRs that County Services Areas are not reliable entities for the maintenance of recreational amenities, the County may want to review and amend Program OS-H.B. In conducting that review, the County may want to define, if it has not already done so, the size and nature of the development projects that may be required to prepare and maintain parks, open space and trails.) Evidence of the successful implementation of Program OS-H.B during 2017: Good. |

If the subject site is identified as a contaminated site, Environmental Health recommends mitigation measures to address soil or groundwater contamination. Further, as part of the environmental review process, staff has the ability to access State and Federal databases for contaminated sites and can apply appropriate mitigation to discretionary land use projects via comments from State, Federal or local agencies.” Recommendations in the Draft 2017 Policy Document Modify program. Retain time frame: Ongoing. | The County’s 2015, 2016 and 2017 APRs stated that the County’s Environmental Health Department reviewed and recommended mitigation for all development projects on sites identified as contaminated with hazardous waste. The County has proposed (through its December 2017 draft of the Policy Document) to amend Program HS-F.C to read that in order to mitigate soil and groundwater contamination, the County will shift from reviewing plans to coordinating with the Regional Water Quality Board to accomplish the same. Importantly, this change may result in less focus on the mitigation of soil contamination from hazardous waste for redevelopment and infill projects, as the mission of the State of California Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board is not to protect soil quality per se, but rather to “preserve, enhance, and restore the quality of California’s water resources and drinking water for the protection of the environment, public health, and all beneficial uses, and to ensure proper water resource allocation and efficient use, for the benefit of present and future generations.” <hr/> Conclusion: As part of the permitting process for redevelopment and infill projects, the County requires mitigation of contamination caused by hazardous waste. Evidence of the successful implementation of Program HS-F.C during 2017: Good. |

2017 APR — IMPLEMENTATION OF THE GENERAL PLAN HOUSING ELEMENT

California Government Code Section 65400 requires that once an agency has adopted a general plan, it must provide to the state an annual report (APR) on progress made in implementing the plan.

“California Government Code Section 65400

(a) After the legislative body has adopted all or part of a general plan, the planning agency shall do...the following:

⋮

(2) Provide by April 1 of each year an annual report to the legislative body, the Office of Planning and Research, and the Department of Housing and Community Development that includes all of the following:

(A) The status of the plan and progress in its implementation.

(B) The progress in meeting its share of regional housing needs....

The housing element portion of the annual report, as required by this paragraph, shall be prepared through the use of standards, forms, and definitions adopted by the Department of Housing and Community Development....The housing element portion of the annual report shall include a section that describes the actions taken by the local government towards completion of the programs and status of the local government’s compliance with the deadlines in its housing element.”

California Government Code of Regulations Section 6203 lists the required components of annual progress reports evaluating housing elements. Below is a portion of that code.

California Government Code of Regulations, Title 25, Division 1, Chapter 6, Subchapter 2. §6203.

“Each annual report shall contain the following information:

(e) For each program identified in the housing element...:

*(4) Status of program implementation as of the end of the annual reporting period listing dates of specific milestones or accomplishments, and quantified to the extent applicable and possible....”

In addition, in its instructions to local agencies, the Department of Housing and Community Development mandates that local agencies “detail the progress in implementing all specific programs and policies.” In other words, state law requires a comprehensive and thorough assessment of the progress made toward implementing housing programs and policies.

The County’s 2015-2023 Housing Element contains 19 programs which are further divided into 63 “objectives.” These objectives are not goals; they are, instead, program tasks. For example, printed below is the first objective (program task) listed in the 2015-2023 Housing Element.

Housing H-1.1: “The County of Fresno Public Works and Planning Department, with assistance of the Fresno COG, will take the lead in coordinating the Countywide Fifth Cycle Housing Element Committee meetings.”

Program Numbering

Although the 19 programs in the Housing Element are numbered 1 through 19, the 63 objectives within them are bulleted — not identified either by letter or number. Therefore, it has been necessary to assign each an identifying number as follows: the first objective of the first program in the Housing Element has been labeled H-1.1, the second objective in the first program H-1.2 and so on.

To make reference quick and easy, each of the 63 objectives was assigned a number from 122 to 184, the numbers 1 – 121 having been applied to the 121 programs in the other six elements of the General Plan.

Methodology for Assessing Implementation

As explained previously on page 25 of this report, to help focus attention on the essential features of individual objectives, each objective is rewritten as a deliverable. Doing so enables the reader to hone in on the degree to which the County has been able to implement all aspects of the various programs.

Full Text of Housing Program Objective H-8.3

“Annually monitor the status of farmworker housing as part of the County’s annual report to HCD on Housing Element progress and evaluate if County efforts are effective in facilitating the provision of farmworker housing. If appropriate, make necessary changes to enhance opportunities and incentives for farmworker housing development.”

Objective H-8.3 Expressed as Deliverables

1. Annual monitoring of the status of farmworker housing.
2. Annual evaluation of the effectiveness of the County’s efforts to facilitate the provision of farmworker housing.

Because the County’s 2015-2023 Housing Element is fairly new, the assessment of the success of program implementation is based on the most recent year, i.e., on implementation information provided by the County for calendar year 2017 alone.

Content of the Annual Housing Report

Generally speaking, state law gives counties a great deal of latitude on how they format their APRs, but that’s not so for reporting on the implementation of housing elements. The housing section of the APR must be completed using five forms (tables) provided by the Department of Housing and Community Development. Below is a description of the content of each of these tables.

Table A3 Building activity summary of new construction for moderate income residents.

Table B Progress in meeting the County’s Regional Housing Needs Allocation (RHNA).

Table C Progress in implementing programs in the County’s Housing Element.

County planning staff completed the five tables and sent them to the state as part of its 2017 APR. The County’s completed tables for 2017 are reproduced below on pages 180 and 181. (The reader will note on page 181 that Table C is left blank. This is acceptable because the County prepared Appendix B in lieu of completing Table C.)

Portion of the County's Housing Report Reviewed by the League of Women Voters of Fresno

The League did not check the accuracy of the housing data provided by the County for Tables A, A2, A3 and B, as there was no way to do so.

The League limited its evaluation to the information supplied by the County to Table C, which was a report of the progress made in implementing the 63 program objectives in the County's 2015-2023 Housing Element. (See Appendix B, pp. 137-181.)

League's Report on Program Implementation

Once available information from the County's 2017 APR has been reviewed, each program objective was color tagged as follows:

-  Good evidence of successful implementation.
-  Poor evidence of successful implementation.
Only partial evidence of implementation.
-  No evidence by which to confirm successful implementation.
Evidence that implementation was delayed or not implemented per directives in the plan.

The League has created a four-column chart, titled Appendix B, which evaluates County progress toward implementing the 63 objectives in the Housing Element.

That chart, beginning on the next page, contains these four columns.

- Column 1: Individual numbering of each program objective from 122 to 184 with a color tag indicating the degree of successful implementation.
- Column 2: New identification labels applied to each program objective (e.g., H-1.1, H-1.2).
- Column 3: The success of implementation as described in the County's 2017 APR.
- Column 4: The success of implementation as described by the League.

It should be noted that the 121 implementation programs in the first six elements of the General Plan, unlike programs in the Housing Element, lack program objectives, which makes the evaluation of each of those 121 programs a somewhat simpler task.

The Housing Element is different. Each of the 19 programs in the Housing Element has as few as one or as many as eight objectives. Altogether, the Housing Element has 63 objectives.

Because the County's 2017 report on its Housing Element evaluated the 19 programs in the aggregate and did not comment individually on each objective, in reviewing the County's 2017 APR, it was difficult, at times, to determine with confidence the degree to which the County was able to report successful implementation of individual objectives.

Even so, it was possible to determine with near certainty that the County's 2017 APR did not comment at all on the implementation of these nine program objectives: H-3.5, H-5.2, H-7.2, H-8.3, H-17.2, H-17.3, H-18.3, H-18.5 and H-19.4.)

For the sake of brevity, the 52 goals are abridged. To illustrate, printed below are both the full text of the first goal in the General Plan, Goal ED-A, and its abridged form.

Goal ED-A.A

Abridged Form: Increase job creation.

For easy reference, the 52 goals are also numbered 1 - 52.

Goals of the 2000 General Plan and the 2015-2023 Housing Element

- 1 Job Creation
ED-A Increase job creation.
- 2 Economic Base Diversification
ED-B Diversify the county’s economic base.
- 3 Labor Force Preparedness
ED-C Improve labor force preparedness.
- 4 Agriculture
LU-A Promote the long-term conservation of agricultural lands.
- 5 Westside Rangelands
LU-B Preserve the unique and sensitive character of the Westside rangelands.
- 6 River Influence Areas
LU-C Preserve, protect and enhance river environments as a multiple-use, open space resource.
- 7 Westside Freeway Corridor
LU-D Promote agricultural uses, protect scenic views and provide for commercial uses that cater to travelers.
- 8 Non-Agricultural Rural Development
LU-E Provide for the development of areas already designated for rural-residential development.
- 9 Urban Development Patterns
LU-F Encourage mixed-use pedestrian and transit-oriented development.

- 10 Urban, Fringe Area and Rural Community Development
LU-G Direct urban development within city spheres of influence to existing cities.
- 11 General and Administrative provisions
LU-H Provide for the development of mobile homes, home occupations and second dwellings.
Provide for the effective and systematic implementation of the General Plan.
- 12 Streets and Highways
TR-A Plan and provide a unified, coordinated and cost-efficient countywide street and highway system.
- 13 Transit
TR-B Promote a safe and efficient mass transit system.
- 14 Transportation Systems Management
TR-C Reduce travel demand and maximize the efficiency of the County's transportation facilities.
- 15 Bicycle Facilities
TR-D Plan and provide a safe, continuous and easily accessible bikeway system.
- 16 Rail Transportation
TR-E Plan for a safe, efficient and environmentally-sound rail system.
- 17 Air Transportation
TR-F Promote the maintenance and improvement of general and commercial aviation facilities.
- 18 General Public Facilities and Services
PF-A Ensure the timely development of public facilities and maintain an adequate level of service.
- 19 Funding
PF-B Ensure that facility and service standards are achieved and maintained through equitable funding methods.
- 20 Water Supply and Delivery
PF-C Ensure the availability of an adequate and safe water supply.
- 21 Wastewater Collection, Treatment and Disposal
PF-D Ensure adequate wastewater collection and treatment and the safe disposal of wastewater.
- 22 Storm Drainage
PF-E Provide efficient, cost-effective drainage and flood control.
- 23 Landfills and Solid Waste Processing Facilities
PF-F Ensure the safe and efficient disposal or recycling of solid waste.
- 24 Law Enforcement
PF-G Protect life and property and ensure the prompt and efficient provision of law enforcement.
- 25 Fire Protection and Emergency Medical Services
PF-H Ensure the prompt and efficient provision of fire and emergency medical facilities and services.
- 26 School and Library Facilities
PF-I Provide for the educational needs of Fresno County, including the provision for libraries.
- 27 Utilities
PF-J Provide efficient and cost-effective utilities.
- 28 Water Resources
OS-A Protect and enhance the water quality/quantity of Fresno County's streams, creeks and groundwater basins.
- 29 Forest Resources
OS-B Preserve, protect and maintain healthy, sustainable forest resources and ecosystems.
- 30 Mineral Resources
OS-C Conserve areas containing significant mineral deposits and oil and gas resources.
Promote the reasonable, safe and orderly extraction of mineral resources.
- 31 Wetland and Riparian Areas
OS-D Protect the aesthetics, water quality, floodplain, ecology, and recreation values of wetland and riparian areas.

- 32 Fish and Wildlife Habitat
OS-E Help protect, restore and enhance habitats that support fish and wildlife species.
- 33 Vegetation
OS-F Preserve and protect valuable vegetation resources.
- 34 Air Quality
OS-G Improve air quality and minimize the adverse effects of air pollution.
- 35 Parks and Recreation
OS-H Designate land for and promote the development and expansion of public and private recreational facilities.
- 36 Recreational Trails
OS-I Develop a system of hiking, riding and bicycling trails and paths.
- 37 Historical, Cultural and Geological Resources
OS-J Identify, protect and enhance historical, archeological, paleontological, geological and cultural sites.
- 38 Scenic Resources
OS-K Conserve, protect and maintain the scenic quality of Fresno County.
- 39 Scenic Roadways
OS-L Conserve, protect, and maintain the scenic quality of land and landscapes adjacent to scenic roads.
- 40 Emergency Management and Response
HS-A Protect public health and safety from the effects of natural or technological disasters.
- 41 Fire Hazards
HS-B Minimize loss of life, injury and damage to both property and natural resources from fire hazards.
- 42 Flood Hazards
HS-C Minimize the loss of life, injury and damage from flood hazards.
- 43 Seismic and Geological Hazards
HS-D Minimize the loss of life, injury and property damage from seismic and geologic hazards.
- 44 Airport Hazards
HS-E Minimize public exposure to high noise levels and safety hazards near airports.
- 45 Hazardous Materials
HS-F Minimize the loss of life, injury, illness and damage to property from the presence of hazardous materials.
- 46 Noise
HS-G Protect noise-sensitive uses from harmful or annoying noise levels.

Goals in the 2015-2023 Housing Element

- 47 New Housing Development
Goal 1 Facilitate and encourage a range of housing types to meet the needs of residents.
- 48 Affordable Housing
Goal 2 Encourage and facilitate the development of affordable housing.
- 49 Housing and Neighborhood Conversion
Goal 3 Improve and maintain the quality of housing and residential neighborhoods.
- 50 Special Needs Housing
Goal 4 Provide a range of housing types and services for households with special needs.
- 51 Fair and Equal Housing Opportunities
Goal 5 Promote housing opportunities for all residents regardless of age, race, religion, sex, marital status, ancestry, national origin, disability or economic status.
- 52 Energy Conservation and Sustainable Development

APPENDIX D

List of Significant and Unavoidable Adverse Impacts Of the 2000 General Plan

The Environmental Impact Report for the adoption of the 2000 General Plan concluded that with the best mitigation available, the following impacts would nonetheless remain significant and unavoidable.

Public Services

- Inability to meet the demand for police and fire protection and other public services.
- Inability to meet the demand for recreation facilities (parks) and library services.

Transportation and Circulation

- Operation of roadway segments at unacceptable levels of service.
- Reduction in the ability to maintain adequate pavement conditions on rural roadways.
- Inability to meet the demand for transit services.
- Inability to meet the demand for bicycle facilities.

Agricultural Resources

- Permanent loss of important farmland.
- Significant reduction in agricultural production.

Water Resources

- Demand for water exceeding available supply, resulting in overdraft conditions.
- Demand for water exceeding available supply, resulting in adverse effects on groundwater recharge potential.
- Exacerbation of groundwater overdraft conditions, resulting in land subsidence.
- Alteration of the rate and direction of the flows of contaminated groundwater.

Biological Resources

- Degradation of riparian and aquatic habitat.
- Loss of wetland and grassland habitat.
- Loss of habitat for special-status wildlife and plant species.

Mineral Resources

- Reduction of the amount of land available for mineral resource extraction.

Historical Resources

- Devaluation, disturbance, or destruction of unidentified subsurface prehistoric resources and historic sites.

Air Resources

- Increase in air pollution caused by mobile and stationary sources.

Wastewater and Hazardous materials

- Demand for wastewater treatment beyond the capacities of existing facilities.
- Increase in the use of hazardous materials and an increase in the generation of hazardous waste.

Storm Drainage and Flooding

- Increase in stormwater runoff and the potential for downstream flooding.

Noise

- Permanent increase in ambient noise levels that could affect sensitive receptors.

Esthetics

- Permanent alteration of the existing visual character of the region and/or visual access to scenic resources.
- Introduction of new sources of light and glare into development areas and surrounding rural areas.

To lessen the adverse impacts listed above (but not to a level of insignificance), 304 policies in 31 sections of the 2000 Policy Document were adopted as environmental mitigation measures. There is no evidence in the County's APRs to show that the County has ever systematically monitored the implementation of these mitigation measures.

The 304 policies (listed below) are found in the following five General Plan elements: Agriculture and Land Use Element, Transportation and Circulation Element, Public Facilities and Services Element, Open Space and Conservation Element, and Health and Safety Element. (None of the policies in the Economic Development Element or the Housing Element serve as mitigation measures.)

| 128 | H-1.7  | Search for partnerships with agencies, housing developers, community stakeholders, and agricultural employers to explore options for increasing the availability of farmworker housing.                                                  |
| 129 | H-2.1  | Review and revision of the standards for annexation contained in Memorandums of Understanding between the County and the cities during the Housing Element planning period.                                                              |
| 130 | H-3.1  | Completion of technical amendments to the Zoning Ordinance to achieve internal consistency with the General Plan.                                                                                                                        |
| 131 | H-3.2  | Annual update of the inventory of residential land resources.                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 132 | H-3.3  | Monitoring the inventory of residential land resources to ensure that the County has residential land resource capacity consistent with its share of the region's housing needs.                                                         |
| 133 | H-3.4  | Designation and zoning of sites adequate to meet the special housing needs specified in the County's Regional Housing Needs Allocation (RHNA).                                                                                           |
| 134 | H-3.5  | Encouragement of a variety of housing types through implementation of the General Plan and through mechanisms encouraging housing affordability.                                                                                         |
| 135 | H-3.6  | Directing interested residential developers to community plan and specific plan areas that have water and sewer capacity or where water and sewer providers can provide capacity.                                                        |
| 136 | H-3.7  | Meeting(s) with developers to discuss constraints and opportunities on Trailer Park (TP) zoned sites; establishment of incentives and procedures to promote development of such sites.                                                   |
| 137 | H-3.8  | Participation in the development of the next Regional Housing Needs Allocation Plan.                                                                                                                                                     |
| 138 | H-4.1  | Development and implementation of a formal evaluation procedure to ensure sufficient residential capacity to meet the County's Regional Housing Needs Allocation.                                                                        |
| 139 | H-4.2  | Annual monitoring of the effectiveness of non-residential zones to facilitate residential development.                                                                                                                                   |
| 140 | H-4.3  | Accommodation of housing facilities at least 16 units in size (at densities of least 20 units per acre) — in the event that rezoning/upzoning is required to meet a RHNA shortfall.                                                      |

|-----|--------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 141 | H-5.1  | Assistance to interested developers/property owners to identify opportunities for lot consolidation or lot splitting.                                                                                                                   |
| 142 | H-5.2  | Streamlining of the processing of requests for lot consolidation and lot splitting.                                                                                                                                                     |
| 143 | H-5.3  | Annual evaluation of the effectiveness of the County's efforts to facilitate lot consolidation of small sites for residential development.                                                                                              |
| 144 | H-5.4  | Encouragement of the use of master plans/specific plans to provide a cohesive development strategy for large lots.                                                                                                                      |
| 145 | H-6.1  | At least semi-annual coordination with independent service providers to assess development trends, needs for infrastructure and services and plans to meet the County's RHNA.                                                           |
| 146 | H-6.2  | Assistance to County Service Districts to address infrastructure and service deficiencies.                                                                                                                                              |
| 147 | H-6.3  | Search for funding for County Service Districts to expand infrastructure and services consistent with the County's General Plan and community plan policies.                                                                            |
| 148 | H-6.4  | Meeting(s) with developers and community stakeholders in support of funding sources, including CDBG and/or HOME funds, to reduce the costs of development (i.e., infrastructure improvements).                                          |
| 149 | H-6.5  | Annual pursuit of funding opportunities for community plan updates to promote the development of active transportation and access to services and amenities within existing communities.                                                |
| 150 | H-6.6  | Distribution of adopted Housing Element to service providers serving unincorporated communities.                                                                                                                                        |
| 151 | H-7.1  | Offer of incentives to facilitate the development of affordable housing opportunities for very-low and extremely-low income households, as well as special needs populations.                                                           |
| 152 | H-7.2  | Search for partnerships and regular meetings with agencies, housing developers, community stakeholders and employers to pursue opportunities for providing affordable housing.                                                          |
| 153 | H-7.3  | Monitoring the websites of the California Department of Housing and Community Development and HUD for Notices of Funding Ability and preparation or support of applications for funding affordable housing for lower-income households. |
| 154 | H-7.4  | Encouragement to agencies and housing developers to apply for USDA Rural Development loans and grants and funding from the California Department of Housing and Community Development.                                                  |
| 155 | H-7.5  | Streamlining and improving efficiencies in planning, permit approval and building inspection.                                                                                                                                           |
| 156 | H-7.6  | Establishment of a program via the Internet that accommodates submittal and issuance of permits pertaining to the development of affordable housing.                                                                                    |
| 157 | H-8.1  | Search for partnerships with agencies, housing developers, community stakeholders and agricultural employers to explore options for the location of farmworker housing.                                                                 |
| 158 | H-8.2  | Encouragement to agencies and housing developers to apply for funding for farmworker housing.                                                                                                                                           |
| 159 | H-8.3  | Annual monitoring of the status of farmworker housing and evaluation of the effectiveness of the County's efforts to facilitate the provision of farmworker housing.                                                                    |
| 160 | H-9.1  | Monitoring affordable housing projects to determine if they are at risk of converting to market-rate housing, and if found to be at risk, engagement in a set of actions to address the situation.                                      |
| 161 | H-10.1 | Completion of a comprehensive Zoning Ordinance update to increase allowable densities to 20 units per acre in R2, R2-A, R3, R3-A, R4, C4 and RP Districts.                                                                              |
| 162 | H-10.2 | Addressing the provision of Single-Room Occupancy (SRO) housing as part of a comprehensive Zoning Ordinance update.                                                                                                                     |

For the 2015-2023 General Plan Housing Element

Below is the data used to calculate the County’s success in implementing each of the 19 programs in its 2015-2023 Housing Element. The data, based on information gleaned from the County’s 2017 Annual Progress Report (APR), was obtained from Appendix B — Progress toward Implementing the Programs and Objectives of the Housing Element — pages 137 through 181 above.

To arrive at a calculation of the overall success of the implementation of each of the 19 Housing Element programs, it was necessary to average the County’s success in implementing the objectives within each program. For example, the overall success of the implementation of Program H-3 — with its 8 objectives distributed across row 3 below — was determined to be poor because the County’s 2017 APR reported good implementation for 4 of the objectives, poor implementation for 2 objectives and no implementation for the other 2 objectives. Therefore, the report of the success for Program H-3 was determined to be, on average, poor.

For All Seven General Plan Elements (Including the Housing Element)

The League of Women Voters of Fresno (League) evaluated Fresno County's 2017 APR, coming to conclusions very different for those offered by the County.

With an aim to improve transparency and accuracy, the League decided to prepare its own APR for 2017. The League found that the County's 2017 report of a 90% * success rate for the implementation of General Plan programs was far from accurate. The rate of success was closer to 33%. More specifically, the League found, through very careful analyses, that the County's 2017 APR had demonstrated good implementation of 46 programs (33%), poor implementation of 44 programs (31%) and no implementation or failed implementation of 50 programs (36%).

Riverdale Meeting Comments 06/21/23

- There are a lot of unique cases in this small community. I have lived here 10 years and have seen no changes. We need parks, paved streets, there are no trees, there are fallen trees are not cleaned up. When it rains the streets get flooded. Security is a big concern for us because there has been a rise in homeless people.
- During the pandemic we had no access to vaccines, we had to drive to other towns to get our vaccines. We don't have any spaces to gather at incase of an emergency or natural disaster. We worry about housing cost for our children being too high and about the dairy's being next door to our children's schools.
- We are worried about the implementation of the changes of our water and drainage (sewer) systems. Water contamination is very bad because there are a lot of cattle in the surrounding areas.
- In the town of Lanare the problems are similar but more sever because people are living in ruins (homes that are not legal). This should not be happening in a nation as rich as the USA. This nation moves a lot of money for this to be happening, all this money is made off the back of these community members and they are forgotten. We need a better quality of lives for them like better streets and reliable electrical. They deserve to have better living quarters.
- Our children and grandchildren are the future of this area, we need to leave them behind something better than this. As far as air quality, the state is coming up with electric car laws. The people from this community cannot afford these so what happens to us? We get left behind. We need change.
- Is the community plan for Lanare going to be updated? It has not been updated in over 40 years.
  - A: we are in the process of identifying the order all of the community plans will be updated. We will be going to the Board of Supervisors in July or August to the get the order approved. There are 10 cities once we get the order approved, we will start with the first one.
  - Follow up: it is very important to us to get our community plan updated because if it doesn't our community gets left behind.
  - A: I want you guys to know that all the community plan update is going to do is zone land for certain things. For example, we will zone land for a business or for a health center, but none of these things will happen until a developer comes and builds it. The county is not going to build any of these, just zone land for it so when someone want to come and build in your community, it is ready to go.
- Is there any way we can put in regulations to limit the amount of cattle the dairies are allowed to have? We don't want to get rid of them, we just want to limit the amount of pollution that come from them.
  - A: There is a dairy ordinance that was adopted in 2006 or 2007 that limits dairies. It applies to new dairies or ones that want to expand. Existing dairies can continue to operate as they have unless they shut down. The environmental justice element will address pollution. For warehouse it will address some of those issues you are talking about but not at the community plan level but at the county level. For the housing element it will be updated to include an ADU ordinance. There is some at the state level, but we will be adding it to our general plan. We will be looking at infrastructure, air quality, but we will still have to take into account that air quality will be affected with the growth county wide. More scrutiny will come from the state and federal level, not the local level.

- Why is it not possible to add policies regarding water contamination? We know dairies contribute to that so why can't we create policies for it?
  - A: The County is not currently working on that at the moment, if policies like these would be created it would be at the state or the federal level not the county level.
- We would like for these comments to be incorporated. We understand it has to be a balance between the businesses and the workers. The business needs the workers to survive but the workers can't survive because their water is being contaminated by the businesses, there needs to be a balance. We have some of the worst air quality and it is not fair that we have to use air purifiers in our homes just to be able to breath.
- We also need housing development. There is a lot of big lots that can have more houses made on them. The county needs to educate the landowners with illegal dwellings so they can also benefit from the tax dollars and the community can grow. We also need affordable housing. We need to be able to hook up to the Riverdale water and sewer system.
  - If we don't have enough house to connect to the sewer/water system the water and sewer bills will be very expensive because it will be divided between a little bit of homes.
- We need places to gather at as a community. If there is a natural disaster we have no where to go. During the pandemic we had to figure it out and risk our health just to help out our community with the food bank.
  - A: Lets talk about community cooling centers for example, when it is 115 degrees outside and your senior citizens without A/C or they cant turn it on because their energy bill will be too expansive, where can they go? There is no where for them to go because no one want to open their doors. It is a liability to have people in their space which will cause insurance rates to go up and energy bill to go up, and they will have to pay someone to be there during those hours. How will this be paid for?
  - Response: we should be taxing the marijuana facilities and smokers and use the tax dollars to pay for that.
- Is there any CDBG funds that we can apply for to build a park? there is no open space for our kids to play in.
  - A: There is but in order to apply for CDBG fund you need to have a management plan for the project. Who is going to maintain the park? The county cant maintain the ones it has now.
The community plan update is not going to fix the problems. Its just a guide for how the communities are going to grow. For example, Laton was the most recently updated community plan in 2012. In the 11 years since it was updated, nothing has happened in Laton. An updated community plan is necessary to have so that we are ready when someone want to come and build something in the community.

Letter 36

COMMENTER: Individual - Riverdale Meeting

DATE: June 21, 2023

Response 36.1

The commenter states that the county needs parks, paved streets, more trees, better storm water management, and is concerned about security due to the rise of homelessness.

The General Plan Review incorporates policies to enhance recreational opportunities in the county such as Policy OS-H.1 Meeting Recreational Demand and OS-H.2 Park Standards. Please refer to Response 13.1 for additional information.

Policies to improve streets includes Policy TR-A.23 Urban Area Complete Streets and Policy EJ-B.8 Rural Complete Streets.

Requirements regarding new street trees is discussed in Policy LU-H.7 Principles for Planned Development, LU-A.23 Urban Area Complete Streets, EJ-A.13 Landscape and Parking Areas for New Industrial Development, as well as in the zoning and development standards of the Fresno County Zoning Ordinance Update.

Policies to improve storm drainage are included in the Public Facilities Element and Health and Safety Element, including Policy PF-E.4 Storm Drainage System Capacity and Policy HS-C.6 Adapting Infrastructure to Climate Change.

The Fresno County Multi-Jurisdictional Housing Element is a separate project and addresses concerns regarding housing and homelessness.

Response 36.2

The commenter states that the county needs more community spaces for emergencies and natural disasters. They worry about the cost of housing for their children and the impact of dairies next to schools.

Please refer to Response 27.9. Additionally, other policies in the Health and Safety Element are aimed to protect public health and safety by preparing for, responding to, and recovering from natural disasters.

The Fresno County Multi-Jurisdictional Housing Element incorporates various programs addressing the cost and supply of housing.

The Zoning Ordinance includes siting and development standards under section 834.4.110. In addition, the Environmental Justice element contains policies to incorporate location, buffering and screening requirements, including Policy EJ-A.1, EJ-A.2, EJ-A.12, and EJ-A.15. Please also refer to the Master Response for the Draft EIR for additional information.

Response 36.3

The commenter is worried about the changes in water and drainage systems and about the contamination of the water due to the cattle in the surrounding areas.

The Zoning Ordinance contains provisions and standards under section 834.4.110 Commercial Cattle Dairy/Feedlot Facility Standards that impose setback requirements for dairy/feedlots from all waterways used for public drinking water. In addition, the Environmental Justice element contains policies to incorporate location, buffering and screening requirements, including Policy EJ-A.1, EJ-A.2, EJ-A.12, and EJ-A.15. Please also refer to Response 27.3 for additional information on policies related to provision of clean drinking water.

Response 36.4

The commenter states that Lanare has poor quality houses that are not legal. They state that the community needs better quality lives with better streets and reliable electricity.

The Fresno County Multi-Jurisdictional Housing Element is a separate project and addresses concerns regarding housing quality. Additionally, the GPR includes policies such as PF-J.1 Existing and Future Demands, and PF-J.2 Gas and Electrical systems which are policies aimed to improve electrical services.

Response 36.5

The commenter states that there needs to be improvements to the air quality. The commenter states that the County must keep in mind that despite state laws regarding electric cars the community cannot afford these types of cars.

Please refer to Response 8.6, Response 27.5, Response 28.4, and the Master Response for SB 1000.

Response 36.6

The commenter asks for Lanare to be updated in the community plan.

The comment was responded to during the meeting, and the County stated it has undertaken a prioritization process to identify the order of updating the community plans. The prioritization process was approved by the Board in July of 2023.

Response 36.7

The commenter asks if there is a way to limit the amount of cattle the dairies are allowed to have to limit pollution.

The question was answered during the meeting. There is a dairy ordinance that limits dairies, however existing dairies are allowed to continue operating as previously allowed. The County is not pursuing modifications or updates to this ordinance.

Response 36.8

The commenter asks if it is possible to add policies regarding water contamination. States that dairies contribute to water contamination.

The question was answered during the meeting. The response was that regulations come from the state or federal level. However, the General Plan includes several policies related to water quality. Please refer to Response 36.3 and the Master Response for the Draft EIR for additional information.

Response 36.9

The commenter states that there needs to be a balance between business and workers as many businesses contribute to the pollution.

The General Plan Review incorporates policies that facilitate economic development opportunities such as through the policies implemented for Goal ED-A and policies that aim to improve air quality and minimize the effects of air pollution such as those implemented for Goal OS-G.

Response 36.10

The commenter states that more housing and more affordable housing is needed. The commenter also states that Riverdale needs to be connected to the water and sewer systems.

The Fresno County Multi-Jurisdictional Housing Element is a separate project and addresses concerns regarding strategies to develop more housing and the removal of development constraints for affordable housing.

Response 36.11

The commenter asks if there are CDGB funds to build a park. The commenter also states that the community needs more open space for children.

The question was answered during the meeting. The response was that the County must ensure maintenance resources are available for parks once built. Additionally, please refer to Response 13.1 and Response 36.1.

This comment has been noted and a revision has been made to Figure TR-1a and Figure TR-1c.

Community-Based Air Pollution Concerns with the 2023 Fresno County DPEIR and Zoning Ordinance Update

Letter 38

Our concerns are that the current and new Fresno County GNRA fail to protect the health and safety of residentially zoned areas in the unincorporated areas of Fresno County.

1. Current air pollution levels throughout our neighborhood as represented on CalEnviroScreen 4.0 show extremely unhealthy levels of air pollution in the 90th percentile and above.
https://experience.arcgis.com/experience/11d2f52282a54cee6184203/page/CalEnviroScreen-4\_0/
2. There are no plans in the EIR on p. 4.3-19, 21, 25-26 to reduce this high level of toxic air and these plans will greatly increase the severity of what is already the worst air quality in the US. See also “Total Unmitigated Operational Emissions” on table 4.3-6 that shows inadequate measures to mitigate this extremely dangerous level of toxic air quality. Residents have life expectancies of an average of 15-20 years less.
3. Furthermore, Section 4.8 doesn’t provide any measures to reduce GHG emissions sufficiently quickly to impact better health outcomes from pollution-caused diseases. Performance-based standards (P-B standards), do not mitigate or decrease negative impacts of current conditions and the trajectory with increased growth in population, industrial and commercial activity that these plans encourage will never succeed in reducing GHG emissions. Current conditions will never be ameliorated or improved with the implementation of P-B standards. Without lowering current air pollution levels through active air monitoring and implementing strong restrictions that lead to industrial and commercial compliance or shutting down operations before these planned expansions, the trajectory of the P-B standards cannot ever catch up with reducing GHG levels to improve human health, reduce premature mortality which is currently at 800-1000 annually (Prunicki and Nadeau, Why Your Air Will Not Get Better, Cade Kennedy, p. 6).
4. The Fresno County Zoning Ordinance Update does not include any zoning regulations for trucking yards. As you can easily see on the Fresno County District 1 zoning map, my property at 3335 W. McKinley Ave is in a large area zoned Residential. There is one exemption within the block from Marks to Valentine for Ross Crane. Currently, King Holding, LLC, is attempting to turn the property on 3388 W. McKinley Avenue into a trucking yard in violation of zoning regulations. For the last several years, Royalty Freight at 3728 W. McKinley Avenue has been operating illegally accumulating multiple fines and citations and there are some 16 trucking yards in various stages of operation nearby. One is across from Hanh Tilley Elementary School near the corner of Valentine and W Clinton Avenue. These zoning ordinance updates provide no discussion, direction or solution for this problem which is growing very fast. Air pollution levels should dictate that trucking yards are one of the most serious violators of the Clean Air Act and, as they violate Residential zoning regulations, the Zoning Ordinance Update needs to make very clear that these operations will not be tolerated by Fresno County as they violate the rights of residents to clean air, safety on the roads and acceptable levels of noise. There is no protection from this at all.
5. Fresno County should not be seeking to develop growth plans because we are an area that suffers from the worst air pollution in the nation and scarcity of water resources. Expanding the population of Fresno County along this trajectory may secure more funding based on the State of California's push to increase housing density to correct the low inventory of housing, but we do not have the natural resources to support this kind of growth. To knowingly do so in these conditions puts those of us who are here at greater risk of dry wells, even more toxic air and other dangerous conditions that will make Fresno County an even more undesirable area to live. We should see Fresno County place focus on improving air quality, reducing the strain on limited water resources and providing improved services for those who live here. Our resources are already stretched to the limit.

6. We need to see evidence that Fresno County and the Air Resources Board are working together stop the abuse of the air quality in areas zoned Residential. Provide plans for joint operations to Stop the proliferation of illegal industries in residential areas using strong data on air quality and Zoning laws to protect residents health and safety. Without a joint way of attacking the problem, it seems unlikely that anything will be done. We need action now, not during the next planning Cycle. We need higher fines that might actually shut down illegal operations in residentially zoned areas. This system is making people sic, die early and suffer extreme harm. We need Fresno County to have the jurisdictional authority to stop operations within 24 hours.

List of Trucking Yard Addresses Starting Up on Residential Property

Hi Preet! I thought it might be helpful to give you and the San Joaquin Valley Air Control District a list of properties where trucks are at various stages of creating trucking yards. Some of them are in full operation, such as the one located in the next block from me at, 3728 W. McKinley Avenue owned by Gurdeep Singh. The company is called royalty freight and it includes tractor trailers, charter, buses, and stretch limo's. This property has been operating for a number of years on residential is owned property. It has been fined, and Received numerous citations from the county, but nothing seems to be able to shut it down.

Since there are roughly 16 of said, trucking yards in use or about to be operational within a 5 mile radius of my house at 3335 W. McKinley Avenue this is going to have a major impact upon air quality very soon.

The property across from my house at 3388 W. McKinley Avenue is being prepared for a trucking yard. According to records I was able to verify through District 1 county supervisors office. This property is owned by King holding, Sandeep Sehla. The property is zoned residential and has not been approved nor even has anyone ever applied to have it re-zoned commercial. The property owner has installed an electrical panel on the corner of Ballantyne and McKinley without applying for or receiving a PG&E Permit.

In addition, no other applications for port, permits or approvals, have been filed with the county or anyone else. The activity there is very infrequent, and we assume that the owner is hoping to slowly move in without attracting much attention. I am serious, sincerely, hoping that the San Joaquin Valley Air District and the air resources board will be able to stop all of these properties from going forward. They are all illegal and none of us has the money as a residence to file legal in junctions against any of these companies.

The County receives constant complaints about them, but they do not have the resources to do more than send code enforcement letters to the properties. They are unable to inspect or enter any land for the purpose of noticing the owner of their violation.

- 3388 W McKinley Ave within 1/4 m of Tilley School
- 3728 " Royalty Freight
- 5666 " Royalty Freight
- 6377 " Auto Salvage Yard and dump
- 5178 " "
- 7490 " "
- 7028 " AG20 Zoning not Commercial or Industrial
- 7038 " "
- 4681 W Olive
- 4765 " Construction Company
- 5137 " "

All of these are zoning violations in residential areas, and except for those were expressly identified, they are or will become trucking yards.

2134 N Valentine Ave is right across from Tilley Elementary School near the corner of W Clinton Ave.

I hope this information is helpful. I have many other locations I can give you all in this Central West area of Fresno County. I really hope that it will be possible for you to contribute to stopping these polluting industries from operating illegally.

Thanks very much!

Letter 38

COMMENTER: Emily Brandt

DATE: June 29, 2023.

Response 38.1

The commenter states that the current air pollution levels are extremely unhealthy.

This comment has been noted and Figure EJ-1 further demonstrates the CalEnviroScreen Percentile Scores. The Draft GPR addresses air quality through various policies in the Transportation and Circulation Element, Open Space Element, Health and Safety Element, and Environmental Justice Element.

Response 38.2

The commenter states the EIR does not contain a plan to reduce levels of toxic air.

Please refer to Master Response for Draft EIR for additional information regarding recommendations related to the Draft EIR. Additionally, the Draft GPR incorporates a variety of policies to address air quality issues such as TR-C.1, TR-C.3, OS-G.1 through OS-G.14, HS-G.4, EJ-A.4, EJ-A.5, EJ-A.9, and EJ-A.15.

Response 38.3

The commenter states that section 4.8 of the EIR does not provide measures to reduce GHG emissions sufficiently.

Please refer to Master Response for Draft EIR for additional information regarding recommendations related to the Draft EIR. Additionally, the Draft GPR incorporates policies aimed at reducing GHG emissions such as HS-G.3.

Response 38.4

The commenter states that the Fresno County Zoning Ordinance Update does not include regulations for trucking yards.

The Fresno County Zoning Ordinance Update contains regulations for trucking uses. Loading and Trucking Parking requires that loading docks, truck drive aisles, and truck entries be oriented away from sensitive receptors.

Response 38.5

The commenter states that Fresno County should not develop growth plans due to the air pollution and scarcity of water resources.

The Draft GPR incorporates policies to address air quality and water resources. Please see response 38.2 for policies that address air quality issues. Policies that address water resources include policies PF-C.1 through PF-C.28.

Response 38.6

The commenter states that there needs to be evidence that Fresno County and the Air Resource Board are working together to improve air quality in residential zones and that there need to be plans for joint operations.

The Draft incorporates policies such as policy EJ-A.15 which requires projects with sensitive uses that are within 500 feet of freeways, heavily traveled arterials, railways, and other sources of particulate matter to incorporate appropriate measures that are consistent with the California Air Resources Board.
